SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS TAX ON RELIGIOUS SECT

4 Protest Decision Hits Free Speech.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The United States Supreme court held in a 5 to 4 decision today that vendors of religious books and pamphlets may be licensed and taxed, notwithstanding the constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion, freedom of speech, and freedom of the press.

The court's approval of these taxes, according to a dissenting opinion by Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, means that "a way has been found for the effective suppression of speech and press and religion despite constitutional guarantees. The very taxes now before us are better adapted to that end than were the stamp taxes which so successfully curtailed the dissemination of ideas by 18th century newspapers and pamphleteers, and which were a moving cause of the American revolution."

Three Justices Reverse Views.

Chief Justice Stone's dissenting opinion was one of the most vehement in the court's history. Even more significant, however, was an extraordinary one paragraph separate note in which three justices—Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, and Frank Murphy—reversed the position they took in a similar case two years ago because of apprehensions as to current trends respecting the rights and views of minorities.

The three justices, all appointees of President Roosevelt, repudiated their concurrence two years ago in a majority opinion by Justice Felix Frankfurter, which held that states, in the interest of national unity, may require public school children to salute the flag regardless of religious scruples. Justice Stone was the lone dissenter in that case, which involved an attack on a Minersville, Pa., school board ordinance by Jehovah's Witnesses, the same religious cult which challenged the city ordinances upheld today.

An Extension of Principles.

The note by Justices Black, Douglas, and Murphy denounced today's majority opinion as "but another step in the direction which Minersville School District vs. Gobitis . . . took against the same religious minority and is a logical extension of the principles upon which that decision rested.

"Since we joined in the opinion in the Gobitis case we think this is an appropriate occasion to state that we now believe that it was also wrongly decided. Certainly our democratic form of government functioning under the historic bill of rights has a high responsibility to accommodate itself to the religious views of minorities however unpopular and unorthodox those views may be. The first amendment does not put the right freely to exercise religion in a subordinate position. We fear, however, that the opinions in this and in the Gobitis case do exactly that."

Justices Black, Douglas, and Mur-

TWO BOMBS COLLIDE IN AIR; WRECK PLANE AND KILL 3 FLYERS

Fort Benning, Ga., June 8 (AP).—Three army flyers were killed today when bombs from their own plane demolished the ship during bombing practice over the Fort Benning military reservation.

Lieut. Russell J. Hammargren said the plane, a bomber from Atlanta, Ga., dropped two bombs and that the second missile struck the first one soon after being released from the plane. The bombs exploded and wrecked the plane.

Lieut. Hammargren said bombing planes usually dropped practice bombs in a salvo—all at one time—but that the three flyers apparently were dropping the bombs one at a time.

Coffee, Cocoa, Tea Rationing Expected Soon

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—An imminent rationing of coffee, tea and cocoa was forecast this afternoon by Joseph L. Weiner of the War Production board in a general review of curtailments facing civilians in food, clothing, housing, and transportation. He is deputy director of the WPB division of civilian supply.

Itemized and summarized, the WPB outlook on these four principal factors in the standard of living are as follows:

FOOD.

Adequate nourishment is in sight for the duration of the war altho eating habits will have to be changed. Imported foods, including spices and the common beverages, will be increasingly scarce. Metals for cans will delete grocery shelves of familiar items. Lend-lease is a heavy drain on some items, including pork. Domestic transportation difficulties will cut supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables out of season.

CLOTHING.

It appears now that rationing can be avoided this year. Additional minor style changes will be invoked to conserve cloth. More cotton will be worn. Wool will have to be blended more. As for shoes, present inventories are high and "there is nothing to get excited about now but future developments may very well affect our civilian supply."

HOUSING.

A shortage is nonexistent in some areas and acute in others. The demand is for minimum requirement shelter for war workers, and government efforts will be concentrated upon this demand. Extreme measures, such as the compulsory billeting of war workers as practiced in England, are merely in the discussion stage here.

TRANSPORTATION.

Necessary transportation can and will be provided; other transportation can and will be sharply curtailed. Social life will be narrowed to neighborhoods. The difficulties in moving petroleum and coal will cut power output so that "Main street may lose its glow of electricity" and in regions, such as the east coast, cold weather may bring a serious problem of heating homes.

"Civilians must make sacrifices, and they'll be glad to make sacrifices necessary to win the war," said Weiner, "but our basic requirements will be met. The American public has nothing to fear, nothing more severe than a loss of comforts. Our living standards will remain higher than other warring countries enjoyed even in peace time."

No 'Dressing as Usual.'

On clothing, the WPB official said civilians are going to be dressed warmly and adequately but that "dressing as usual" is no longer possible. He said the use of wool is going to be carefully allocated.

In the meantime, the WPB this afternoon issued two more curtailment orders. One cut the output of certain electric light bulbs and the other will end the use of iron and steel in mattresses and pads on Sept. 1.

Effective immediately, the manufacture of Christmas tree lights, advertising, decorative, and display lights is prohibited.

A Lame Duck Tells Fellows What Hit Him

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The painful truth about his recent defeat at the polls was disclosed to the house today by Rep. Luther Patrick, Alabama Democrat, in a speech entitled: "Why I am a lame duck—and look out, you other guys!"

Rep. Patrick.

Patrick was beaten last Tuesday for the Democratic nomination—equivalent to election—by John Newsome, a business man, who had more than a 3,000 vote majority. Patrick has served six years in the house.

A growing distrust of congress on the part of the public and inability to get back home frequently were factors in his defeat, Patrick said. But most of all, he admitted, he suffered from the repercussions of a little joke he uttered on a radio broadcast.

Makes Crack on Radio.

Concluding a speech upon legislative problems, Patrick, he related, had remarked in waggish mood:

"Well, ladies and gentlemen, now I have to go over and vote for a bill about which I don't know anything. You know how we in congress do. We vote for a bill, then next day we look it up to see what it was.

"I thought it was a pretty clever little joke," Patrick ruefully told his colleagues. "But I guess it wasn't. That opponent of mine, he had that radio broadcast and the little joke put on a record and then he had it played over the radio so many times I used to have nightmares about it. And it didn't sound like a joke to the people in my district."

When Patrick went back to campaign, he said, he was asked hundreds of times: "What were you doing on the radio when you should have been on the floor?"

Distrust Follows Pension Incident.

Patrick warned members that there was a mounting distrust of congress among voters which began some months ago with the congressional pensions incident. He expressed the hope that his experience might prove helpful to the great majority of the legislators who have yet to face the voters in primary and election contests.

"The people ask questions which are sharp and hard to answer," he declared. "They ask 'What about Leon Henderson?' Now, how are you going to answer a question like that? They want to know: 'What have you done for the small business, man?' And there seem to be so many small business men!

Ask About Gasoline.

"They want to know why there should be gasoline rationing while congress has all the gas it wants—on the floor and off. They ask why congress hasn't done something about the rubber situation. But most of all they ask why you haven't been around to see them. They ask if you've gone high-hat.

"My people wouldn't forgive me for not going down there more often. Congress will have to work out some way to divide its time between Washington and home. If they don't see you often, your people are going to vote for some one they do see most of the time.

"That's the dope! I'm a lame duck and I know!"

COAST GUARD EMBLEM IS ADDED TO SERVICE PINS FOR HOME FRONT

A new "kin pin" for relatives and sweethearts of men serving in the coast guard was added yesterday to the service pins on sale at the public service offices of THE TRIBUNE at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune tower.

The pin was designed and manufactured to meet a growing demand. It is similar to the service pins for family members and sweethearts of men in the army, navy, marines, or the air branches. It is red, white and blue on a gold plated background. In the center, under the words "In Service," is the coast guard emblem, the shield of the nation encircled by the words "United States Coast Guard—1790" against the crossed anchors.

Like the other service pins, all of which are being sold for the benefit of the United Service organizations, the coast guard pin comes in five relationships—father, husband, son, brother, and sweetheart. The designation is printed directly below the emblem.

Sale of the pins approached the 30,000 mark yesterday. By early afternoon, 1,500 pins had been purchased over the counter. Orders also continued to flood the mail from all parts of the country.

Learn to Swim in Blazing Oil and Save Lives

Athens, Ga., June 8 (AP). — Four trunk clad navy officers emerged dripping from a flame swept swimming pool, glanced ruefully at the sun—and complained of its blistering heat.

The officers were giving the final test to the most spectacular swimming lesson to be taught at the United States navy's preflight training school which opens at the University of Georgia Thursday—that men can swim thru burning oil and gasoline and escape injury.

How It Is Done.

The swimmer propels himself under the blazing oil until his lung held oxygen supply is about exhausted. At this point he pushes hard for the surface and as he breaks water, slaps the flames away, takes a deep breath and sinks again.

Lieut. W. F. Foster, chief swimming coach at the school, and former instructor at Southern Methodist university, termed the test "extremely satisfactory."

"It looks dangerous," he said, "but there's nothing to it except knowing how, and we've proved to ourselves that we know how. Our theories worked out perfectly. Now if our cadets should at some future date be unfortunate enough to be blasted into an oil covered sea, they'll know how to swim under water."

Will Teach Men to Survive.

The demonstration by the four officers was no trick for publicity purposes. Its sole purpose is to teach men how to survive in this era of oil driven ships and submarines.

The navy, however, is not turning inexperienced swimmers loose to try their hands at swimming under blazing water. None but expert swimmers will be given this final test without protective clothing.

Bomb Damage $600,000 at St. Paul's in London

New York, June 9 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation quoted the archdeacon of London, E. N. Sharpe, today as saying that St. Paul's cathedral suffered damage amounting to $600,000 during the German air raids in 1940.

BOOST IN RATE IS DEFEAT FOR ADMINISTRATION

Raise Is Retroactive to June 1.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Chart on page 10.)

Washington, D. C., June 8.—Minimum pay of $50 a month for members of the armed services was assured today when the senate, by a vote of 58 to 20, instructed its conferees to concur in pay provisions twice approved by the house of representatives.

Sen. R. M. La Follette.

The senate adopted a motion by Sen. Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.] to recommit an administration compromise conference agreement calling for $46 a month for privates and apprentice seamen and $52 a month for privates first class and seamen second class. The same motion instructed the conferees to accept the house provisions calling for a base pay of $50 a month for privates and apprentice seamen and $54 a month for privates first class and seamen second class. These were the only two grades in controversy between the two houses.

House Acts on Allotments.

Meanwhile the house without a record vote passed a bill providing family allowances for dependents of service men after it had approved amendments by its military affairs committee corresponding to the more liberal provisions of a bill already passed by the senate. The bill still must go to conference, however, for the adjustment of minor differences.

Under both the senate and house bills wives of enlisted men in the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard would receive $50 a month, $28 from the government and $22 from the soldier's or sailor's pay. The government would contribute $12 for the first child and $10 for each additional child.

Maximum Allotment $27.

The government contribution in the case of an enlisted man who has one dependent parent is $15, and in the case of two parents it is $25. The government would make an additional contribution of $5 for each dependent grandparent, grandchild, brother, sister, etc., except that the government's contribution for dependents other than wives and children would not exceed $50 a month.

Adoption by the senate of the La Follette motion calling for minimum pay of $50 a month for enlisted men represented a defeat for the Roosevelt administration. The administration first sought to retain the $42 minimum originally voted by the senate. The house, however, raised the minimum to $50 and later refused to accept a conference agreement restoring the senate figure. The administration leadership then put forward the $46 compromise, which the conferees accepted last Saturday and the senate rejected today.

Schedule of Pay.

Under existing law, privates and apprentice seamen with less than four months' service receive $21 a month. After four months their pay is increased to $30. The pending legislation abolishes the four month category. The following table shows the present and proposed base pay for the seven enlisted grades:

1. Master sergeant; chief petty officer	$126	$138
2. First or technical sergeant; petty officer, first class	84	114
3. Staff sergeant; petty officer, second class	72	96
4. Sergeant; petty officer, third class	60	78
5. Corporal; seaman, first class	54	66
6. Private, first class; seaman, second class	36	54
7. Private; apprentice seaman	30	50

Administration supporters argued that a $46 minimum pay is adequate because the government provides quarters, food, clothing, and transportation for soldiers and sailors. They pointed out also that the bill provides longevity pay increases of 5 per cent every three years and reenacts a provision of existing law under which enlisted men receive a 20 per cent pay increase for service overseas.

HERE'S SUMMARY OF NEWS FROM FIGHTING FRONTS

Latest war developments:

The Russians announced Red troops had beaten off German attacks on the Black sea port of Sevastopol for the fourth consecutive day. The Germans were said to have suffered heavy losses.

Huge formations of American built bombers were used by the RAF in assaulting the German held coast of Europe in daylight raids. Two American Eagle pilots shot down three Nazi planes over France.

British artillery fire was credited with breaking up a new attempt by an axis tank column to break thru British defenses toward Tobruk in Libya. "Free French" forces also repulsed an axis attack in another sector.

The Chinese reported they had inflicted heavy losses on the Japanese in fighting on the outskirts of Chuhsien, railway center in western Chekiang province. The invaders already hold control of most of the town.

A dispatch from Pearl Harbor said the Japanese fleet, defeated by American forces in the battle at Midway Island, was seeking a hiding place near home waters.

U. S. Arsenal in Libya Aids Britain's Army

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN THE LIBYAN DESERT, June 8 (AP).—Here in the vast desert filled with smoke and noise of battle the importance of the United States as the arsenal of the united nations is becoming felt as never before.

While American forces are not as yet among the combatants, the nation is participating in almost every other way. American fighting planes and bombers streak across the skies in the hands of British, South African, and Australian pilots and the few Americans in the RAF.

There are American trucks hauling supplies—canned vegetables from the eastern shore of Maryland, canned potatoes from Indiana, and much other produce.

"Gen. Grants" Save the Day.

And perhaps more important still there are those 28 ton medium tanks which the British enjoy calling the "Gen. Grants"—the tanks which have saved the day more than once in the present onslaught of German armor against the British lines.

American military observers are in battle and technicians are right behind it, while in the Egyptian bases an American supply organization helps keep the material rolling ahead.

In the long supply columns moving continually to the front with the enormous requirements of this campaign almost every truck is an American truck.

Each unit consists of a powerful 10 wheeled car with a trailer. Runners are let down from the rear of the trailer and a power winch pulls the disabled tank aboard. It then goes to a repair shop, traveling over the bumpy desert at a speed as high as 20 miles an hour, or 30 miles over flat stretches.

Cite Tanks' Weak Points.

The British are delighted with the "Gen. Grant" tanks, tho they point out certain weaknesses.

"The 'Gen. Grant' has the one thing we needed in the last campaign—a gun big enough to knock out the heaviest tanks the Germans have here without any question," one British tankman said. "And its armor is as tough as you could want. One took a shell from a German 88 mm. cannon at a little over 1,000 yards right on the nose and kept going."

Among the "Gen. Grant's" weak points, in the opinion of these men who fight in them, is the fact that its 77 mm. gun is on the side rather than on a turret and therefore does not have a complete circular traverse, but can shoot only ahead and to the side. This is especially important in cases where the tank becomes disabled and must continue to fight as a pillbox.

FLYER DOWNED AT SEA WATCHES CARRIERS BURN

Sees Yank Bombers Smash Japs.

BY WALTER B. CLAUSEN.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., June 8 (AP).—The first eyewitness account of the battle of Midway Island, detailing its most violent stages, was related today by a wounded American naval aviator who told of floating in the sea and watching a line of burning Japanese ships pass by.

Ensign G. H. Gay.

He told of a thunderous, successful attack by American dive bombers and torpedo planes on three Japanese aircraft carriers.

And from his "fisheye" view, he watched the desperate circlings of Japanese naval planes, unable to settle on their blazing and battered mother ships.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, revealed the story of the aviator, Ensign G. H. Gay, 25 year old torpedo plane pilot, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gay of Houston, Tex. Gay's wounds were not serious.

Hides Under Cushion.

For 24 hours the pilot, careful to conceal himself from vengeful Japanese flyers by hiding his head under a cushion from his wrecked plane, drifted in the sea and obtained one of the most amazing eyewitness stories of a major naval engagement in the history of sea warfare.

He was the only one of the crew of three to survive the crash of his ship.

One Carrier Burning.

Taking off from his fleet carrier with his squadron, Gay approached the objective in midmorning. Visibility was unlimited. Below lay three Japanese carriers, less than 10 miles extending between the first and last of the enemy ships, which were screened by a considerable force of cruisers and destroyers.

Gay viewed an astounding drama below him. Two Kaga class carriers [listed by Janes Fighting Ships as of 26,900 tons] had been taking on their aircraft. Another smaller carrier lay between them, also receiving planes that were fighting the far-flung battle of Midway.

He's Wounded Twice.

Gay heard his machine gunner say he had been hit. But the approach continued.

Near the great Japanese carrier, Gay launched his projectile, then swung sharply over the target and sped astern as fast as his plane could carry him.

Suddenly an explosive shell from a Zero fighter ripped thru his torpedo plane's rudder controls. The detonation seared Gay's left leg. Almost simultaneously, a small caliber bullet struck his upper left arm. Coolly Gay brought his heavy plane into a stall and pancaked into the sea several miles astern of the enemy carrier.

His gunner was dead, and in the emergency landing his radioman was unable to pull free.

Plane Sinks Into Sea.

At 11 a. m., Gay, alone, watched the tail surfaces of his plane disappear. Now a bit of luck held with him. Out of the sinking wreckage floated the bag containing the deflated rubber life raft—and a black cushion on which the bombardier kneels while working.

Gay figured his chances quickly and accurately. There had been reports of Japanese strafing helpless pilots bailing out by parachute, and of machine-gunning of men in life rafts.

Gay declined to offer himself as such a victim. He ducked under the cushion as enemy fighters swarmed overhead. Not knowing the extent of his wounds, he felt cautiously of his arm. The bullet, which apparently had struck him at the spent end of its trajectory, dropped out in his hand.

Sees Bombs Hit Carriers.

"For some reason," Gay recalled, "I put it in my mouth. Maybe I wanted a souvenir. Anyrow, I lost it before long."

He bandaged his injured leg under water.

Twenty minutes later the American divebombers rocketed into view.

Carriers Burst Into Flame.

Tremendous fires burst from these vessels. Internal explosions sent smoke and fire belching from the carriers at momentary intervals, he said.

As the ferocious attack ended, the second Kaga class carrier was on fire from bow to stern.

Surface craft gave Gay some narrow brushes. One enemy destroyer appeared to be driving straight at him as it sped to aid a stricken carrier. He thought it would run him down, but at the last instant it swirled past him harmlessly.

Japs Fire on Own Carrier.

As the afternoon waned, the Japanese made frantic efforts to stem the damage. An enemy cruiser sought to stand alongside a crippled carrier, but seemed unable to approach close enough. Gay observed this vessel's big guns commence to rake the wounded carrier, presumably to scuttle her.

Later a destroyer managed to come alongside the still floating carrier to remove survivors. Overhead, Gay said, Japanese planes appeared to be circling in a vain attempt to land on the smashed carrier. They would pass above her, then soar out of sight, and return. Darkness fell, and he never learned what became of them.

In the twilight, "maybe a little earlier than was wise," Gay inflated his life raft from his carbon dioxide bottle. He said he had his fill of salt water.

Patches Up His Boat.

Working calmly, the young pilot had to make emergency patches on several bullet holes in the rubber boat before it would sustain him safely. He clambered in. The long night began.

Far to the north, great glowing patches appeared in the sky. Gay thought these might have been the searchlights of Japanese rescue vessels seeking to pick up carrier personnel.

There didn't seem to be much else to do, so he "tried to catch a few winks of sleep." Toward morning he was awakened from fitful slumber by three explosions which he believed may have been demolition charges.

Several hours after sunup a navy patrol plane, winging out on a search, spotted his rubber boat. Later the plane returned and picked up Gay.

A navy doctor asked him what treatment he had for his burns and he replied: "Well, I soaked 'em in salt water for 10 hours."

They headed back to the base. The surface of the battle area was littered with black Japanese life rafts, presumably used by the enemy when they abandoned ship. Great patches of oil floated on the débris strewn sea, Gay said.

Gay reported that the one carrier of the Kaga class could be listed as a "certain loss," while the other two carriers were "probable." These were later pursued by American forces engaged in finishing off the crippled units of the Japanese fleet.

Gay was graduated from Texas A. & M. college as a civil and mechanical engineer. He took his naval flight training at Jacksonville and Miami, Fla.

JAP FLEET FLEES TO HIDING PLACE IN SAFER WATERS

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., June 8 (AP).—Stung desperately by the hornets' nest it unwittingly uncovered at Midway Island, what was left of a powerful Japanese fleet sought hiding near home waters today to lick its wounds and probably prepare for another "face saving" smash at American defenses in the Pacific ocean.

How many of the enemy warships may have been able to withdraw to safer waters was not definitely known. Official reports of the battle that began last Thursday, however, said at least 3 warships were sunk, 11 more badly damaged, and the accompanying air arm virtually wiped out.

Against this liquidation of Japanese seapower, known American losses were a destroyer sunk, an airplane carrier damaged, and some planes destroyed.

Contact with the enemy was lost Saturday night, said Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet. At that time the force that launched the all-out attack on Midway appeared to be withdrawing.

GAY 'TOO SOFT' TO BE A FLYER; FLEW ANYHOW

Houston, Tex., June 8 (AP).—Ensign George H. Gay Jr. of Houston, whose amazing experience in the Midway naval engagement was described by the navy today, is a perfect example of what a grimly-determined lad will do when he wants to become an aviator.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gay Sr., tell the story: Twice young Gay was turned down by the army because examiners said his heart couldn't stand the strain of dive bombing. "You have been sitting at a desk too long," they told him, referring to his years at school.

He set about to get himself in shape. He picked the hardest work he could find, becoming a construction gang laborer. He toiled for six months and reported back to the army authorities. They told him he was not in shape. So back to his job he went and worked another year.

To change his luck at the end of a year he went around to the naval aviation enlistment office. He passed the physical with flying colors and was sent to Florida for his training.

U. S. FLYERS HAIL JAPS' ONE PIECE SURPRISE PLANE

Weighs Less; Save Time in Manufacture.

BY BYRON DARNTON.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

AT AN OPERATIONAL BASE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, June 5 [Delayed].—Lieut. Col. Boyd [Buzz] Wagner, the leading American fighter pilot in this area, summed up his opinion of the Japanese Zero fighter plane in these words: "It's not a wonder plane, but it has the respect of all our pilots."

As he spoke his left foot rested on the stump of a wing of a Zero that had been brought down near here. As the plane is a principal reason why the Japanese have succeeded in pushing so far into the southwest Pacific—because it made Japanese air power much more formidable than any one had expected—Col. Wagner's comments are worth noting. He has met the plane in combat and he has shot it down, but that was something that he would not discuss.

Wings, Fuselage in One Piece.

"The Zero's wings and fuselage are made in one piece, which means that the Japs can't change wings if they are damaged, but must replace the whole job," Col. Wagner said. "That system has an advantage in less weight and in rapidity of manufacture, if the Japs can produce enough to make complete replacements, I don't think they can produce them fast enough. The fact is, I doubt if we could on that system."

Col. Wagner was especially taken with what he termed the beautiful landing gear of the Zero. He pointed out that the gear folded all the way up into the fuselage, making it completely smooth on the bottom.

"The whole ship is flush riveted and there are only a few protuberances, which means a minimum of air resistance," the flyer said.

Mounts Two Cannon.

"Notice that cockpit—roomy and comfortable," Col. Wagner said. "There are two 20-mm. cannon, one in each wing, and two synchronized 7.7-mm. machine guns, which shoot thru the propeller, using grooves on the engine cowling. On top of the throttle there is a lever with which the pilot, with his left thumb, selects the guns. If he pushes the lever forward he can fire the machine guns, and if he pushes it backward he can fire the machine guns and cannon simultaneously."

He declared that the plane showed little consideration for the pilot, especially as there was no protective armor plate. The Zero can get good performance at high altitude because of its light weight and because it is equipped with a supercharger that offsets the effect of thin air on the engine. The Zero can dive as steeply as our fighters, but ours can pull out of a dive more rapidly, Col. Wagner said.

HEROIC PASTORS OF MANY FAITHS DEFYING HITLER

Fight for Church Despite Nazi Tyranny.

(While the Christian religion maintains its fight for life in Germany and Nazi occupied lands, church and synagogue of America have enlisted in the war on the axis. Four articles will follow telling of aid in the war effort and to the country's fighting men by American religious forces.)

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

New York, June 8 [Special].—Altho the present struggle in Germany and Nazi occupied lands is coming to be known as the war of religion against tyranny few realize that the religious front against Hitler is now the only effective internal opposition to the third reich and its conquered satellites.

The world knows about the Rev. Martin Niemoeller and Cardinal Michael Faulhaber, but the "generals" who lead the religious front in its powerful resistance have been largely screened by Nazi censors. The veils of censorship were torn away today by Dr. Henry Smith Leiper so that the world may see the unflinching courage of faith's battle front.

Dr. Leiper, who is foreign secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, has been able to maintain relations across the lines of armed conflict with religious leaders in the axis realm.

Six Leaders Described.

Six of the most powerful characters in the religious fight against Nazi domination were described by Dr. Leiper as the bishop of Munster, Clemens August, Count Von Galen; the Most Rev. Eivind Berggrav, bishop of Oslo and primate of the [Lutheran] Church of Norway; the Most Rev. J. de Jong, Catholic archbishop of Utrecht, the Netherlands; the Most Rev. Gavrilo Dozitch, patriarch of the Orthodox church of Jugo-Slavia; Cardinal Joseph Ernest Van Roey, successor to Cardinal Mercier of Malines, Belgium, and Prof. Karl Barth of Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Leiper called Bishop Von Galen the "most persistent opponent of the Nazi anti-Christian program" and told how he declared from his cathedral pulpit in Munster that "the inner enemy," Nazism, was spiritually more dangerous than Germany's opponents. The RAF had bombed Munster a few days before, Dr. Leiper added, and as a result of this declaration all Catholic orders in Westphalia were dissolved and a number of prominent Catholics were imprisoned.

"The next Sunday the bishop renewed his attack," he continued. "There was, he said, no longer any law in Germany. He expressed the belief, however, that the resistance of Christians was like a strong anvil and that, in the long run, all hammers would be broken on it. In outspoken terms the bishop condemned the butchery of invalids and the insane, and assailed Nazi racial doctrines.

Criticizes Alfred Rosenberg.

"'People speak of blood and soil,' the bishop declared from his pulpit. If these words had any significance whatever, I more than any one should have the right to invoke this doctrine, for my ancestors have been established in this country for over 500 years. Here in this Rhinish land we are on our own soil and have no need of prophets who come from abroad.'"

Dr. Leiper said this referred to the leader of the anti-Christian forces, Alfred Rosenberg, Russian born official Nazi philosopher.

"Bishop Von Galen's fearlessness is a by-word," he continued, "altho he knows that a decree for his execution or imprisonment depends solely upon the Nazi sense of expediency."

Shows Fine Sense of Humor.

Bishop Von Galen often demonstrates a fine sense of humor. Dr. Leiper recalled one quick witted reply to a uniformed Nazi who had interrupted the bishop's sermon against state interference with family, youth, and education.

"By what right does an unmarried cleric talk about the problems of youth and marriage?" the Nazi asked.

Striking the pulpit a great blow, the bishop retorted: "Never will I tolerate in this cathedral any reflection on our beloved fuehrer."

Dr. Leiper then described a scene at the royal palace in Norway last winter where two men faced each other. Surrounded by his uniformed aides, the traitorous Vidkun Quisling was studying the calm features of Bishop Berggrav and pondering the questions he would ask this man who had defied the new Nazi order.

What Quisling wanted was a confession that the bishop and a supreme court justice had prevented Quisling's rise to immediate power after the Nazi invasion by forming the administrative council which took over the government. Instead of waiting to be questioned, the bishop turned inquisitor and forced from Quisling a virtual admission of lying tactics. Quisling, thus trapped, bellowed the threat: "You deserve to have your head chopped off."

"Well," the bishop answered, "here I am!"

1,100 Pastors Quit Pulpits.

The resignation of 1,100 Norwegian pastors in protest against the bishop's imprisonment is proof that the bishop has laid the foundations of an opposition that the Nazis will find hard to overcome, Dr. Leiper added.

Even the Gestapo finds it difficult to outwit a Dutch archbishop, Dr. Leiper revealed. The Gestapo, he said, learned that a secret pastoral letter signed by Archbishop de Jong of Utrecht and four other Netherlands bishops was to be read to all Catholic congregations on Aug. 3, 1940. A high official of the Gestapo stalked into the archbishop's house early that morning and demanded that the letter be suppressed.

The archbishop adopted delaying action tactics. He would have to consult his co-signers. He would get in touch with them. Returning some time later to the bullying official, he apologized for his delay.

"The letter must on no account be read in public," bellowed the official. "If it is, there will be heavy consequences."

The archbishop sighed and looked at his watch.

"That is regrettable," said he, "for now I fear it is too late. The letter has been read at all early masses."

Any Dutch Catholic who supports the Nazi cause in any way not only is refused sacraments, but is refused an ecclesiastical burial in case of death without repentance, according to Dr. Leiper.

The Jugo-Slav patriarch, 61 year old Gavrilo Dozitch, made himself a national hero on March 27, 1941, Dr. Leiper said, when young King Peter II. ascended the throne following the bloodless coup d'état which ousted the pro-Nazi government of the regent, Prince Paul. Jubilant crowds cheered when the patriarch rallied the people behind the king.

"Be prepared for what comes," the patriarch pleaded. "The church is always with you."

Refused to Flee Country.

When the blitzkrieg came, the patriarch could have escaped with King Peter's party, but he chose to stay behind as a symbol of Jugo-Slav resistance to Nazi domination. He is now in prison.

Dr. Leiper said the Nazis made a big mistake by classing the slow moving, heavy set, phlegmatic Cardinal Van Roey of Belgium as a negligible factor who would not make it as difficult for the invading Germans as the well remembered Cardinal Mercier had done in the World war.

"Now the invaders stand irritated and baffled before the quiet, implacable resolve of the 67 year old cardinal who refuses to have his people Germanized," he said. "The cardinal's priests refuse the ministrations of the church to traitors."

Barth a Pacifist No Longer.

Prof. Barth, a pacifist during World War I, now shoulders a rifle for sentry duty in Switzerland, to which he fled from Bonn, Germany, after refusing to take the oath of loyalty to Hitler, without qualifying it by adding the words, "insofar as being a Christian, my conscience permits me to do so."

To the noted Protestant theologian all oppressed peoples look for messages of hope, Dr. Leiper added.

"You will give us Christians in all countries," Barth recently wrote Norway's pastors, "a moving, inspiring example, and you will come into particularly close fellowship with Him who governs all lands and powers in heaven and on earth. We are confident that nothing you have been called upon to suffer will be in vain."

They Keep in Step

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., June 8 (AP).—Ninety-one candidates for officer rank in the WAAC received their physical examinations here today and began at once to get used to army life. When time came for lunch, the young women fell in and marched to the mess hall, escorted by Col. Charles L. Malone, commanding officer of the army reception center. Most of the neophytes managed to keep step. One of the candidates, Mrs. Melba Margis, is a woman with determination to carry on. She is the widow of Lieut. Giles W. Hargis, who drowned in Canada last month while on duty with army engineers. Their 3 month old daughter died recently.

U. S. IS CHOSEN OF LORD TO ALTER WORLD: WALLACE

New York, June 8 (AP).—Vice President Wallace today envisioned America as "chosen of the Lord" for transformation "into something which Europe and Africa and Asia will welcome as their brightest hope in the time to come."

In a speech prepared for a dinner-meeting sponsored by the Churchman in honor of President Roosevelt, Wallace asserted history thus far "seems but a prelude to a magnificent world symphony."

"America," he added, "will not have made her contribution until 9 out of 10 of the adults of the world can read and write, and until all the children of the world can have at least a pint of milk a day. . . ." He termed America "the heir of the religious concepts of Palestine and the culture of Rome and England."

Not Spokesman, Leader, Voters Declare.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 8 [Special].—Wendell Willkie has been repudiated as a Republican leader or spokesman by a vote of 764 to 1 in a poll conducted by the Missouri Republican, a semimonthly newspaper which circulates among Republican party officials thruout the state.

Heber Nations, former state labor commissioner and former publisher of the Jefferson City Daily Post, who is editor of the Republican, revealed the results of the poll today. He said the poll was taken by a ballot printed in three issues of his paper.

Two Questions on Ballot.

The ballot contained two questions for which space was provided for "yes" or "no" answers, according to Nations. The questions were:

1. Do you consider Wendell Willkie the proper spokesman for the Republican party?

2. Are you willing to follow Mr. Willkie's political leadership?

With one exception, every Republican who mailed in his ballot voted "No" on both questions, Nations said. The single vote in favor of Willkie was cast by a Republican woman in Jefferson City.

Nations said that his newspaper was started three months ago and has a circulation of approximately 5,000, of which approximately 4,000 is represented by members of official party organizations. All members of county committees in the state's 114 counties and members of state senatorial and congressional district committees receive copies, as do Republican state officials and congressmen.

Some Ballots Signed Twice.

"When I undertook this poll I thought its results would show a repudiation of Mr. Willkie by Missouri Republicans," Nations said, "but I had no idea they would be so nearly unanimous.

"Many of the ballots were signed with the voter's name and address. Many others were signed with two or more names. Some readers, not satisfied with voting against the former Presidential nominee, wrote letters telling in strong language how they thought the Republican party should repudiate any hint of future party influence on the part of Mr. Willkie."

DEMOCRATS MAY RUN REPUBLICAN TO OPPOSE FISH

New York, June 8 [Special].—Leading Democrats in President Roosevelt's home district, with the approval of Mr. Roosevelt, are seeking to make a Republican the Democratic candidate for congress, it was reported today. The district is now represented by Hamilton Fish, a Republican who opposed the interventionist policies of the New Deal before Pearl Harbor.

The suggested coalition candidate is August W. Bennet of Newburgh, who has already announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination.

NATIVES RESCUE FLYER BITTEN BY CROCODILE

AN ADVANCE ALLIED OPERATIONAL BASE IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, June 8 (AP).—A young American pursuit pilot who bailed out of his damaged plane only a few miles from his air base five days ago was taken to a hospital today suffering from a fractured skull, sunburn, mosquito bites—and crocodile bites.

He had plunged into a river, his Papuan native rescuers said, fought off a crocodile with his knife but suffered severe lacerations on the shoulders and back and wandered for three days before the natives found him. Physicians said he probably would recover.

Walks 350 Miles.

KUNMING, China, June 8 (AP).—An AVG pilot has just arrived in Kunming to enjoy his first $8 can of beer after a 350 mile walk from the Indo-China border, where he made a forced landing on a sandbar in the Mekong river at the end of April.

Parachutist Rumors in Denmark Excite Nazis

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 8.—Rumors of British secret service men being dropped by parachute in Denmark have caused considerable unrest among German troops, it is reported tonight. The Germans have promised rewards for their capture. It is commonly said that the scare is a hoax staged by Danes to make the life of Germans more uncomfortable.

BEGIN CENSORING EXPORT, IMPORT MOTION PICTURES

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Censorship of motion pictures entering and leaving the country began today. Byron Price, director of censorship, explained that the purpose was to prevent vital information about possible bombing objectives, military or economic conditions, or technical data from leaving the country, and to prevent enemy propaganda and information leading to subversive activities from entering.

There was, he emphasized, no hard and fast "rule of thumb" concerning film censorship. "Decisions must be governed by the knowledge, understanding and judgment of those applying them," he said. "There is no intention of causing drastic restrictions in the motion picture industry. The boards will ask one basic question: 'Will this material be of value to the enemy?'"

Film going to Canada is excepted from the rule that all exported film must be examined.

Poland, Belgium, Greece Offered Lend-Lease Pacts

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—The United States today offered lend-lease agreements to Poland, Belgium, and Greece. Proposals were handed by Secretary of State Hull to Ambassador Jan Ciechanowski of Poland, to Count Robert van der Straten-Ponthoz, Belgian ambassador, and to Cimon P. Diamantopoulos, Greek minister.

ARTILLERY HALTS AXIS BREAK-THRU AGAINST TOBRUK

Second Attack in Two Days Repulsed.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 8 (AP).—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's main armored column was reported today to have been halted by devastating artillery fire in a new assault on the British Libyan stronghold at Knightsbridge.

This was the second time in two days that Rommel had attempted to break thru toward Tobruk, 15 miles northeast. He threw in strong infantry forces followed by tanks, but the British artillery fire broke up the drive.

The tank column was forced to retire before it got within range of the allied forces. Axis forces had previously failed in violent attacks on Knightsbridge Saturday and Sunday.

Tanks in Skirmishes.

German supply columns moving northeast from the gap in the British mine field near El Gazala have been constantly under attack by allied mechanized columns and RAF bomber and fighter squadrons.

Scattered tank skirmishes were reported between German concentrations near Knightsbridge and the El Gazala line.

The British were believed to be sparring for a knockout blow at axis troops west of Knightsbridge. Informed sources pointed out that Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's strategy seemed to be to compress the Germans into a semicircle with the mine field gap at their backs, then to pounce on them with all his strength and at the same time cut their supply line at the rear.

The German position was likened to a tadpole with its head pointing toward Knightsbridge and its tail wriggling back thru the mine field gap. The British declared yesterday's actions dented the head, and the tail was being nipped constantly by mechanized columns and the RAF.

General Captured, Says Rome.

ROME, June 8 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—The Italian high command communique said today:

"An enemy counterattack in Libya, supported by armored cars, was completely repulsed by our infantry units, who took 150 prisoners and destroyed several armored cars and trucks.

"A final inventory of the result of the victorious action reported in yesterday's bulletin comprises further important quantities of war material, including 50 guns and as many more vehicles. Among the prisoners is the general commanding the 10th motorized Indian brigade."

DAKAR RATIONS LODGING SPACE; BASE IS JAMMED

VICHY, France, June 8 (AP).—A correspondent for Petit Parisien reported from Dakar today that the French West African naval base was so crowded by an influx of soldiers, sailors, technicians, and European families that "lodging coupons" had been instituted to ration available lodging space. The base is 1,600 miles from Brazil.

"From 90,000, the population has grown to 130,000," the correspondent wrote. "There were 6,000 Europeans at the last census; today there are 30,000."

[The "Free French" and British long have charged that German "tourists" and technicians have been entering Dakar by the score. The base would be ideal for submarines in the battle of the Atlantic].

State Control of British Public Utilities Demanded

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—State control of all heat, light, and power industries in Britain, to eliminate wasteful competition, was demanded in a resolution passed at the congress of the National Union of General and Municipal Workers at Blackpool today. Speakers insisted that costs to the consumer should be raised if necessary to provide a decent wage for employés.

U. S. Pay for Americans Working on Alaska Road

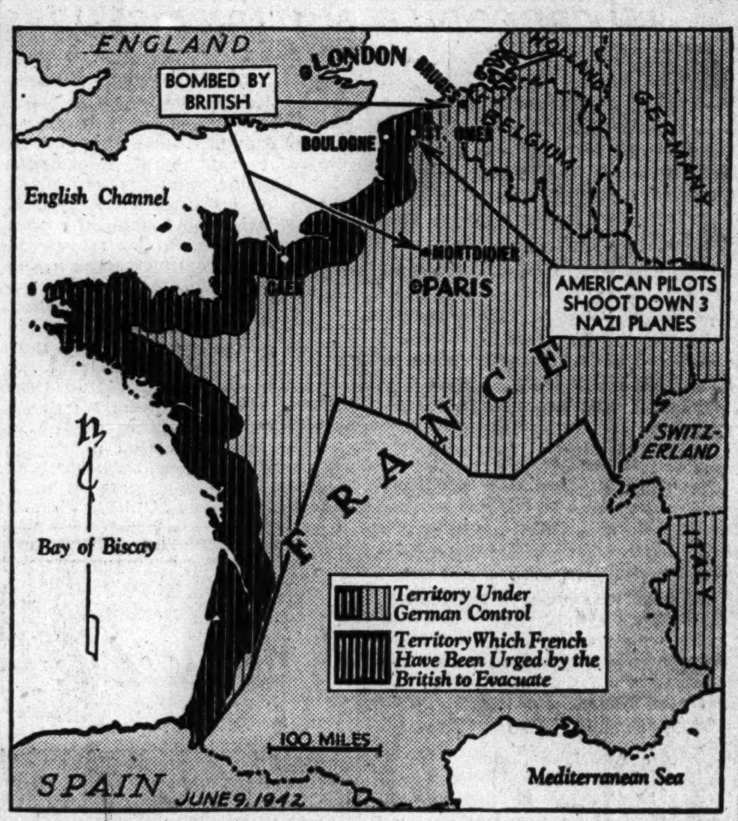
British Advice to French—Clear Out!



A map showing the area from which the British yesterday suggested that French civilians had better move for their own safety, a warning that was interpreted as indicating an allied offensive.

2 AMERICANS BAG 3 NAZI PLANES IN BIG RAF SWEEP

BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 9 [Tuesday] (AP).—The RAF was over Germany again last night, the British disclosed today.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—Two American Eagle squadron pilots destroyed three German planes over St. Omer, France, region in a big scale royal air force offensive today.

Pilot Officer Mahon.

Flight Lieut. John Joseph Mooney of Long Island City, N. Y., was credited with the destruction of two Fockwulf 109s and Pilot Officer J. B. Mahon of Santa Barbara, Cal., with a third Fockwulf.

"We tore into them, firing as we went," Mooney said. "I saw the first victim explode in the air. The second caught fire, tho I had no time to see where it crashed."

Rip Up Bruges Docks.

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—United States built Boston bombers took over today's royal air force assault upon the continental coast, concentrating on the Belgian canal city of Bruges in the heaviest of day long raids in which hundreds of planes took part.

Huge formations of Bostons convoyed by droves of fighters swarmed over the coast in relays, some flying at 20,000 feet and visible only now and then thru breaks in cloud formations. At one point on the Kent coast it took one mammoth relay a half hour to pass over.

Charged with the task of clearing northern France and the Low Countries of German air power and so making the RAF's mighty night bombing offensive all the more effective, swarms of daylight raiders attacked air bases, channel ports, antiaircraft positions, detector posts, and other objectives.

"Heavies" Stay at Home.

These raids were a continuation of the powerful daytime campaign begun last week in conjunction with the bombing offensive by as many as 1,000 fighters and light bombers on some nights. But bad weather on the continent kept the "heavies" from making another of their nightly visits to the reich.

Conditions were good enough, however, to permit blows in France on freight yards near Caen in Normandy, a train at Montdidier, near Amiens, and an airdrome at Leeuwarden in Holland. Mines also were dropped in German waters.

In a dispatch date lined "At the French Frontier," the British news agency Reuters said today that Otto Abetz, the German ambassador to Paris, had acknowledged in conversations in Paris that 11,000 to 12,000 persons were killed in the British air bombardment of Cologne, and that 180,000 persons had been ordered moved from the city.

Belgium to Pyrenees

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—French people living in the occupied coastal areas from Belgium to the Pyrenees mountains were warned by the British Broadcasting corporation today to evacuate their homes and move inland to clear the territory for military operations.

In the French language broadcast the coast inhabitants were warned that they are living in an area which is likely to "become more and more a battle zone." The broadcast added "it has been shown on several occasions that presence of civilian population in battle zones is a serious impediment to troops, and of course to French sympathizers on the spot."

A similar warning was broadcast after a commando raid on Saint Nazaire, but there was no encouragement here tonight for the belief that an invasion of the continent and the opening of a second front in the west is imminent.

The Germans were reported by the Daily Sketch to have issued orders forbidding French coastal residents to leave the area, planning to hold the civil population as a shield against British operations.

LAVAL PUTS ALL HIS TIME ON HOW TO FEED FRANCE

Harvesting Crops Taxes His Ingenuity.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, June 8.—French government activities continued to be focused in Paris. Chief of Government Pierre Laval and most other high ranking burocrats spend most of their time there.

Some bureaus now have complete duplicate organizations; one in Vichy and one in Paris. At the same time it remains exceedingly difficult for anyone except these high ranking officials and ministers to cross the line of demarcation which separates the 14 million French people who live in the unoccupied zone from the 28 million who live in the occupied Paris side.

Food supplies and the rounding up of enough labor to harvest the crops this summer are the oustanding worries. Laval and his government are centering all attention on these.

Farms Need Labor.

The populous centers of France, such as Lyons, Marseilles, Nice, Montpellier, and Toulouse, are just scraping thru on under nourishment.

If enough labor can be diverted to the farms to harvest the crops it is expected that things will be better this fall. With labor tempted into Germany with the promise of high wages, and with increasingly severe control and distribution of man power in other ways, it is taxing ingenuity as to just how to get a flow of workers diverted to the important harvest period. The crops promise to be good this year.

In addition to trying to get the various French unions into harmony to put the labor charter into effect, Laval appears to be centering on a scheme to give agriculture a break with labor priority.

Still Claim Colonies.

Today in Paris he had a long conference with Max Bonnafous, his minister of agriculture and food supply.

The French emphasize that they still lay claim to their colonies and mandates. Much stress has been laid on the anniversary of the outbreak of the war in Syria a year ago. All newspapers carried identical articles calling attention to the seizure of Syria by the British last summer, and in Paris Gen. Henri Dentz, who commanded the Vichy forces in the Syrian struggle and who still holds the position of high commissioner for Syria, paid tribute to those who fell in the fighting.

SEVASTOPOL HIT BY SWARMS OF MEN AND PLANES

Reds Beat Off Attacks at Heavy Cost to Foe.

MOSCOW, June 3 [Tuesday] (AP).—Soviet troops have beaten off continuing Nazi attacks on Sevastopol for the fourth straight day, and inflicted heavy losses on the Germans, the Russians announced early today.

Garrisoned by some of the toughest veterans of the Red army and navy, the Crimean seaport has held against recurring Nazi assaults for seven months despite the Germans' seizure of the remainder of the peninsula.

Inflict Heavy Losses.

The midnight communique said, "In the Sevastopol sector stubborn fighting continues. Our troops are successfully repulsing enemy attacks, and inflicting heavy losses."

Dispatches from the Black sea port said the Germans were hurling clouds of planes and waves of infantrymen against the Russians.

[The British Broadcasting company's Moscow correspondent said that the Nazis held the air advantage on the Sevastopol front because of limited airfield facilities in the besieged area held by the Russians.]

No essential changes occurred elsewhere in Russia, but a supplementary communique said Red troops had forced a river crossing in the Kalinin sector northwest of Moscow and drove the Germans out of two populated places.

Smash 50 Nazi Trucks.

The soviet air force also destroyed or damaged 50 German trucks with troops and supplies, sank three enemy patrol ships and one cutter, and damaged another patrol ship and a transport vessel during Sunday's operations, this communique said.

Earlier the Russians reported an assault by the Leningrad army which dealt "a heavy blow" to the Germans.

A single engagement in this fight was said to have cost the Germans more than 500 killed.

Both Sides on Attack.

BERLIN, June 8 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—New spurts of action on scattered Russian fronts with both the Russians and Germans on the attack were reported today by the German high command.

The communique said the Russians had launched violent thrusts against a strongly defended bridgehead in the Volkhov area below Leningrad but were repulsed in hard fighting and suffered heavy losses of men and material. At a point behind the central sector, the high command said, Nazi troops were pressing attacks on "encircled enemy groups" notwithstanding adverse weather.

ALLIED AVIATORS DOWN JAP PLANE OVER FOE'S BASE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 9 [Tuesday]—(AP).—One of two Japanese Zero [naval] fighters attempting to intercept an allied reconnaissance unit over Lae, New Guinea, was shot down yesterday, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford said that an Australian bomber crew had reported the probable sinking last Saturday of a Japanese submarine off the east coast of Australia. The airmen dropped their bombs from a height of 200 feet, he said.

The sinking of the submarine would make a Japanese loss of perhaps eight submarines during the last week, including the four midget craft sunk in an unsuccessful attack on Sydney harbor.

WOMAN MAYOR REBUILDS RUINED CITY OF KALININ

Russians Returning to Their Homes.

KALININ, Russia, June 8 (AP).—The city of Kalinin, a battlefield during two months of bitter winter fighting, is now a scene of devastation equal to anything in France during the last war, altho the front today is 70 miles to the west.

Kalinin, northwest of Moscow, is more preoccupied with healing the wounds of the winter struggle than in watching the new engagements in the west.

People Pouring Back.

Confident that the Germans never will come here again, the municipal government headed by a woman mayor, Varyara Mikhailovna Gorbunova, already is carrying out plans for restoration.

The people are pouring back over muddy roads and flooded lowlands to their ruined homes. The population, which was 225,000 before the war dropped to 15,000 during the German occupation, and now has risen to 170,000 since the Nazis were driven out on Dec. 12. The retreating Germans burned virtually all that was not wrecked by bombs and shells.

Utilities Are Destroyed.

The mayor is a vigorous, 44 year old former textile worker. She wears a mannish blue suit and has closecut blonde hair. When she returned to the city she found only 1,630 dwellings of the original 11,033 intact.

"The city was dead," she said. "There were no street cars or utilities of any kind. Now 25 miles of the original 30 miles of water lines and sewage system are restored. Two hospitals have been repaired and 15 schools are open for three shifts a day."

A preliminary allotment of 5,700,000 rubles [about $1,500,000] was made for restoration of homes. The mayor estimated the eventual cost of rebuilding Kalinin at 177,000,000 rubles [about $35,500,000].

The mayor estimated 95 per cent of Kalinin's textile industry had been destroyed by the Germans. The Vokzhanov textile plant where 7,000 persons worked is in ruins.

VISCOUNT SWINTON NAMED MINISTER OF STATE FOR W. AFRICA

LONDON, June 8.—The appointment of former secretary of state for Air Viscount Swinton to minister of state for West Africa was announced tonight. Because of the heightened importance of Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Sierra Leone, and Gambia since the United States entry into the war, Viscount Swinton's task will be to coordinate the war services of these four countries.

The colonies will remain under their own governors for administrative purposes. But the British government has felt that the situation demanded the appointment of a government representative to weld together British West Africa's war effort.

Viscount Swinton will have the power to settle, on the spot, matters within the government's policy.

Illinois Flyer Gets Cross forPhotographingJapBases

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 8 [Tuesday] (AP).—Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, commander of the allied air forces in the southwest Pacific, awarded a silver star today to 1st Lieut. Ralph I. Schmidt, Greenville, Ill., for "extraordinary achievement" in photographing Japanese bases on the islands north of Australia.

15 WAR HEROES START HARDEST JOB, TOURING U. S.

New York, June 8 (AP).—Fifteen British and American war heroes were greeted today by crowds of New Yorkers, who laid down a barrage of welcome to them at the start of a nation-wide tour.

For these be-medaled, but modest men, this was perhaps their most difficult assignment of the war. They were telling America of the united nations' fight at the front.

Ten who have seen fighting with Britain's forces on land, air, and sea in Europe, Asia, and Africa, arrived by plane from Canada and were joined at the Battery a short while later by five Americans who were in the thick of battle at Bataan and other Pacific theaters of war.

After a formal reception by government, city, and British officials they rode in automobiles along a parade route from the Battery to Times Square. Ticker tape rained from skyscrapers as the cars pushed thru crowded, cheering throngs in the downtown area.

PLANE CRASHES; INSTRUCTOR AND 3 CADETS KILLED

Columbus, Miss., June 8 (AP).—An instructor and three cadets from the army flying school here were killed late today in the crash of their twin engine training plane on a routine flying trip near Prairie, Miss., the public relations office of the school announced tonight. Listed as dead by the school were:

Second Lieut. Jasper Kennedy Larkin, 21, an instructor, son of Mrs. Ruth K. Larkin of Palatka, Fla.

Cadet Frank H. Britton, 23, son of Mrs. J. H. Britton, home address not given.

Two Navy Flyers Die.

Pensacola, Fla., June 8 (AP).—Ensign Reginald W. Syrcle and Aviation Cadet John Whitelaw Murrell were killed in the crash of a training plane near the Pensacola naval air station, an air station spokesman announced today. The spokesman said the plane went into a spin at a low altitude and crashed into shallow water in a bayou yesterday.

Syrcle, an instructor, was piloting the plane. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Syrcle, Barry, Ill. Murrell, who reported here last April, was the son of Mrs. L. J. Hoffman of University, Mo.

Two Die in Practice Landing.

Alton, Ill., June 8 (AP).—Simulation of a forced landing yesterday near Wadlow field airport cost the lives of a flight instructor and his student.

The plane crashed from a low altitude into an alfalfa field after the motor was cut out, killing Frank Maurice Buchman, 26 years old, a Wadlow field instructor, and John A. Quick, 29, St. Louis, Mo.

WOMAN FOUND HANGED.

Mrs. Helen Krolicki, 40 years old, was found hanged yesterday in the basement of her home, 3108 South 52d court, Cicero. Police were told she had been suffering from a nervous ailment.

CHINESE FIGHT ON TO THROW JAPS OUT OF CHUHSIEN

Inflict Heavy Losses in Town's Outskirts.

CHUNGKING, China, June 8 (AP).—The Chinese reported tonight that their troops were inflicting heavy casualties upon the Japanese who are fighting on the outskirts of Chuhsien, rail center in western Chekiang province which the invader penetrated durink a week-end assault.

Japanese capture of the town's airport, apparently one of their main objectives since it is within bombing range of Tokio, and part of the walled town itself was acknowledged yesterday and today's communique indicated the enemy had broadened his control to all but outlying sections. [Tokio claimed capture of Chuhsien Saturday.]

Chinese Retake Town.

Chinese units battling a Japanese effort to close in upon Chekiang from the west, in neighboring Kiangsi province, were reported to have recaptured Luhsiyuan and wiped out one enemy force.

On the southern front the communique said several hundred casualties were inflicted upon reënforced Japanese forces which attempted to drive southward from the recaptured Chinese town of Lunling toward the Burma border.

In the north the Chinese central news agency said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops had recaptured Pantao, town in lower Shansi province, and seized a quantity of booty, including 100 rifles and 3,000 cases of ammunition.

Attack in Shantung.

Today's communique said:

"Enemy troops numbering more than 1,000 men at Shanhsien and Kinsiang, on the Shantung-Honan border, started an attack on the morning of June 2 against Chinese positions at Tsaomachu, northeast of Shanhsien. They were engaged by Chinese forces and suffered considerable casualties.

"Chinese forces in northern Hunan started on the evening of June 1 an attack on the enemy at Chungfang, with the result that a large number of Japanese soldiers were killed and many boxes of ammunition captured.

"The enemy force which advanced from Chennankai, north of Kanglien, in an attempt to cross the Salween river was reënforced June 4 and then hammered north toward Tasinchai, from which, on the morning of June 5, the enemy forces continued their drive on to Makopu and Hungshuishu. They are being engaged by Chinese forces."

Railway Point Bombed.

TOKIO, June 8 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Japanese army planes heavily raided Shangjao, on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway in eastern Kiangsi province, today, raining tons of bombs on the railway station and military objectives in and around the city, Domei news agency reported.

Shangjao, 70 miles southwest of Chuhsien, was identified as headquarters of the Chinese 3d army zone. Other Chinese "concentration points" along the railway also were raided, the agency said.

NAVY TO SHOW 13 GOVERNORS HOW THEIR BOYS TRAIN

Midwest Chiefs to Visit Base Tomorrow.

Governors of the 13 midwestern states comprising the 9th Naval district, which supplies 35 per cent of the navy's man power, will be given an opportunity tomorrow to see how recruits are trained at the Great Lakes station.

As guests of Rear Adm. John Downes, naval commandant, the 13 chief executives will take part in a program designated as Governor's day. It will begin with a breakfast at the Blackstone hotel to which Mayor Kelly also was invited.

This will be followed by a broadcast from the Naval armory on the lake front. Thirteen aviation cadets from the Glenview air base—one from each of the midwestern states—will attend this ceremony. Later, each cadet will ride with the governor of his state when the motorcade is driven to Great Lakes at 11 o'clock.

Get 19 Gun Salute.

At the training station the governors will be received with a 19 gun salute, the honor to which Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois is entitled by virtue of Illinois' connection with the station. But the public relations department explained that all of the governors will be considered as being honored when the guns boom.

The more formal part of the visit out of the way, the governors then will sit down to lunch with recruits. Each governor will sit at a table of men from his own state. With no officer or petty officer present, each group will be able to give their state's executive the real low down on life as lived at Great Lakes.

Formal Review in Afternoon.

In the afternoon the governors will review the two battalions of bluejackets in training, a ceremony which will be broadcast, and after dinner in the officers' club they will be spectators at a typical "happy hour." This is the time of evening relaxation when amateur talent gets full sway.

Recruiting in the navy's drive for 10,000 recruits from Chicago this month got off to a slow start, Lieut. David N. Goldenson, recruiting officer, reported yesterday. Last week he examined only 1,184 applicants.

"We must interview at least 2,500 a week," he declared, "if Chicago is to get back on top of the heap in enlistments. But the boys we're getting are a fine type. Our rejections have dropped greatly."

Lieut. Goldenson said he hoped the American success in the Midway Island naval battle would be a spur to enlistment.

BEG YOUR PARDON

INDUCT 33 NEGRO NAVAL RECRUITS AT GREAT LAKES

Thirty-three Negro recruits who arrived at the United States naval training station at Great Lakes for combat training yesterday were outfitted with regulation uniforms and sent thru the usual induction proceedure at Camp Barry. Later in the day four more arrived and joined the others at Camp Morrow, the new camp where all colored recruits from the country will receive their initial training. As soon as 130 have arrived the first company will be formed and drilling will start. The first recruits arrived last Friday.

NAVY CROSSES GO TO COMMANDERS OF 4 U. S. SUBS

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—The navy department announced today navy crosses had been awarded to four submarine commanders whose undersea craft destroyed or damaged a total of 15 enemy warships and merchant vessels in western Pacific waters.

They include Lieut. Comm. John L. Detar, 35 years old, Philadelphia, and Lieut. Comm. Frederick B. Warder, 38, Grafton, W. Va.

Commander Detar's submarine sank an enemy freighter of about 6,000 tons, damaged and probably sunk an enemy destroyer, and damaged two other ships of undetermined type of about 2,000 tons each. The submarine commanded by Commander Warder attacked heavily screened Japanese combat forces, sinking a transport, a destroyer, and a cruiser, and then damaging two cruisers while engaged in patrol duty.

LABORITE PAPER SAYS HALIFAX SHOULD RESIGN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9 [Tuesday].—The resignation of Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, was urged this morning by the Daily Herald, official organ of the Labor party, which bitterly assailed his attitude toward the German people and his declaration concerning Anglo-Saxon domination of the world after the war.

Halifax's conduct as ambassador, said the paper, "does not increase in skill or understanding." It asserted that his recent speech at Syracuse, N. Y., means that he "rejects the theory of political warfare to which the British government is committed" and which recognizes the "fundamental differences between the common people of Germany and the Nazi hierarchy."

Questioning whether the British government is committed to the notion that "the Anglo-Saxon world shall be guardians of the peace after the war," the Daily Herald said: "Certainly the Labor party, which is a partner in the government, holds no such opinion." It complained that "a great deal too much is being said about Anglo-American destiny," and contended "kinship of purpose and not similarity of faces and language is the basis on which we mean to build peace."

U. S. BOMBERS IN FIRST DAYLIGHT RAID ON RANGOON

NEW DELHI, India, June 8 (AP).—United States army bombers have pressed home the first daylight attack on Rangoon since the Japanese captured that Burmese port, it was announced today. The attack was made despite the monsoon, heavy anti-aircraft fire and swarms of Japanese fighters. The date was not mentioned.

British bombers again attacked the Burmese port of Akyab yesterday, damaging a merchant vessel in a low level attack, an RAF communique said today.

U. S. SHIP SUNK IN CARIBBEAN BY U-BOAT; 3 DIE

Vessel Is Torpedoed and Shelled; 34 Saved.

A Gulf Port, June 8.—Survivors of a small United States freighter torpedoed and sunk May 19 in the Caribbean sea told today of the death of three of the crew of 37 in an early morning attack by a submarine believed to be German. Thirty-four crew members were rescued.

The sinking brought to 229 the number of vessels lost in American waters since Pearl Harbor, with 1,390 dead, 1,546 missing, and 7,400 rescued.

Robert L. See of Tampa, Fla., the ship's second mate, said the torpedo struck at 4:40 a. m. on the starboard side of the ship. The survivors got away in two lifeboats and the submarine came to the surface and began shelling the ship.

Rescued 30 Hours Later.

The survivors landed at a Caribbean port 30 hours later. The captain, R. J. Dexter of New York, and nine crewmen remained at the port, and the remaining 24 were brought to the United States by a merchantman.

See said he had just completed his watch and was asleep when the torpedo struck.

"I didn't hear the noise," he said. "The wreckage of the bulkhead falling on top of me woke me up."

46 Reported Missing.

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 8 (AP).—Eleven burned and injured survivors of the 5,970 ton Brazilian ship Alegrete arrived at La Guaira yesterday, a week after the ship was torpedoed and sunk 40 miles north of La Orchila.

The quartermaster said 46 passengers and members of the crew were missing. The vessel, which belonged to the Lloyd Brasileiro [government owned] line, was used to train officers for the Brazilian merchant marine, as well as to carry passengers and freight.

18 Days in Lifeboat.

An East coast United States port, June 8 (AP).—Fifteen men rescued after 18 days in a lifeboat were brought here today, accounting for the entire 48-man crew of a medium sized Norwegian merchant ship which was torpedoed and shelled to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean several hundred miles east of Bermuda on May 20.

The navy announced the sinking of the ship on June 5 shortly after the other crewmen were brought ashore at other east coast ports.

The 15 brought here appeared to be in good physical condition—from grizzled Capt. Eugene Christofferson of Norway to four 16 year old messboys from Glasgow on their first voyage—despite their 18 days in the lifeboat. All said they planned to return to sea as soon as they can get berths aboard ships.

Exchange Fire with Sub.

Capt. Christofferson told newsmen his ship steamed ahead for two hours after it was struck by one torpedo on the afternoon of May 20. The submarine surfaced about six miles distant and opening fire with her deck gun, headed straight from the ship. The submersible fired between 150 and 200 shells but only a few struck the vessel.

The ship's gun crew went into action and fired 20 rounds at the enemy raider but scored no hits. The crew abandoned ship in three lifeboats and the submarine circled the ship, shelling it for four hours and finally leaving her aflame amidship.

Capt. Christofferson estimated his lifeboat sailed about 1,400 miles before it was spotted "near the Atlantic coast" by a plane which directed a rescue vessel to their assistance.

Ex-Husband in Jail

Mrs. Hazel A. Smith listening to testimony of her former husband in courtroom yesterday.

Jerold Frederic, 35 years old, 716 Rush street, a concert pianist, whose real name is F. Gerald Smith, will appear before Judge Joseph Sabath today for a ruling on the reduction of his $3,000 bond for a writ of ne exeat under which he is being held in the county jail.

Yesterday, Attorney Ben Ehrlich, representing Mrs. Hazel A. Smith, 31, of 8006 Emerald avenue, Frederic's first wife and mother of his two children, opposed the reduction in a hearing. He charged the pianist will leave the jurisdiction of the court and is now $1,228 in arrears on monthly payments of $30 he was ordered to make when the couple was divorced in 1936.

Frederic was arrested and taken to jail Saturday. His attorney, Peter D. Giachini, said the concert artist has been financially unable to make the support payments.

JAP AIR LOSSES EXCEED OURS 4-1, SAYS GEN. ARNOLD

U. S. Pilots Best in World, Asserts Flying Chief.

Mount Pleasant, Ia., June 8 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the United States army air forces, declared here today that the Japanese have lost four planes to every one American plane shot down.

"The day of reckoning is not as far off as some people think," he said in an address at the 100th commencement at Iowa Wesleyan college, at which he received an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

"I am telling Tokio that we have thousands more Colin Kellys and Butch O'Hares and Jimmy Doolittles on the way. This is just the dawn of a day of wrath."

U. S. Pilots "Best in World."

He said the United States has "the best young pilots in the world and they are proving their superiority in combat in the air."

By the end of this year, he said, the army air force will have "over 60,000 officers and close to a million men. By June of next year, if it becomes necessary, we will double that."

Gen. Arnold credited the army air force with this "score of destruction:"

Thirty-three Japanese warcraft bombed and sunk; 44 Jap transports, freighters, and tankers bombed and sunk, more than 300 Jap fighters and bombers destroyed in air combat, and more than 200 Jap fighters and bombers destroyed on the ground.

Raids on Nazis Just a Starter.

The general, who returned recently from Europe, said he "did not fly to London to go on the defensive."

"Raids like those on Cologne and Essen, Germany, were just starters to those which are to follow where United States and RAF fighters and bombers ride the skies as a team," he said.

"The axis knows that the next six months will spell victory or defeat for their forces. For the axis it is now or never."

The flying fortress has no peer in its field today, Arnold asserted, adding that "our B-25C medium bombers can go farther, faster, and carry more bombs than the best ships of our enemies."

Finds Goals Being Met.

Regarding aircraft production, he said "we are shooting for quantity and quality and it looks as if we will get both."

He added that American production goals, which call for 60,000 planes this year, are being met.

"American planes in large number are being flown constantly by our ferry command to areas where they will do the most good now—to Britain, Russia, the middle east, China, and Australia," he said.

KING HAILS SAILORS

Williamsburg, Va., June 8 (AP).—Adm. Ernest J. King commander in chief of the United States fleet, told the graduating class at the college of William and Mary today that the "officers and men of the navy—as representative Americans—have no lack of confidence in their ability to deal with the enemy on anywhere near equal terms.

"At the beginning of this war, for a variety of reasons, those terms were decidedly unequal and in favor of the enemy," he said. "We have already made some progress in overcoming those inequalities.

"Our capacity for production is well known. Our trained man power is increasing steadily under an accelerated program. A good share of our naval forces have had the necessary seasoning. What is more important, we believe the American man is unequalled as an intelligent and fearless fighter."

Adm. King received an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the commencement exercises.

'PAPER AND INK' REVOLT LEADER GETS FIVE YEARS

Judge Urges No Parole for Duration.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 8 (AP).—George W. Christians, 53 year old construction engineer who directed what he called "a paper and ink revolution for economic liberty," today was sentenced to a total of five years on sedition charges.

G. W. Christians.

Overruling a defense motion for a new trial, Federal Judge Leslie Darr said he felt that the defendant should be incarcerated for the duration of the war without parole before the war's end.

Christians will be sent at once to some federal prison, despite notice of an appeal.

Says He Is "Sorry."

From his detention cell, Christians told reporters: "My work has been done. . . . My methods have been objectionable and I am sorry," he said. "I think I have never harmed any one and I am glad of that."

Christians was subject to a maximum fine of $10,000 and imprisonment of not longer than 20 years on each of the four counts of the indictment.

The judge sentenced Christians to three years on each of two counts, the terms to run concurrently, and two years on each of the remaining two counts, to run concurrently with each other but consecutively with the longer sentence.

Gros Gets 10 Years.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 8 (AP).—Dr. Hans Helmut Gros, convicted German agent, was sentenced today to 10 years in federal prison.

His American born wife, Frances, convicted with him, had asked probation and will receive a hearing next Monday.

Asked by Federal Judge Ben Harrison if he had anything to say, Gros read from his script:

"I came to this country because I wanted to get away from all European troubles and worries. I was under the impression that liberty and justice could be found in the United States. The FBI and this court have convinced me I was wrong."

Gros was sentenced to 10 years on a charge of conspiring to send defense information to the German government, and five more for failing to register as a German agent, the terms to run concurrently.

FBI men had testified that Gros said he came here under instructions from the late Reinhard Heydrich, Nazi Gestapo terrorist, to organize sabotage.

SUBURBS GIVE THEIR DRAFTEES STIRRING ADIEUS

Draftees of suburban towns were given stirring farewells by their home folks yesterday. The delegation from Maywood was the largest with 500 marching to a railroad station to the accompaniment of band music.

Most of the group were former schoolmates or acquaintances of the 200 Maywood men who fought on Bataan peninsula, many of whom were killed or taken prisoner when the Japanese captured Corregidor.

Evanston served a luncheon to 149 draftees before they departed for the army. After addresses by civic and club leaders, relatives and friends of the draftees paraded with the latter to the Davis street elevated train station.

Park Ridge bid adieu to 68 boys from its own precincts, Skokie, Morton Grove and Des Plaines. Seventy-five draftees of Wilmette and 35 from Winnetka also left for induction centers.

THE QUESTION.

Have you practiced any false economy that turned out to be an added expense?

WHERE ASKED.

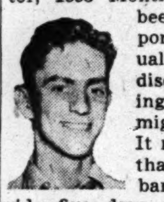
Jackson Franklin building, 309 Jackson boulevard.

THE ANSWERS.

Vernel Anderson, stenographer, 4606 North Hermitage avenue—Tomatoes were expensive in the city so we drove out to the country and bought a bushel basket of ripe ones at a bargain price. We discovered they were packed so that the basket was only half full and they were so ripe we had to give most of them away.

Zelma Shepherd, secretary, 6431 Harper avenue—The first time I wore the new dress I spilled some fruit juice on it. Rather than pay a cleaning bill I thought I would remove the spots. I had to discard the dress as the cleaner couldn't remove the spots after I had worked on them.

Kenneth W. Osborne, building manager, 280 Columbia avenue, Elmhurst—I thought I would save a repair bill and join the parade of Sunday mechanics and try to remove the knock in my car's engine. So I worked on it. If I had sold all the parts I had left over, I would have made money. I had a big repair bill to pay.



James Hickey, photostatic operator, 1553 Monticello avenue—I had been buying my transportation tickets individually and then one day discovered that the saving on a six ride ticket might be worth while. It never occurred to me that it wouldn't be a bargain to me as I only ride five days a week.

June Stoeckler, office girl, 4938 Drexel boulevard—The horseback ride was costing a dollar an hour. I had five minutes to get home and I didn't want to pay overtime, so I took a short cut thru the woods—over ditches and all. When I made a jump over a ditch I fell off and hurt my back. My hospital bill would have paid for many rides.

Mary Rix, stenographer, 6327 North Oak Park avenue—By walking from the station to my office I figured I would save bus fare. As a result, I "walked" a hole in the heel of my hose, and because I didn't realize how long it would take, I had to ride a cab the rest of the way.

MAILS REFUSED TO WEEKLY PAPER AS 'SEDITIOUS'

X-Ray Is Accused of Embarrassing U. S.

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Revocation of the second class mailing privileges of "The X-Ray," weekly newspaper published at Muncie, Ind., was ordered by Postmaster General Frank C. Walker today on the ground it published seditious material in violation of the espionage act of 1917.

Declaring 13 consecutive issues of the paper had "shown clearly a purposed attempt to embarrass and defeat the government in its effort to prosecute the war," Walker said the argument that the published material consisted of "mere reprints" was not an excuse.

Protests His Patriotism.

Court Asher, publisher, editor, and sole owner of "The X-Ray," had protested his patriotism at a postoffice department hearing May 19 and contended that the questioned statements were taken from other periodicals published in this country.

Walker declared that "the determinations of the postmaster general, either on the question of mailability or on the revocation of second class mailing privileges, are not restrictive of the right of freedom of speech or of the press."

Freedom of Speech.

"The determinations are whether the freedom of speech and the press have been abused by a publisher who insists that the United States mails must assist him in carrying his abuses to the 'tiniest hamlets and the loneliest farmsteads in the land.'

"There is no constitutional guarantee to the press of an unrestricted use of the mails.

"No publisher need have difficulty in conforming to the injunctions of the espionage act in time of war.

"If he has doubt whether an utterance may violate this law, then his good conscience, his sincere regard for the nation, for the constitution, and for his fellow countrymen will invariably lead him to resolve the doubt in favor of the United States.

"Such a self-imposed and self-chosen restraint would in no way be restrictive of the boldness of the press in thought and speech."

Publishers to Fight Order.

Muncie, Ind., June 8 (AP).—Court Asher, publisher and owner of the X-Ray, said tonight that the ruling of Postmaster Frank C. Walker, revoking his second class mailing privileges, probably would be contested in the courts.

Meanwhile, he said, the newspaper will be sent to subscribers as first class mail. Carrier boys will deliver it in Muncie.

Winter Crops in China Set Record for 5 Years of War

CHUNGKING, China, June 8 (AP).—Under the guidance of the Chinese government the enlarged program of winter plowing in 15 provinces during 1941-'42 yielded 451,900,000 piculs of wheat, barley, peas, broad beans, oats and oil seeds from 309,900,000 mu of land. [One mu equals one-sixth of an acre. A picul equals 133⅓ pounds.] Both acreage and production constituted the highest record of winter crops since the war began in 1937.

REPORT 3 SHIPS SUNK BY U-BOATS OFF MADAGASCAR

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—The Vichy radio reported tonight that U-boats had sunk three merchant ships off Portuguese Mozambique, on the African east coast opposite the French island of Madagascar, which is now occupied by British forces.

The latest submarine activity in that area was reported by the Japanese last week when they claimed—and the British denied—that their undersea craft stole into the Diego Suarez naval base on Madagascar and torpedoed a British battleship and a cruiser.

An authoritative military commentator said today that negotiations for a settlement of Madagascar's status were proceeding with the colonial government. Meanwhile, he said, normal patrol activity by British forces in the northern part of that island in the western Indian ocean was continuing.

HENDERSON ASKS U. S. GAS RATION; F. D. R. STUDIES IT

President Likely to Make Fireside Chat.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson, the administration's chief rationer, today disclosed his support of nation-wide gasoline rationing to conserve tires, as President Roosevelt promised a full report to the nation on the rubber and gasoline situation as soon as he completes a current investigation.

Sen. Francis Maloney.

Sen. Francis Maloney [D., Conn.] disclosed Henderson's views as contained in a letter to the senator, which was released after the President had conferred with a congressional delegation opposed to extension of gasoline rationing.

Legislative leaders also conferred with the President on the gasoline and rubber situation. Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley reported after the meeting that a decision on nation-wide rationing may have to await a survey of all rubber supplies in the United States. Such a survey may take two or three weeks, he said.

Must Have Facts, He Says.

"If rationing is going to be based upon the need to conserve rubber, then we have got to get the facts on how much there is," he explained, citing figures ranging from 700,000 to 10,000,000 tons on the amount of scrap rubber available in this country.

In support of nation-wide rationing Henderson wrote Maloney that "no combination of tire conservation measures that does not include nation-wide gasoline rationing can hope to avert a serious transportation crisis" within the next three years. Such rationing is necessary to conserve tires, he claimed.

A delegation of three congressmen, consisting of Representatives Richard M. Kleberg [D., Tex.], Clarence F. Lea [D., Cal.], and Pehr G. Holmes [R., Mass.], who said they represented 250 congressmen opposed to nation-wide gas rationing until proof of its need is offered, called on Mr. Roosevelt at the White House.

Trying to Ascertain Facts.

"The President told us," said Kleberg, "that he was at present engaged in making as intensive a study as possible looking toward ascertainment of facts, not fiction, involved in the problem of rubber conservation and that when he had information that would enable him to give the people some facts and reasons he would tell them about it."

Kleberg added that the President said that when the salient facts were determined by him he would report to the nation and make such requests as he felt were proper.

The whole picture of the gasoline and rubber shortages has been muddled by conflicting statements by high ranking war officials of the administration, and sundry congressional committees have endeavored to clarify the atmosphere with little success, leading to persistent demands that the President step in and give the public an accounting before strong willed officials impose nation-wide gasoline rationing without cause.

Ration in East Fixed.

Joel Dean, Office of Price Administration fuel rationing administrator, today authenticated the permanent plan of gasoline rationing for the east as obtained from other OPA sources and published in THE TRIBUNE last Thursday. This plan scheduled to become effective sometime next month would eliminate the present "X" cards for unlimited quantities of gasoline to some preferred motorists and put every motorist on rationing according to absolute gasoline requirements.

This plan, which might serve as the model for nation-wide rationing if decided upon, would allow all motorists a gasoline rationing "A" book containing 48 coupons, each of which would be worth 4 gallons of gasoline. This is an increase over the present 3 gallon allowance per coupon. These books will be good for one year and are estimated to allow 2,880 miles of travel annually, compared with the present national average of 9,000 miles. The weekly gasoline allowance will average 3.7 gallons compared with 3 gallons now.

"B" books containing 16 additional coupons will be issued on evidence of need, as will a "C" book containing 96 coupons and designed for doctors, nurses, ministers, war workers, and officials on official business.

Cadets Awarded Tribune Medals

Lake Geneva, Wis., June 8.—Three cadets of the Northwestern Military and Naval academy received THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's gold, silver and bronze ROTC medals in an impressive ceremony on the shores of Lake Geneva this morning for outstanding work at the academy during the last semester. They were Cadet First Lieut. Theodore M. Robinson, St. Paul, Minn. [gold]; Cadet First Lieut. William S. Carpenter Jr. of Menominee, Mich. [silver], and Cadet First Sergt. John W. Wilkes, 1404 West Jarvis avenue, Chicago [bronze].

Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commander of the 6th corps area, was the principal speaker. He told of the valor of Capt. Arthur W. Wermuth Jr., the "one man army" of Bataan, a graduate of the academy in the class of 1932. Washington has reported Wermuth has not been seen since March 2. Behind Gen. Grunert stood the youthful mother of the hero, Mrs. Clara Wermuth, and his grandmother, Mrs. Richard Lorenz, both of 2549 Lunt avenue in Chicago.

OIL CLUB HOUSE ON ARUBA ISLE RAZED BY 24 HOUR BLAZE

ST. NICHOLAS, Aruba, Curacao, June 8 (AP).—The clubhouse of the Lago Oil company burned to the ground last night and today with loss estimated at $276,000. The fire burned for 24 hours. There were no casualties.

Oil installations and barracks on the refinery isle off Venezuela were fired upon some time ago by axis submarines and several shallow draft oil ships were sunk in the harbor.

U-boats fired shells and torpedoes in the first attacks on Aruba last February, but the shellfire directed at the refinery area was ineffective. One beached torpedo, which apparently had missed a ship, exploded a day after the first attack, killing four Dutch soldiers. Shells fired in the second attack in February ripped thru a bachelor quarters on the island.

BOOST IN WHISKY AND BEER TAXES WINS APPROVAL

Levies Would Increase Revenue ⅓ Billion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The beer and whisky drinkers of the United States, who already pay high taxes upon the potables they buy, will be asked to pony up an extra third of a billion dollars in levies under the new tax bill being drafted by the house ways and means committee.

The committee decided today to tax distilled spirits a total of $6 a gallon and beer at the rate of $7 a barrel. The present taxes are $4 and $6, respectively.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. had proposed an even stiffer tax upon beer—$8 a barrel—but the committee decided to show a little mercy to quaffers of that comparatively innocent brew.

The increased taxes are expected to be approved by congress with little opposition if, indeed, a move does not develop to impose even higher levies. The increases will be passed on by wholesalers and retailers to the consumer.

The higher distilled spirits tax, for example, means an increase of 50 cents a quart in whisky, gin, and other alcoholic drinks. The 10 cent glass of beer may become smaller, or the price may go to 15 cents.

The estimated additional revenue from the higher spirits tax is $279,700,000 and the $1 a barrel increase in the beer tax should produce $58,500,000, according to treasury experts. The total additional tax to be paid by the consumer will be $338,200,000.

ELECTRIC CHAIR PRIORITIES SAVE 2 DOOMED MEN

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 9.—The war is going to prolong indefinitely the lives of two men who had been condemned to die this year.

Clifford Hayes [top] and Paul Sewell.

Disclosing that the War Production board had denied his request for priorities on materials for construction of an electric chair at the South Dakota penitentiary, Warden G. Norton Jameson said this means the executions would not be carried out by the state until the war is over.

Under death sentence at the prison are: Clifford Hayes, 30 years old, ordered to die the week of Aug. 9 for slaying Grant County Sheriff Melbourne Lewis, and Paul Sewell, 29, ordered to be executed the week of Nov. 15 for killing Jens Jensen, Day county farmer.

South Dakota's 1939 legislature enacted the death penalty but failed to make provision for an electric chair. Jameson said the WPB, in rejecting his application for priorities, held that materials required for an electric chair are necessary to war production and that the execution of the condemned men is not necessary to the war effort.

HOUSE PROVIDES FOR 200 BLIMPS TO FIGHT U-BOATS

F. D. R. Asks 39½ Billion New Army Fund.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—As the hor.: todev received a Presidential request for 39½ billion dollars for 1942-'43 army appropriations, it took steps to combat the submarine menace in the Atlantic by authorizing construction of 200 blimps.

The lighter than air craft was said by Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, to have proved itself a weapon of great value in sighting submarines, pointing out their presence to surface craft, and dropping depth bombs on occasion.

He said the blimps are of no value when the enemy has the command of the air but have been found effective in detecting submarines where there are no enemy aircraft and where there is a long coast line such as this nation's. The navy is constructing 48 of these airships and originally had asked authority to build 72 more. This latter figure was increased to 200 by the committee in token of its belief the submarine can be routed with the assistance of the blimps.

Total Tops 200 Billions.

The President's new request for war funds brought to more than 200 billions the projected American expenditures on the war effort. The requested appropriation, totaling $39,417,827,337, is for the war department in the fiscal year beginning July 1. It compares with $75,427,593,587 appropriated for the army in the fiscal year ending June 30.

Last January, the President presented to congress the $6,388,091,747 estimate which had been drawn up before Pearl Harbor. He warned then that a vastly greater sum would be asked later.

The vast increase in army personnel in 12 months was reflected in the item for army pay, which totaled 4 billion 127 million dollars. This item was $1,849,227,123 in the present fiscal year. Army travel in the next year will total 507 billion dollars, while the estimated total for the present year is $203,462,000.

11 Billion for Air Corps.

The army air corps will receive $11,043,270,000 if the President's request is granted. More than 23 billions was appropriated for the air corps in the present year, making a total of more than 34 billions for this branch over a two year period.

Approximately 3 billions was asked for the engineers corps for the construction of flying fields, barracks, hospitals, and for other work. The army is spending $8,344,810,533 for this purpose.

The ordnance department would receive $9,951,452,000 in the coming fiscal year. Added to the $23,292,124,139 appropriated in the present year, a grand total of more than 33 billions is scheduled to be spent on the manufacture and procurement of weapons in the two years which began July 1, 1941, and will end June 30, 1943.

The defeat in Bataan was reflected in the lowered appropriation asked for the "army of the Philippines." Whereas $269,000,000 was allotted for this purpose in the present fiscal year, only $28,313,000 is to be set aside under this heading during the next 12 months.

Now, more than ever, it is important to obtain expert travel advice so as to avoid conflict with war traffic.

Swift Movement of War Traffic is the No. 1 Job

The most important job of the Burlington for the duration is to provide fast, dependable transportation for troops and war materials. This has been done and will continue to be the primary purpose of the entire Burlington organization.

In addition to the expeditious handling of war traffic, the Burlington has the capacity to care for civilian freight and passenger movements, many of which are inseparable from the war effort.

Best use can be made of this travel capacity by planning trips so as to depart and return during the middle of the week. Reservations, when required, should be made several days in advance, if possible.

CHAPTER 42

CHAPTER 42

GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S courageous stand in defense of Bataan electrified the world.

With his forces vastly outnumbered by the invading Japanese, he knew that complete Victory was possible only by training and developing a larger force. So, in March, 1942, with his wife, his 4 year old son, and a few staff officers, he embarked in a small boat, daringly ran the Japanese naval blockade and flew to Australia. Upon leaving the Philippines he was made Supreme Allied Commander of Land, Sea and Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific.

So General MacArthur, after forty years of army life, with medals and citations of honor from all over the world, now is preparing the Allied offensive for Victory. May God grant him strength to liberate all people from the heel of the oppressor and ____________ phy concurred in the dissenting opinion by Chief Justice Stone. The chief justice and Justices Black and Douglas concurred in a separate dissenting opinion by Justice Murphy. The delivery of separate dissenting opinions with the same justices concurring in each is believed to be unprecedented in modern times, altho in the early days of the court opinions were read "seriatim" in each case, each justice expressing his own reviews regardless of his agreement or disagreement with the "brethren."

4 Justices Claim Ruling Hits Free Speech.

Presumably Chief Justice Stone and Justice Murphy both prepared dissenting opinions because of strong convictions which they wished to express in their own words.

Justice Stanley F. Reed delivered the majority opinion, in which Justices Owen J. Roberts, Frankfurter, Robert H. Jackson, and James F. Byrnes concurred.

Three Ordinances Involved.

The decision embraced three separate but similar cases, involving license ordinances of Opelika, Ala., Fort Smith, Ark., and Casa Grande, Ariz. Each ordinance forbids the selling of books, pamphlets, and other articles without a license, for which taxes ranging from $10 a year in Alabama to $25 a month in Arkansas are charged. The Opelika ordinance provides that, "All licenses, permits, or other grants shall be subject to revocation in the discretion of the city commission, with or without notice to the licensee."

Members of the Jehovah's Witnesses cult refused to obtain the licenses because of religious scruples. When they sold their books and pamphlets on the city streets without licenses they were arrested and later convicted.

Justice Reed's opinion noted that there was no objection to the fees charged for the licenses because of their size. "Consequently," it added, "there is not before us the question of the power to lay fees, objectionable in their effect because of their size, upon the constitutionally protected rights of free speech, press, or the exercise of religion."

The Majority View.

The majority opinion stated that the rights guaranteed by the constitution "are not absolutes to be exercised independently of other cherished privileges, protected by the same organic instrument." The court was confronted by a conflict, the opinion said, between the constitutional freedoms on the one hand and on the other "the right to employ the sovereign power explicitly reserved to the state by the 10th amendment to ensure orderly living without which constitutional guarantees of civil liberties would be a mockery."

Justice Reed's opinion asserted that the federal courts have the duty of determining the validity of such enactments as may be challenged on constitutional grounds and that "this court denies any place to administrative censorship of ideas or capricious approval of distributors."

"There is to be noted, too," the opinion added, "a distinction between nondiscriminatory regulation of operations which are incidental to the exercise of religion or the freedom of speech or the press and those which are imposed upon the religious rite itself or the unmixed dissemination of information. . . . It would hardly be contended that the publication of newspapers is not subject to the usual governmental fiscal exactions . . . or the obligations placed by statutes on other business."

Justice Stone's opinion stated that the Opelika ordinance, under which licenses are "revocable in the unrestrained and unreviewable discretion of the licensing commission without cause and without notice or opportunity for a hearing," presents "in its baldest form the question whether the freedoms which the constitution purports to safeguard can be completely subjected to uncontroled administrative action."

Justice Stone's Dissent.

To the majority contention that the defendant had no standing to raise the discretionary revocation issue, since he did not obtain a license, Justice Stone replied: "As this court has often pointed out, when a licensing statute is on its face a lawful exercise of regulatory power, it will not be assumed that it will be unlawfully administered in advance of an actual denial of application for the license.

"But here it is the prohibition of publication, save at the uncontroled will of public officials, which transgresses constitutional limitations and makes the ordinance void on its face. The constitution can hardly be thought to deny to any one subjected to the restraints of such an ordinance the right to attack its constitutionality because he has not yielded to its demands."

Freedoms in Constitution.

To the contention that the taxes are nondiscriminatory, the chief justice replied: "The first amendment is not confined to safeguarding freedom of speech and freedom of religion against discriminatory attempts to wipe them out. On the contrary, the constitution, by virtue of the 1st and the 14th amendments, has put those freedoms in a preferred position. Their commands are not restricted to cases where the protected privilege is sought out for attack. They extend at least to every form of taxation which, because it is a condition of the exercise of the privilege, is capable of being used to control or suppress it.

"In its potency as a prior restraint on publication the flat license tax falls short only of outright censorship or suppression."

"Burden on Free Speech."

Justice Murphy's opinion denied that the taxes are nondiscriminatory exactions for revenue only. They are taxes on "the dissemination of religious ideas," and as such they "place a burden on freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and the exercise of religion" regardless of the amount, he said. He compared them to the English stamp act of 1712, which put a tax on newspapers and pamphlets to check what seemed to the government to be "false and scandalous libels" and "the most horrid blasphemies against God and religion." Stamp taxes for purely revenue purposes were successfully resisted in Massachusetts as early as 1757 and again in 1785 on the ground that they interfered with freedom of the press, Justice Murphy noted.

AUGUSTINO AIDS ALSO LOSE POSTS IN JOLIET LOCAL

Vincent Morreale, general counsel for the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' union, said yesterday in Washington that not only Tony Augustino but other leaders of the Joliet local of the union had been relieved of their jobs.

"By action of the executive committee," Morreale said, "John Groff, secretary-treasurer, and the other officers of local 75 at Joliet have been suspended as a result of the way the affairs of the local were being conducted. The local now is under supervision of the international union."

Augustino, who has been dismissed as an international representative also, supposedly was discharged as business manager of the local because of his association with George W. Ziller, go-between for various politicians, who was accused of taking money from men placed in defense plant jobs.

When they complete the course Saturday they will become instructors for 80,000 other air raid wardens being appointed thruout the state.

KEESHIN TO FACE TRIAL ON MONDAY WITH BORRELLI

John L. Keeshin, head of the Keeshin Motor Express company; Bruce Borrelli, son of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli; Peter La Barbera, John Roche and James McNally are scheduled to go on trial before Judge Julius E. Miner in Criminal court next Monday on charges of conspiracy to commit mayhem in the slugging of John Gottlieb, trucking operator and business competitor of Keeshin.

Gottlieb was attacked Jan. 6 in front of his hotel at 1620 East 50th street by four men who followed him from a loop hotel. The attack was made in the presence of Mrs. Gottlieb. Gottlieb's jaw was fractured and three of the defendants subsequently signed statements naming Borrelli as the slugger.

Borrelli last week was sentenced to a year in the county jail for slugging three Keeshin employés in a labor dispute. Keeshin was tried on a conspiracy charge and was freed on a directed verdict of not guilty after Borrelli refused to testify for the state and repudiated grand jury testimony upon which he, Keeshin, La Barbera and Roche were indicted. Cases against La Barbera and Roche were dropped by the state.

NUTS AND JOLTS — By Bill Holman

CHANGE TO THE Fresher Flavored MILK-

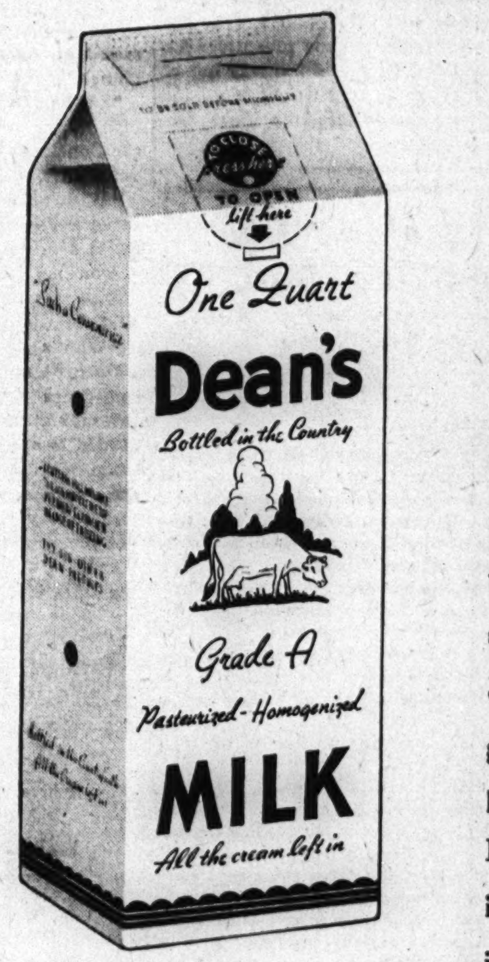
bottled in the country with all the cream left in



Many people still think all milk is pretty much the same. These are the folks who never tasted a glass of Dean's.

Sure enough any milk you buy in Chicago is good, safe milk. The Chicago Board of Health sees to that. But the truth of the matter is this: there is good milk and better milk. And the better milk is Dean's.

* * *

Dean's—the fresher-flavored milk—is bottled in the country with all the cream left in.

Dean's—the fresher-flavored milk—is pasteurized immediately upon receipt at the dairy; never trucked over the road 50, 60 or 70 miles before pasteurization.

Dean's—the fresher-flavored milk—is dairy-tested every day to safeguard its purity.

* * *

Change to Dean's, the milk with the richer, satin-y texture. The milk that never has the tired-out taste you sometimes notice. And the food-drink without a rival because every glass is a pleasure as well as abundant health.

Don't be indifferent to the milk that is different. Indeed, so different that it doubles the family enjoyment of this marvelous nourishment which Nature has bestowed upon mankind.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

REPUBLICS ARE BEST.

The great victory over the Japanese navy off Midway follows close upon the great victory in the Coral sea. We have taken them twice in a row and now we have them whittled down to size. Any advantage they may have enjoyed after Pearl Harbor is pretty well dissipated.

These achievements are demonstrations that the best government in war as well as in peace is republican government. A great deal has been written to support the proposition that a military aristocracy is the ideal government for war. The aristocracy, so it is said, provides a considerable body of men who devote themselves to the study and practice of the military art and have the habit of command.

That is true as far as it goes, but whatever strength a nation may derive from its military caste is likely to be far more than outweighed by the weaknesses of the system. In an aristocracy the vast majority of the population is composed of inferiors. Men who know themselves to be inferior do not make the best soldiers. They know in their hearts that even if they win the victory they will remain inferior. The republic may find itself at a disadvantage at the start of hostilities but anything it may lack is more than balanced by the superiority of the republican soldier. After all, he does most of the fighting and he has something to fight for.

Of all forms of government, the weakest for purposes of fighting a war is rule by a purely social aristocracy. That system has all the disadvantages. Its officers are not trained in warfare, but are chosen for command by reason of birth and its soldiers carry the stigma of inferiority.

A great deal can be said in criticism of our high schools and colleges, but they have one great virtue: they do not promote class consciousness. They do promote the doctrine that anybody who has the stuff can rise to a position of responsibility. The boys who go from our schools into the army and navy carry with them this republican creed. It has made them independent. It gives them self-confidence, courage, and a sense of duty.

Our system is best. In war it gives us victory. In peace it gives us liberty, plenty, and order. We should not only cherish the republic at home and preserve it against internal foes but advertise its virtues and proselyte for republicanism thruout the world.

HE CAN'T FOOL THE DEMOCRATS.

The state senate of Louisiana, composed wholly of Democrats, has invited Mr. Willkie to address it. It may be noted in passing that Republicans are not exactly popular in Louisiana and, indeed, are not considered respectable in many quarters in that state. The invitation was to the 1942 internationalist, not the 1940 candidate. In the recent Iowa primary the Democratic headquarters issued a statement upbraiding the Republicans for not shouting Mr. Willkie's brand of internationalism to the skies. Mr. Willkie may fool a small and dwindling section of the Republican party but he can't fool the Democrats. They know him for one of their own.

NO PUNISHMENT TO FIT THE CRIME.

Summing up in the Borrelli slugging case, Mr. Stewart, the defense attorney, asserted that if the prosecution had not wished to involve Borrelli's employer, Keeshin, in the affair the case would have been a police court matter. He could have added truthfully that if the case had been taken into a police court Borrelli could not have been sent to jail, even for a day.

The maximum penalty which could have been visited on him, upon proof that he had committed brutal assaults on the three strikers whom he was charged with attacking, would have been a fine of not more than $100. The only chance of imposing imprisonment on any of the participants in the affair lay in the prosecution's ability to prove that the sluggings were the result of a conspiracy.

The case calls attention to a defect in the Illinois statutes. Unlike those of most other states, they fail to distinguish between a brawl and a deliberate and vicious physical assault designed to punish or intimidate the victim.

The Illinois criminal code defines three forms of assault. The maximum penalty for assault and battery, which is the unlawful beating of another, is a fine of $100. In order to visit a more severe penalty on the offender it is necessary to prove either that he committed the assault with a deadly weapon, which was not the fact in the Borrelli case, or that he committed assault with intent to commit murder or another felony. Intent is difficult to prove.

The simple charge of assault and battery is an appropriate method of dealing with a casual fight, a saloon brawl, or blows struck in the heat of a quarrel. It obviously is inadequate to deal with the premeditated use of violence and the infliction of grievous injuries which characterize the attacks of goons in either side of a labor dispute.

Lacking a proper statute, authorities have been compelled to use what might be termed collateral charges in dealing with such offenders. In the Borrelli case a conspiracy was alleged. In another recent slugging by union business agents it happened that goons maimed their victim and it was possible to convict them of mayhem, a felony. Too often the circumstances which permit the placing of a charge commensurate with the offense are absent and the goon escapes with a fine, which he simply charges off as business expense.

In the states which make adequate provisions for dealing with the more serious types of assaults there is usually a statute defining aggravated assault, which is a felony. The laws of New York do not use this term, but separate assault into three degrees according to the seriousness of the offense. Assault in the first degree, which includes assaults with intent to commit a felony or with a deadly weapon, is punishable by imprisonment up to 10 years. Assault in the second degree covers any offender who "willingly and wrongfully wounds or inflicts grievous bodily harm upon another, either with or without a weapon," and is punishable by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years. In New York even the third degree assault, which includes the Illinois crime of assault and battery as well as the negligent operation of an automobile, can be punished by imprisonment for not more than a year.

Illinois would be well advised to follow the example of New York. Adequate penalties should be provided for those who inflict grievous injury on their victims, not as the result of momentary passion, but as part of a coldly calculated scheme to coerce and intimidate.

TIRES AND BUROCRATS.

Administration bungling of the rubber situation, and the attendant artifice of gasoline rationing, has reached the point where even such New Deal yes-men as Senators Barkley and Guffey are attacking the incompetence of the burocrats.

The rubber crisis and the hardships it is proposed to force on the country in its name are products of the Washington mind. They furnish an outstanding demonstration that the New Deal mind is functioning in war exactly as it did in peace, and with the same or greater detriment to the country.

In time of peace the Washington mind maintained that the era of capitalistic enterprise was ended, that there were no frontiers left, no remaining fields for industrial expansion. Once they had accepted this postulate, the New Dealers began to make circumstances conform to it. They ruled out the free working of American ingenuity and industriousness, which had carried the country thru trying periods and decreed that individual enterprise and corporate activity must be regulated at every turn, with the burocracy setting the limits within which they could function, imposing the conditions and making the decisions.

This philosophy, embodied in its most comprehensive form in the NRA, but implicit in the workings of most of the other New Deal agencies, could not hope to stimulate private initiative, and indeed was not intended to do so. The New Dealers preached the doctrine of a "mature economy." The effect was to produce stultification.

The impact of the war has brought no change in the Washington mind. When shortsightedness and administrative bungling combined to create the rubber shortage, the Washington mind was incapable of thinking in other than defeatist terms. The stockpile of crude and the prospective supplies of synthetic rubber were allocated to the war machine, and the American civilization, geared to roll on 32½ million motor vehicles, was to be permitted to roll more and more slowly, until perhaps it came to a full stop.

The people, patriotically, did not complain when they were told that there would be no new tires for them of real rubber. They began to doubt the competence and the bona fides of Washington only when talk materialized of nation-wide gasoline rationing, not because there was any shortage of gasoline in most of the country, but as a means of rubber conservation. This talk started before there was any attempt by the administration to acquire frozen stocks of tires, to acquire tires from voluntary sellers, or to launch a salvage drive to bring in the millions of tons of scrap rubber for reclamation. Even the burocrats must know that tires deteriorate thru disuse as well as thru wear.

The war has brought a shortage of materials to many industries. Scientific ingenuity has risen to the challenge and has found ways of producing countless substitute and synthetic materials quite as good as those used before. No one doubts that tires can be made of materials other than rubber. It has been demonstrated already that tires made of the new synthetic, thiokol, easily and cheaply produced, provide good performance. And the possibilities of thermoplastics have hardly been explored.

The rubber problem is symptomatic of the other problems that afflict our national life. Most of them spring from the refusal of the Washington mind to let ingenuity run a free course. The assumption is that nothing new will ever be invented, that nothing will ever change, that the world is stationary. Initiative and inventiveness, if encouraged, would shortly lead the way out of this dilemma. They would lead us out of all the dilemmas originated and fostered by the Washington mind.

Editorial of the Day

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has many times told congress that the purchasing power of the American people must be reduced, if inflation is to be avoided.

He has pointed to the fact that the people have more money to spend than they can exchange for the goods which are available. Incomes have gone up. The supply of commodity goods has gone down. In this situation, says Mr. Henderson, government must take several steps. One of them is to raise taxes to a point where the "inflationary gap" is closed.

The treasury has supplied congress with a tax program calculated to close this gap to a considerable degree. It has suggested a tax program drastic in the extreme, justifying it as demanded by the emergency.

But both Mr. Henderson and the treasury ignore several important matters in their arguments and in their proposals. They ignore, for example, the fact that for millions of Americans purchasing power is right now greatly reduced.

Prices are up today, despite the ceilings. Taxes are up, too. And incomes are up. The difficulty is that the first two of these are up for everybody, while the last is up only for some. Millions of Americans have the same incomes today they had three years ago, when both prices and taxes were lower and when there was no urge to buy war bonds. These people, if taxes are further increased, will, in many instances, have to reduce their standard of living more than the national scarcity of commodities requires, while others, now receiving pay they never hoped to earn, are in a position, despite high prices and higher taxes, to improve their living standards materially.

Some citizens, faced with a tax law following Mr. Morgenthau's proposals, will have to stop paying on their houses and on their insurance, if they are to feed and clothe themselves and their families. Others will definitely gain from the existence of the war. The gain will not be grudged to those who have had too little during many years. That others should gain from expenditure which means loss and sacrifice to most of their fellow countrymen is clearly inequitable.

The only way that situation can be corrected is to provide for individuals a tax similar to the excess profits tax on corporations—to tax at a higher rate than normal increases in income beyond a certain point.

Such a tax would not be difficult to administer. In operation, it might well take the place of the "earned income credit" which the treasury now wants dropped. It could be called the "increased income penalty" and could carry for each bracket within which it fell a percentage increase in the tax rate.

With such a tax the heaviest income tax burden would fall where it should—on those who, because of the war, are earning more than customarily. The biggest burden would be on the very persons who have the increased buying power which is the menace.

THE DEBUT OF MIDWAY ISLAND.

To celebrate the victory of Midway Island in a quiet sort of way, one might read "The Wrecker," by Robert Louis Stevenson and his stepson, Lloyd Osbourne. That old tale of adventure and crime, which is worth a basketful of contemporary mystery novels, introduced Midway Island to the English speaking world. Before its publication Midway was unknown except as an item about a desert island in the North Pacific sailing directories.

* * *

Here are the very words, purporting to be clipped from a San Francisco newspaper which Stevenson called the Occidental, in which Midway made its debut:

"H. B. M. S. Tempest, which arrived yesterday at this port, brings Capt. Trent and four men of the British brig Flying Scud, cast away Feb. 12th on Midway Island, and most providentially rescued the next day. . . . His water going rotten, and misled by Hoyt's 'North Pacific Directory,' which informed him there was a coaling station on the island, Capt. Trent put into Midway Island. He found it a literal sandbank, surrounded by a coral reef mostly submerged. Birds were very plenty, there were good fish in the lagoon, but no firewood; and the water, which could be obtained by digging, brackish. He found good holding ground off the north end of the larger bank in 15 fathoms water; bottom sandy, with coral patches."

* * *

This alleged newspaper item started a chain of events which finally disclosed one of the most curious mysteries in marine literature—the massacre of one ship's crew by another's, and the successful substitution of the killers for their victims. The plot was founded on a true story of the South Seas—the strange history of the loss of the brigantine Wandering Minstrel.

* * *

"The Wrecker" was written in Stevenson's Samoan period. It was published serially in Scribner's magazine from August, 1891, to July, 1892. Book publication followed by Scribner's in New York, and by Chatto and Windus in London.

* * *

"I honestly think," Stevenson said in a letter after finishing the manuscript, "it is a good yarn on the whole and of its measly kind."

MULE TEAM ON STATE STREET.

What! Here again, ye patient pair,
Upon this thronging thorofare!
I mind lang years before the blitz,
Chicago's mayor was Unser Fritz,
An' 'twas a common thing tae greet
Yer muleships on this crooded street.
Beneath the cruel lash's stroke,
Ye served a maist ungratefu' folk,
While, wi' a rude scurrility,
They scoffed at yer sterility.
But faster days came on apace;
Ye disappeared wi'oot a trace;
An' we began tae rip an' tear
Wi' rubber, gasoline, an' air.
That phase is past; an' in oor need
We've summoned mules tae take the lead;
An' ye hae stepped richt tae the fore
Tae help us win this bluidy war.
Poor beasts, in yer hybridity,
Quite filled wi' stark stupidity!
But, Brither Mules, at that, ye ken,
Ye dinna hae sae much on men.

A Defender of Victory Gardens.

"There you are, my girl," said Ferdinand, my silver tabby, as he triumphantly laid the baby rabbit at my feet. "I caught you this for your dinner."

"Listen, Daniel Boone," I cried, "that is the fifth bunny you have brought me this week, and each one breaks my heart. Please, I beg of you, don't do any more hunting."

"With pork chops at 45 cents a pound, I certainly expected a pat on the head instead of being called a brute and a beast. If that isn't just like a woman. Well," he yawned and stretched out on the ironing board for a nap, "that's my good deed for the day."

"What's good about it?" I demanded.

He eyed me with disgust. "Your ignorance is sometimes astounding. The damage that these perambulating hassenpfeffers can do to a Victory garden in one night is unbelievable: Green beans eaten down to the very ground, ditto lettuce. And they munch your lovely perennials for dessert. And so, my girl," he informed me, "whether or not you approve of it, I have adopted this motto: 'Death to the Devastators of Defense Gardens for the Duration'." Eugenia Gerlach Stein.

Where the dusty side-roads wind,
Where the woods are cool and deep,
Where the gray squirrel frisks to find
Sustenance for winter's keep;
Where the bursting meadow lark
Pours his golden snatch of song,
Where the purple foxgloves mark
Every trail I swing along;
Where the fields are greenly clad,
Myrtle, apple, olive green,
Where the breezes myriad
Comb the hillside's tousled mien;
Where the brook goes clattering,
Look for me, for there I'll be,
Far from urban battering,
Rapt in Nature's symphony.

More About Cleveland's Theater.

W. S. Cleveland, whose theater in Chicago supplied a springboard for the late John Barrymore's career [June 4], was an impresario of note in that vanished form of stage entertainment called minstrelsy. In his prime he managed most of the minstrel stars and had his own minstrel company. He was an important figure in the period when Thatcher, Primrose, West, McNish, Billy Emerson, and Dockstader were national favorites.

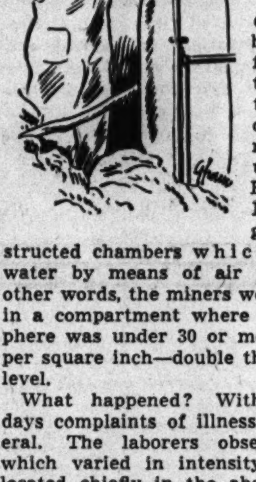
SANDHOGS MUST COME UP SLOWLY.

THOSE who work under air pressure which is higher than normal may develop a malady which has been termed caisson disease, diver's palsy, or compressed air sickness. Workmen call the disorder the "bends" because of the posture which the sufferer assumes. He leans over to relieve the pressure on the abdomen.



The condition has been known for more than a century. In order to mine coal under the River Loire, French engineers constructed chambers which kept out water by means of air pumps. In other words, the miners were digging in a compartment where the atmosphere was under 30 or more pounds per square inch—double the ordinary level.

What happened? Within a few days complaints of illness were general. The laborers observed pain which varied in intensity and was located chiefly in the abdomen and the extremities.

Only in recent years have we understood that both the blood and the various tissues will hold nitrogen in solution. This is true especially of fat, which will retain five times the quantity of other body material. The difficulty appears when the mechanic emerges to ordinary air. His system responds immediately with the "outpopping" of gases, much like a bottle of charged water when first uncapped. The dissolved nitrogen forms bubbles, blocks the circulation, tears cells apart, and the result is severe discomfort.

Pain is sometimes accompanied by prostration. The ensuing disturbance will be mild or serious, depending upon the amount of gas discharged. The greatest distress occurs in the legs, usually about the knees and ankles. In fact, all the joints are likely to be involved. When the abdomen is affected, a fair degree of shock may be present, with signs of circulatory collapse.

While most of those employed in caissons may experience mild awareness of what is going on during the decompression process, few will be bothered materially if the reduction in tension is gradual. If the patient complains of distress he should be returned promptly to compressed air until he has recovered. Safety consists in eliminating nitrogen from the tissues so slowly that it will all leave via the lungs. In such circumstances the body fluids will not be overloaded with the gas. A good rule is to allow plenty of time in departing from the air lock.

The suggestion has been offered that a mixture of oxygen and helium may be inhaled with marked benefit. Rest plays an important rôle, and frequent changes in and out are desirable. For example, those who are tunneling in spaces from 18 to 25 pounds above normal can work for 6 hours in each day, 3 on and 3 off; those up to 32 pounds for about 4 hours, 2 on and 2 off.

Another factor has to do with perspiration, particularly if the temperature is elevated. Actual measurements show that some of these artisans under active exercise will lose as much as six quarts in a single shift. This means that salt tablets and glucose will be needed.

Protection for those employés is now so perfect that the danger is regarded as minimal. But only superb physical specimens should follow the occupation of sandhog. Those who are suffering from heart, blood vessel, or kidney disease are likely to encounter trouble.

WHO GETS THE TIRES?

Chicago, June 5.—It is about time that the purpose behind this proposed gas rationing program to be imposed on the middle west should be exposed so that the people can see just what and who is behind it. The claim that it is being done to conserve rubber is absurd. For what purpose is this rubber to be conserved? The police, fire, health officials, or armed forces certainly don't want the used tires from these motorists' cars to replace their equipment.

As for the owners themselves, those who are not doing everything in their power to conserve their own tires, knowing that replacements are not available, are certainly not entitled to get replacements when theirs are gone from conservative users who have saved their tires by careful use and self-denial.

It looks like another scheme to take from those who thru foresight, care, and safe and sane action have tried to save and make the best of conditions, and give to those who adopt the attitude that they can do as they please, squander their possessions, and when they are gone expect the government to see that they can keep going on their extravagant way. SKIP MILK DELIVERIES.

Chicago, June 4.—About a year ago my milkman suggested that I buy milk in half gallon or gallon containers with delivery every other day instead of the daily delivery of one or two quarts.

It has worked out to my benefit as well as his, and several of my neighbors have been doing the same. The thought occurs that a general system of every other day delivery to conserve gas and tires would not work any hardship on the consumer. I would gladly walk the block or two to the grocer to get my milk if by so doing I was aiding my government in the conservation program, but the skip plan has worked splendidly for me, as well as economically. BONDS INSTEAD OF FIREWORKS.

Oak Park, Ill., May 29.—Fourth of July will be here before so very long, and thousands of dollars will be spent for fireworks. It occurred to me today that if money spent for community celebrations, etc., were put in one fund and spent for defense bonds, which in turn supply ammunition to be used in defeating the axis, a great deal toward final victory would be accomplished. Why should we celebrate this holiday as formerly when our boys are giving their lives to save our country.

SACRIFICING THEIR STUDIES.

Chicago, June 2.—Can any one explain to me why students have been called upon in the high schools to devote all their class periods in a day to filing sugar ration registration cards? Near the close of a semester, why some students like my son, who should be making the most of their study hours, are told instead to substitute government work for much needed study is beyond my comprehension. LOAD OFF HIS MIND.

Chicago, June 5.—With all our senators and representatives worrying about my tires, does that mean that I don't have to worry any more myself?

CARLTON H. HIBBARD.

BOSTON.

Chicago, May 29.—I notice that the Atlantic Monthly has picked up and rehashed the old attack launched against THE TRIBUNE.

One of the Atlantic's editors is quoted as stating that the isolationism of the middle west is one deplorable factor in the case, but that the truly unforgivable sin of THE TRIBUNE is its American point of view, which puts the interests of the United States above those of Great Britain. This same gentleman mentions with pride that many Britons have called Boston the most English city out here in the states [or does he mean the sticks?].

From this, two thoughts come to mind. First, the Atlantic Monthly once before played a most noisy part in arousing sectional feelings of disunity which flowered in the bloody tragedy of reconstruction in the south.

Secondly, during the Revolution Boston was so utterly un-America First, and so many of its citizens were British Tories, that the city was unable to defend itself from capture. George Washington had to call on his Virginians to enlist in an army which he then marched to Massachusetts to retake Boston for the Americans. HISTORIAN.

FOG HORN.

Chicago, June 4.—I wonder how many people had the feeling of annoyance that Emma Peterson felt toward the fog horn that blew practically the entire night. I can picture her on the bridge of some freighter or behind the wheel of some patrol boat or tug entering the river in a pea soup fog and no fog horn to guide her. I like better to picture her at home waiting for husband or sweetheart to come in.

Her friend at the pier will some day be a sailor thankful for the guidance to his home port coming thru a mist his eyes can't pierce. CAPTAIN'S WIFE.

VAN BUREN STREET CAR SERVICE.

Chicago, May 30.—What is wrong with the street car service on Van Buren street? Saturday morning there were just three street cars from 7 to 8 o'clock, so crowded some couldn't get on. Some had to ride in cabs to be on time at our plant, which like a good many other places, are doing defense work.

When I quit work at noon, no street cars in sight, so I thumbed my way home. DEFENSE WORKER.

WPA AND SELF-RELIANCE.

Chicago, June 3.—It is disgusting to read of strong men and women working on WPA these days of plenty and refusing to pick the strawberry crop because they don't like the wages and have to bend over. There should be no relief on WPA except for old people and widows with families. Surely any man or boy strong enough to do the road work required by WPA is more than able to work on farms and pick strawberries.

I am in my own business and my brother recently sold his business for nearly 1 million dollars. Our first jobs were picking strawberries for one cent a quart. Relief has become a disgrace to the nation, due to the many lazy unambitious people who stay on it. I have known many deserving people on relief, but they do not stay on it forever. It is a shaky bridge they cross on their way to a job and independence once more. M. M. BLACK.

DRAFT DEFERMENT.

Chicago, June 5.—Everywhere you go you hear about young men dodging the draft by getting married. And how about all the young men who had no intentions of going to college, but have decided to go because they found out it will keep them out of immediate service thru the draft? Why should they be deferred if they started college after Dec. 8, 1941?

MOTHER OF THREE SONS IN THE ARMY.

COUNTY THROWS $365,000 SOP TO 1,200 CREDITORS

Dips Into Working Cash Fund for Emergency.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

County officials yesterday made an effort to hold at bay 1,200 creditors who are clamoring for payment of $4,000,000 of past due bills for goods and services rendered the county since 1940.

County Treasurer John Toman announced after a conference with Controler Michael J. Flynn and Deputy Controler Richard J. Daley that $430,000 can be released. This advance for bills can be made without immediate danger to the payment of employés' salaries, Toman said.

Officials explained that $365,000 will be used to meet bills incurred before Jan. 1, 1941. This will leave the county with a backlog of 17 months of unpaid bills instead of 20 months. The remaining $65,000 will go for current emergencies, including $5,000 worth of gasoline for Sheriff O'Brien's highway police, who learned Sunday they were fast running out of gas because the county's credit has gone bad.

County Board Acts Today.

A special county board meeting will be held today to authorize borrowing the $430,000 from the county's "working cash fund," by pledging prospective tax collections as security. The fund contains $1,300,000 in cash now. Officials say that the acuteness of the county's financial position is indicated by the fact that the "working cash" kitty is not usually tapped until the end of the year when revenues customarily dwindle.

This year the county board, having adopted a budget 4½ million dollars in excess of the controler's revenue estimates, is forced to borrow from its working fund six months earlier than usual to keep the county going. Officials declined to predict what will happen at the year-end.

The proposed payments to creditors will still leave the county owing more than 3½ millions.

Creditors' List Lengthy.

Some Creditors Close Purses.

County officials admitted that some merchants have refused to extend further credit to the county until payments are made on long overdue accounts.

Included in miscellaneous items to be paid from the $430,000 release is $14,200 to hold until Dec. 1 an option to buy the Durand-McCormick hospital buildings from the University of Chicago for $125,000. Unless this is paid by tomorrow, the county stands to lose $10,000 paid last Dec. 1 for an option on the property.

Parade Sunday

Seven hundred and fifty thousand persons are expected to march Sunday in the United Nations and Flag day parade, according to an estimate by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes. At the same time a giant rally will be held in Soldiers' field in celebration of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and United Nations day, with a display of massed colors, the unfurling by marines of the largest American flag in the world, the appearance of Donald Nelson, head of the War Production board, and a number of screen stars. Many national groups also will be represented in full costume, as will the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard, and state militia.

MASTER URGES DISMISSAL OF SCHOOL TAX SUIT

Master in Chancery John J. Kelly yesterday recommended dismissal of a suit of the Home Real Estate Improvement corporation against the board of education, district 88 of Bellwood, charging the board's contracts with two attorneys to collect school taxes were illegal. He submitted his report to Judge John C. Lewe in Superior court who set arguments for July 1. Kelly held that the services of Attorneys Thomas Tighe and Charles Liebman were necessary because the growth of defense industries in the area and the influx of school children had complicated the collection process. The corporation contended only the state's attorney could act for the board.

Taxis' Ornamental Lights Undergo a Blackout, Too

New York, June 8 [Special].—Ornate illumination on New York taxis is barred for the duration, it was learned today. Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine has notified owners that all external lights, including ornamental and roof lights, must be extinguished. The only lights permitted will be headlights and tail lights.

O'DONNELL LOSES FIRST ROUND IN POLICE JOB FIGHT

Harry J. O'Donnell lost a round yesterday in his fight for reinstatement as a police lieutenant, when Judge Francis Allegretti in Superior court technically dismissed his petition for a writ of mandamus. The court, however, allowed O'Donnell's attorney, J. V. Murphy, 10 days in which to amend his petition and thus reopen the case. Judge Allegretti struck the suit from the records on motion of city lawyers who argued it presented no legal issue for judicial determination. O'Donnell was discharged last Dec. 11 by the civil service commission on complaint of a citizen that he was falsely arrested on O'Donnell's orders because he, the citizen, had complained of conditions in the Des Plaines street district, of which O'Donnell was acting captain.

93 Girls Are Graduated at Rosary Ceremonies

Ninety-three girl graduates received their diplomas yesterday at commencement exercises at Rosary college in River Forest. Nearly 1,000 relatives and friends crowded the auditorium there as Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch delivered the address and later handed out diplomas.

The publishers' association will operate the Negro news agency thru a board of five directors. Only association members will be eligible to subscribe to its services, with costs prorated according to circulation. Delegates reëlected William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call and Post, president.

Freed in Rape Case; Goes on Trial for Invading Home

William Niksic, 26 years old, 2947 East 96th street, went on trial yesterday before Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court on a charge of having broken into the home of Mrs. Ruth Johnson, 28, of 2538 West 103d place, with intent to rape her. A jury was chosen and the trial will continue today. Niksic, in an earlier trial before Judge Sbarbaro, was acquitted of a charge of having raped Mrs. Johnson. Wilbert F. Crowley, first state's attorney, then obtained an indictment on the second charge.

PAROLE REFORM LAW A YEAR OLD; RESULTS STUDIED

Judges' Suggestions in 937 Cases Listed.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of the Criminal court, yesterday made public a record of the recommendations of Criminal court judges in 937 cases under the terms of the parole reform law that became effective last July 1. At the same time it was reported that State's Attorney Courtney had protested many of the recommendations on the ground that punishment was insufficient.

The law is called the Green-Rennick act after its legislative sponsors—Gov. Dwight H. Green and Rep. Frederick W. Rennick of Buda.

It enables trial judges to make recommendations to the parole board as to the minimum and maximum terms of an indeterminate sentence. Under Illinois law the punishment for most felonies is an indeterminate sentence of 1 to 5 years, 1 to 10 years, 1 to 14 years, 1 to 20 years or 1 year to life, the exact time to be fixed by the parole board.

11 Months to Penal Year.

The first of the convicts sentenced under the provisions of the Green-Rennick law now are coming before the parole board. That is because in penal terms 1 year is only 11 months. One month is taken off the first year's imprisonment for "good behavior," 2 months off the second year, 3 off the third year, 4 off the fourth, 5 off the fifth and 6 months off each year over five.

Milton H. Summers, superintendent of supervision of parolees and one of the five men who vote on the granting of paroles, said an opinion of the attorney general would be required as to whether "good time" could be deducted from the time recommended by the trial judge. First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said the Criminal court judges have based their recommendations on the thought that the "good time" would be deducted.

Protests Will Come Up.

Summers said that at this month's hearings the board would be faced with the duty of acting on some of Courtney's protests. The board has the power, he said, to increase the minimum set by a judge or to lower the maximum prescribed by the court. To do this a 4 to 1 vote by the five man board is necessary and T. P. Sullivan, director of public safety, must concur.

Prosecutor Wilbert F. Crowley said that in the early application of the law the judges seemed to be acting with extreme leniency in many cases. In recent months, however, Crowley said, the judges have been imposing heavier penalties and the protests of the prosecution have grown fewer. He said the parole board has been asked to set aside the recommendations of Cook county judges in more than 200 cases.

Bowler prepared a set of records to show what action was taken in every case since July 1, 1941, in which the law might be applied, and his report listed 937 cases, 14 of which were in May this year.

Justice Dunne Sentences 84.

Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne sentenced 84 defendants under the new law up to May 1. In 39 cases he recommended a minimum of 1 year with a maximum of 2, 3, 4 or 5 years. In 3 robbery cases his recommendations were 10 to 11 years and in 5 other robbery cases his figures were 10 to 15 years. He had a few of 5 to 10 years, 4 to 8 years, and a few of 2 to 7 years. In 4 cases the minimum was 1 year and the maximum 1 year.

Judge John F. Haas applied the law 169 times. A few burglars drew 1 year to 14 months and a number of robbers heard the judge say "1 to 2 years." There were many with 3 year minimums and maximums from 5 to 7 years. His heaviest sentences were 10 to 11 years in 3 burglary cases and in 2 slaying cases where the finding was manslaughter the recommendation was 10 to 14 years.

Judge Sbarbaro Has 183.

Judge John Sbarbaro had 183 cases and in 47 of them he allowed the one year minimum to stand. In one case he also allowed the maximum to remain at life, in effect making no recommendation, leaving to the parole board the discretion to free the convict at any time. Judge Sbarbaro fixed 2 year maximums 26 times and 18 months 4 times. There were also sentences of 7 to 10 years, 10 to 15 years, 20 to 25 years, and others of 4 to 6 years and for a dozen or more robbers his figures were 3 to 7 or 4 to 7. Others were 10 to 20 and 10 to 14 or 15.

Judge Julius H. Miner acted in 163 cases. He allowed the 1 year minimum to apply in 44 cases, in 4 others his maximum was 1 year, in 6 cases it was 18 months, and in 12 it was 2 years. In 3 robbery cases his figures were 10 to 20 years. Most of the rest of Judge Miner's cases had minimums of 3 to 4 or 5 years and maximums of 4, 5, 6, or 7 years.

112 on Judge Ward's List.

Judge Harold Ward, one of the sponsors of the law, but an opponent of the feature which gives the parole board the right to override the judge's views on punishment, made recommendations in 112 cases. In 13 cases he allowed the minimum to stand at 1 year and in 41 cases he made it 2 years. In 3 burglary cases Judge Ward's figures were 8 to 10 years, and in 9 robbery cases they were 9 to 12 years, and in 3 others 20 to 35 years.

Judge Ulysses S. Schwartz heard 101 cases in which indeterminate sentences were imposed and in 9 of them his recommendations were the same as the statutory minimums and maximums. In 31 cases the minimum was 1 year. One robber drew 15 years to life, many 10 to 25 years, several 19 to 25 years, and 1 burglar's sentence was 10 years to life.

Records of Other Judges.

Clerk Bowler's records also showed other recommendations as follows: Judge William V. Brothers in 2 cases, Judge James F. Fardy in 10, Judge John F. Bolton in 1, Judge Donald S. McKinlay in 6, Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski in 12, Judge Edgar A. Jonas in 36, Judge Dennis J. Normoyle in 18, Judge Grover C. Niemeyer in 12, Judge Joseph B. Sabath in 18, Judge Thomas J. Lynch in 5, and Judge Michael Feinberg in 5 cases. They showed varying views on punishment.

A Mother

MRS. RODION RATHBONE.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodion Rathbone are the parents of a daughter, born May 19 in Passavant hospital, it was revealed yesterday. Rathbone, an instructor in the royal Canadian air force, is the son of Basil Rathbone, the film actor. Mrs. Rathbone and the baby, christened Heloise, are still in Chicago at a near north side hotel and will leave soon for Canada to rejoin the husband and father. The younger Rathbones were married in 1938 at the home of his parents in Hollywood. Mrs. Rathbone is the former Caroline Fisher of Chicago.

ASK DEATH FIGHT BY U. S. DOCTORS ON PROSTITUTION

A. M. A. Resolution Seeks Complete Ban.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., June 8.—A resolution calling for elimination of prostitution thru coöperation of physicians was presented today to the house of delegates of the American Medical association, opening its 93d annual convention here.

The resolution was considered the most strongly worded one on the subject ever sent before the delegates and was motivated by the spread of venereal disease among mmbers of the armed forces and defense workers.

Other developments during the day were:

1. Discussion of the comparatively new field of aviation medicine and its operation in the royal Canadian air force by Wing Commander G. E. Hall, Ottawa, Ont.

Ask Aid for Armed Forces.

2. Request by the president and president elect of the A. M. A. for more volunteers for the armed services and a warning against undue optimism in the medical profession regarding the war.

United States public health service efforts have been directed toward eradicating prostitution from military and defense areas, but today's resolution was all inclusive, making no distinction as to region. It was read by Dr. George W. Kosmak, New York, and asked delegates to take a stand that:

"1. Control of venereal disease requires elimination of commercialized prostitution.

"2. Medical inspection of prostitutes is untrustworthy, inefficient, gives a false sense of security and fails to prevent the spread of infection.

"3. Prostitution is unlawful and physicians who knowingly examine prostitutes for the purpose of providing them with medical certificates to be used in soliciting are participating in an illegal activity and are violating the principles of accepted profession ethics."

Vote Expected Today.

The resolution is expected to come to a vote tomorrow.

Wing Commander Hall in his remarks on aviation medicine pointed out there is as much difference between flying an airplane for pleasure and for combat as there is between playing dub golf and being expert enough to play tournament games for a livelihood.

Another speaker, Dr. Oren C. Durham, Chicago, warned that a new menace for hay fever sufferers—a tumbleweed known as kochia scoparia—is spreading eastward from Nebraska and Colorado and has reached Chicago.

Dr. Frank H. Lahey, Boston, Mass., president of the A. M. A., warned the delegates that medicine, along with other professions, is not facing the facts of war as frankly as it should.

Asks United Effort.

Dr. Lahey asked association members to forget the controversy with Thurman Arnold and other United States officials who a year ago prosecuted the association on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law, obtaining a verdict of guilty.

He said today's first obligation was to aid the wounded in the nation's crisis.

Dr. Fred W. Rankin, Lexington, Ky., president elect of the association, said that the A. M. A. shares a responsibility for the fact that enough physicians for the armed forces have not been forthcoming.

McNutt Urges Volunteers.

Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator and head of the War Man Power board, speaker at a dinner of the delegates tonight, also declared that there are not enough volunteers for the medical corps. He said that an army of 9 million men will require at least 60,000 physicians, one-third of all the practitioners in the country, including those retired.

"The voluntary plan for recruiting physicians must work and work promptly," he said, "or some other more vigorous plan will have to be produced."

PROTEST SCRAPPING CANNONS.

Rockford, Ill., June 8 [Special].—A petition signed by more than 100 residents was presented to the Winnebago county board today protesting proposals to scrap Rockford's Civil war cannons as "unnecessary and unwarranted." It was referred to the board's building and grounds committee.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

H. W. J. asks: "Can you give me the requirements for a ground officer in the army air corps?"

ANSWER: There are five types of ground officers: armament, communication, engineering, meteorology, and photography. The educational requirements follow: Armament, two years of a college engineering course; shop work highly desirable. Communications, two years of college, including one year of college physics or possession of an amateur or commercial radio license. Engineering, three years of engineering training in an accredited college. Meteorology, three years college work, majoring in the sciences or engineering; mathematics thru differential and integral calculus, and physics to include heat and thermodynamics. Photography, at least three years of chemistry or geology in an accredited college, with commercial or amateur photography experience.

C. R. P. asks: "To what office does one apply for enlistment in the army paratroop corps? What are the qualifications for enlistment? Is the paratroop corps considered part of the air corps?"

ANSWER: The army recruiting station at 515 South Franklin street is enlisting men for the paratroops. Applicants must be between 18 and 35 years of age, in excellent physical condition, and must not weigh more than 185 pounds. This branch is part of the infantry.

F. W. M. asks: "Can you give me some information regarding the correspondence school established for men in the army?"

ANSWER: An army institute has been opened at Madison, Wis., and in collaboration with the University of Wisconsin will offer more than 65 courses in such subjects as English composition, foreign languages, mathematics, physics, chemistry, social studies, and business. In addition the extension divisions of approximately 80 colleges and universities will coöperate with the army institute in providing correspondence courses for soldiers. For the army institute courses the soldier will pay an enrollment fee of $2, while the government will pay half the tuition fees for courses offered by coöperating schools.

Mrs. S. W. writes: "I am a widow with one son in the service and have one at home. He has been put in 3-B. Will you tell me what that means? Some one told me he wouldn't be called until 3-A men have been called. Is this true?"

ANSWER: Class 3-B is a new classification for registrants who have dependents and who are also employed in civilian activities which are necessary to the war production program or which is a supporting activity. This group will be the last sought for military service.

To Mrs. K. W. W.: The National Service Life insurance policy is a 5-year level premium term policy. The premium remains the same for the time the insurance is in force—5 years. It may be exchanged for another policy before the expiration date. I would have to know your husband's age to tell you the premium.

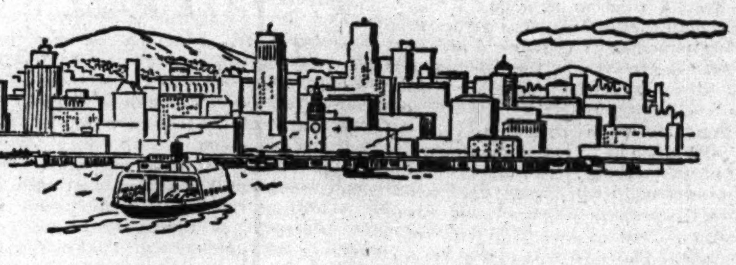
San Francisco

A story-book adventure



The times have telescoped the past, and people live with a hundred years of romance and adventure in San Francisco today. They see it all about them like the stories from a book.

If you know San Francisco and come here now—in uniform, or to visit someone in the service, or on business (we're not inviting merely pleasure seekers now because of the national dedication to the War)—you will find this the same lovely city as before, rising pastel-tinted on its hills in the sun. You will hear the same church bells on the morning air, scent the same flowers on the sidewalk stands, glide in the same cable cars over the hills, see the same attractive windows in the shopping streets.....

But—San Francisco will be different; more thrilling . . . more inspiring. You may say, "This city has the feeling which it must have had in Gold Rush days."

There's a new vigor in the people, a new forthrightness and adventure in the way they live. And this, like the cool salt-laden breezes, will get into your blood, filling you with buoyant energy and confidence.

San Francisco is the same world-loved symphony that it always was, but with new notes in the score...swift planes occasionally roaring overhead, busy army trucks and jeeps in the streets, men and women in uniform everywhere, air-raid-shelter notices on the granite fronts of buildings...

Of course, the ships on the bay are all gray now. One may stand on Telegraph Hill and see it all, including the world's two greatest bridges...the islands...the all-encircling hills...

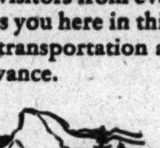
Landward are the pagodas of Chinatown and the tall buildings of the business city. When this town was young, men signalled to it with a semaphore from this hill to tell the coming of each vessel through the Golden Gate. San Francisco has always been a port of adventure.

And just as men and women here have always loved good living, so they do today. If you come here, you will find your hotel service impeccable, the night clubs various and cosmopolitan, the world-famous food of this city served with accustomed care.

You may join with San Franciscans in their love of the theatre, of music and the arts, and of sports. Some morning you may play golf on the green fairways above the Golden Gate, or take a horse and ride with others through the fragrance of Golden Gate Park—out to the white sand beach and the waves that roll from China.

Little things will make pictures in your mind, to stay: the splendid bearing of the fighting men; the sailors in dungarees from the merchant ships; the cheerfulness and good manners of people everywhere; the rhythmic dance-crowds in hotels at night; little restaurants with the food and atmosphere of many lands; the gilded splendor of a Chinese temple; shops with rare books...with elegant things in silver, glass and pottery...with treasures from the Orient; the glittering jewelry palaces...

San Francisco is, of course, a busy place, thronged with visitors from everywhere. So if your business brings you here in this wartime, you should make your transportation and hotel arrangements well in advance.



Within a few hours of San Francisco are many delightful places that you should some time see: the famous wine country of little valleys and gently rolling hills; the forests of giant redwoods, biggest trees on earth; Yosemite National Park, with its soaring granite cliffs and silvery waterfalls; mile-high Lake Tahoe, Mark Twain's "Sea of the Sky"; the quaint mining towns of '49 along the Mother Lode; Monterey, once capital of all the Californias, and nearby Del Monte, Carmel and Santa Cruz.

We will be glad to send you a little booklet on the delightful region centered by this city, telling also what to see and where to dine and dance and shop in San Francisco. Please address:

PRINT INDUSTRY URGED TO SAVE SCARCE METALS

WPB Speaker Explains New Program.

American newspapers, magazines, and other elements of the printing industry were urged yesterday to undertake a complete and thoro salvage program, particularly in the field of metals. The speaker was E. W. Palmer, assistant chief of the printing and publishing branch of the War Production Board, who addressed the opening session of the 16th conference of the mechanical division of the American Newspaper Publishers association at the Drake hotel.

"The printing industry, if it works on a planned program of scrapping obsolete plates and turning over its own metals could live off its own fat for years," said Palmer, who is also president of the Kingsport Press, Kingsport, Tenn.

"The program is bound to work. The printing industry, up until now, has been very little touched [by priorities]. From now on it faces serious curtailments. From an economic and practical point of view, it should do the utmost in conservation in every avenue of production."

Write Rigid Formula.

Under a new WPB regulation, Palmer said, a formula has been adopted to determine when photoengraving, zinc, and electrotyping plates become obsolete. The rule requires printers to scrap these plates when they reach obsolescence under the formula. The first result of this order, he said, is expected to yield 100,000 tons of metals.

Palmer declared there was no apparent shortage of newsprint. Canadian mills are running about 80 per cent of capacity and general paper producing mills in this country dropped last month from 104 per cent to 92 per cent. The only problem affecting newsprint, he said, may be inadequate transportation.

Last year 3,929,773 tons of newsprint were consumed in this country, representing 19½ per cent of all printing paper produced. Less than 1,000,000 of those tons were produced in the United States, the bulk coming from Canada.

Ink Supply Adequate.

According to the WPB representative there is no present shortage in inks, altho ink may become browner, and there may be a shortage of basic ingredients for color printing. The need for salvage exists in the use of such priority metals as zinc, lead, tin, antimony, and copper, all used in the printing process.

One of the most serious problems facing the industry, said Palmer, is the decline of advertising revenue at the same time that circulation is rising. This loss, he said, is due primarily to the conversion of heavy consumer goods to industries, which are big advertisers.

ADMITS PEDDLING STOCK IN MONEY LOSING VENTURE

Charles E. Oldenberg, Milwaukee, Wis., who gave up a 30 year old real estate business in 1935 to join the Universal Order of Plenocrats and later became president of the utopian farm scheme, yesterday admitted to Judge William H. Holly in federal District court that he continued to solicit contributions and promised a 30 per cent return on investments knowing at the time that money was being lost on farms operated by the organization.

Oldenberg also admitted that he solicited investments in violation of an order of the late Judge Charles E. Woodward enjoining the Plenocrats from listing contributions as shares of stock, and ruling that the organization was insolvent. He said he deposited subscription money in a Milwaukee bank where he was unknown, at the request of Justus Chancellor Sr., Chicago, general counsel and former president of the order.

Oldenberg, Chancellor, C. F. Davis, Chicago, secretary treasurer; C. H. Carter, Chicago, and the Rev. Fred E. Bennett, Seattle, Wash., are on trial on charges of having used the mails to defraud, and for violations of the securities and exchange act.

Davis, a founder of the organization, testified that it had collected more than $500,000 since Feb. 22, 1936. Of this sum $130,000 was obtained between April, 1938, and April, 1939.

Day by Day on the Farm
By GAIL COMPTON

Warm Days Help Corn.

June 8, 1942.

A FEW days of real "corn weather" have done wonders at the farm. Crops that had been held back by weeks of cool, rainy days have progressed rapidly, and every day the fields present a new and more mature appearance.

The corn is coming fast under the hot sun and the long green rows against the rich black of the soil provide a pleasing picture. The oats are growing fast, and before long will start to show their heads. The winter wheat has headed out and the heads are filling rapidly. The wheat is showing the rankest growth the farm men have seen in a number of years. The plants are very stalky, and some are almost 5½ feet tall. Altho the field is spotty the stand is heavy enough to insure a good yield.

The heaviness and height of the wheat stalks is causing some concern over the future of the alfalfa seeded in the field with the wheat. The stalks are casting such a dense shade the hay may not get a good start. Inspection reveals that in the bare spots the alfalfa and clover are well up while in the heavy sections the forage is struggling for sunlight.

Peonies in Their Glory.

The flower gardens at the farm are in a transitional period. Some spring flowers are on the wane and the gardeners are preparing for the opening of the next batch.

Foremost among the floral beauties now are the peonies and the bearded iris. Several large beds of peony plants are in full bloom, presenting a mass color spectacle that is unusually attractive.

Altho many of the blooms have passed their prime there still are hundreds of the big flowers that are almost as large as an indoor baseball. They range from deep red to white with many of the plants bearing attractive combinations and blends of the two colors.

The peonies are too thick in several spots, and the roots will have to be divided in August and reset. When the bushes become too thick they produce a rank growth and reduce the size of the flower head. These flowers are remarkably free from insects and diseases and need only weeding to keep them in good shape. The gardener always pinches the lateral buds on the plants, allowing only the terminal bud to produce a flower. This method gives the best and largest flower head.

Bearded Iris Still Lovely.

The bearded iris have passed their prime, but still form a lovely display. The next flowers to put on a show in the gardens will be the phlox and delphiniums. If the weather remains good they will be out within a week.

Another attractive bloom to be seen in the garden now is the "queen of the shade"—the English, rooted, tuberose begonia. These flowers grow best in complete shade as overlong exposure to the sun will scorch the plant leaves. Their beautiful, multicolored flowers form interesting patterns in the shade of the bushes.

The tea roses are being subjected to a constant spraying program. Every two weeks they are thoroly drenched with a combination insecticide and fungicide that keeps them free of all pests and diseases.

NLRB SETS ASIDE UNION ELECTION IN CHICAGO PLANT

Hold Teamsters' Violence Influenced Victory.

The National Labor Relations board, in what was described as an unprecedented action in Chicago, yesterday set aside an election of National Tea company warehouse employés in which bargaining rights had been voted to a local of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters [AFL] over an independent union.

In its opinion, received by mail from Washington, the board charged that the election was marked by violence and improper electioneering, and asserted that, as a result, the vote did not fairly represent the wishes of the employés.

Involves 700 Workers.

Approximately 700 workers, employed in the warehouse at 1000 Crosby street, are affected. The election was held Oct. 3, 1941, after nine months of bitter battling between supporters of local 1 of the Progressive Grocery and Warehouse Workers' union, the independent, and local 738 of the Grocery and Food Products Employés' union, IBT.

Charges of violence were made before and after the election. In one incident, 8 independents were allegedly beaten by 30 organization goons. Moreover, Paul Busch, a union driver, was suspended for protesting against a gang attack on independents, but he was later reinstated. Additionally, it was charged that a company foreman was allowed to campaign for the teamsters.

Independents File Appeal.

The independents appealed the election to the labor board thru Attorneys Francis Heisler and Stanley Evans. That was in February. The labor board's decision, handed down by Chairman Harry A. Millis and Members William M. Leiserson and Gerard D. Reilly, commented on their complaints.

"We find," they ruled, "that due to the disorderly conduct and acts of violence occurring during the election campaign; the electioneering waged by the teamsters within the plant, and the statements made by a foreman favoring the teamsters, the election does not fairly reflect the untrammeled wishes of the employés, and did not constitute a fair test of the employés' desires as to representation."

Attorneys Heisler and Evans hailed the labor board's decision as an effective step in straightening out labor relationships, but Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for local 738, branded it as "unfair and a miscarriage of justice."

Claims It Promotes Strife.

"Such a decision," he said, "shows the evil of a situation where a labor board is prosecutor, judge, and jury. Decisions of this kind make for industrial strife instead of industrial peace."

According to attorneys for both sides there is no appeal. The alternative is another election. Carmell predicted that in another election the independents "won't get 10 votes." It will be up to the regional labor board director in Chicago to set a date for an election, according to Lester Asher, attorney for the board.

DICK TRACY—Troubled Memories

BRENDA FRAZIER KELLY.

New York, June 8 (AP).—Brenda Frazier, who once went to night clubs for entertainment and now visits them to track down contributors for navy relief, collects a bit of cash tomorrow—$1,400,000 in fact—plus a life interest in $2,500,000. All legal obstacles have been cleared for collection of the inheritance by the one time No. 1 glamor girl, now the wife of John S. [Shipwreck] Kelly, on her 21st birthday. Mrs. Kelly's wealth comes to her from her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Duff Frazier, who died in Chicago in 1936, and from her father, Frank Duff Frazier, who died in 1933.

Rep. Ramspeck Appointed Majority Whip of House

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Majority Leader John W. McCormack [D., Mass.] announced today the appointment of Rep. Robert Ramspeck [D., Ga.] as majority whip of the house, succeeding Rep. Patrick Boland of Pennsylvania, who died recently.

PETRILLO TO PUT CURB ON MAKING OF RECORDINGS

Dallas, Tex., June 8 (AP).—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, told the national convention of that organization today that effective Aug. 1 the union would ban the making of transcriptions or recordings by its 140,000 members, except under certain conditions.

"We will make records for home consumption, but we won't make them for juke boxes," Petrillo said. "We will make them for the armed forces of the United States and its allies, but not for commercial and sustaining radio programs.

"We will make them at any time at the request of our commander in chief, the President of the United States."

Petrillo told the approximately 700 delegates that Oct. 1, 1941, the executive board adopted a resolution that recording be discontinued and left the President full power to act.

"I intended to set Jan. 15, 1942, as the deadline, but then came Pearl Harbor and you all know how upset we were for several months," Petrillo said, but "now the time is here."

20 WOMEN FLEE, 2 MEN FAINT AT FILM OF WOUNDS

About 1,000 men and women had gathered last night in the community theater at Loyola university to see a showing of United States army signal corps films dealing with treatment of wounds and gas victims. The films were intended only for military audiences, but an exception was made at the request of the Office of Civilian Defense that they be made available to air raid wardens and other defense organization members.

Everything went just fine for a while. The men and women saw how gas victims are cared for and how fractures are splinted. Then came the wounds. There was a little tenseness during the showing of venous wounds, then came the arterial or spurting wounds. About 20 women gasped and rushed for the doors. When the lights came on it was found that two men in the audience had fainted!

BO-PEEP IS SHEEPISH WHEN SHE FINDS SHE'S A STRANGER IN SCHOOL

The cow that jumped over the moon couldn't have been any more suprised than was Illini Flood Bo-Peep yesterday. Bo-Peep, a pure blood Holstein, went to school and was amazed to learn that a great number of children didn't know what she was.

Accompanied by her three month old calf, "Frisky," Bo-Peep visited the Pasteur school and put on a little milking demonstration with the aid of Dr. A. E. Gardner of the University of Illinois. She will tour 16 other schools during the week to acquaint 20,000 children with the processes of getting milk—a project of Dairy month, under the sponsorship of the Chicago Milk Foundation and the Chicagoland Dairy council.

Bo-Peep will tour three more schools today.

MARTIN FINDS CONGRESS PERIL FROM NEW DEAL

Pierre, S. D., June 8 (AP).—National Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr., of the Republican party said today there was a "perfectly obvious effort" by some New Deal agencies to "discredit the entire legislative branch of government."

As keynoter for the South Dakota Republican state convention, the house minority leader asserted this activity was one of the major developments "which indicate there are those who would like to see the control of the people relinquished into the hands of 'economic planners.'"

He declared one development was among prominent administration officials who he said "are beginning to talk of how the government will be very slow to give up its great powers for a long time after the war had ended."

"A second development," Martin said, "is the careful selection of new names and new terms for moves which, under the old terms, would arouse the people instantly to their danger. The newest and the most deceptively clever term is that of 'positive government.' Let me warn you that that term 'positive government' means old-fashioned totalitarianism with all its tyranny."

3 Evanston Boys Rescued After Sailboat Overturns

Three Evanston youths were rescued by the Wilmette coast guard yesterday after their tiny sailboat overturned in Lake Michigan about a mile east of Wilmette harbor. The three, Dick Siegler, 16, years old, 714 Forest avenue; Warren Beck Jr., 16, of 1001 Hull street, and Merrill E. Mumment, 17, of 2328 Ridgeway avenue, all good swimmers, clung to the rigging of their craft until spotted by Lester Yon, coast guard lookout, a few moments after the accident. The boat also was saved.

3 SEIZED IN RAID ON SOUTH SIDE BOOKIE CENTER

A bookie "nerve center" on the second floor at 1029 South Wabash avenue was raided yesterday by Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Central station. He and his squad seized nine telephones, a scratch sheet and a lease made out to the Inter-Continent Export company for George W. Dixon. Capt. Duffy arrested Bernard Flaherty, 36 years old; John Dunlavy, 42, and Paul Dugacek, 33.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, warned Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien and Police Chief Theodore Svoboda of Cicero that he would proceed against them for failure to enforce the law unless Cicero handbooks are kept closed. The warning followed closing of four places by state's attorney's police.

The Cicero raids were made at the El Patio club, 5914 Cermak road, at the Rock Garden, 2131 South Cicero avenue, and at 2428 South 52d street, and 4831 Cermak road. Handbook raids also were conducted at 766 Milwaukee avenue and at a cigar store at 168 Harrison street.

Mrs. Burton learns

Helen Scott, home advisor, shows how to avoid wasting light

Mrs. Burton: Now that the family is home more in the evenings, I want to be sure that everyone gets proper lighting.

Helen Scott: The first thing I suggest for getting the most light from your lamps is to keep the reflector bowls and bulbs free from dust. Dust gathers on them quickly and can cut off up to 30% of the light. It's a good idea to dust them weekly, and wash them every month with soap and water.

Mrs. Burton: I've noticed that the lining of this shade has become discolored . . . doesn't that affect the lighting?

Helen Scott: Yes, indeed, if the lining of the shade turns yellow inside, like this, you lose a lot of light and risk eyestrain. You can keep the linings in good condition by brushing them every few weeks. Of course, if they become too discolored, they should be replaced.

Mrs. Burton: What about the size bulbs I use?

Helen Scott: That also is an important point. Wrong size bulbs can defeat the whole purpose of scientifically-designed lamps. These lamps are constructed to accommodate bulbs which provide adequate light. The bulbs that come with the lamps are the right size, so all you have to do is replace them with the same size bulbs.

Mrs. Burton: Does it make a difference where I place the lamps?

Helen Scott: Yes, proper placement of lamps makes the light more useful. Put them where they give eyes most help. And often, by a simple rearrangement of the furniture, two or more of the family can use the same lamp . . . but remember, to get the correct light, the lamp must not be too far away from your chair.

Check up on your lamps now

Start right now to get full benefit of the lamps you have in your home. Follow the simple suggestions of Helen Scott to avoid wasting light and to help your family's eyesight.

We Must Have Brewed a Better Beer

"If you write a better book, or preach a better sermon, or build a better mousetrap, than your neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to your door, though it be in the woods."

Club Leaders, in Meeting Here, Plan Co-ordinating Conference

Leaders of important state and city women's organizations met yesterday at the invitation of the Woman's City club of Chicago in its rooms at 410 South Michigan avenue for an informal conference which proved so satisfactory to all present that it germinated an idea for a permanent organization.

Tho no move for formal organization was made, there having been no previous plan toward that end in the mind of the hostess club when the conference was called, the meeting focused attention upon the fact that there is in the city no agency set up to serve specifically as a clearing house for women's organizations and to act as a coördinating medium for coöperative effort toward common goals.

Each of the women present gave a brief synopsis of the projects and purposes of her group, explaining particularly those activities in line with the war effort. Their stories brought to light many common interests. At the close of the conference the idea for a central council of women's organizations was advanced by several of the group, who declared the exchange of information had proved so enlightening and so full of promise for coöperative effort that they favored other meetings.

An activity that caught the interest of all present was described by Mrs. Clayton F. Eulette, president of the Chicago Women's club. Mrs. Eulette told of a survey which a group headed by Mrs. Morris Fishbein was making relative to prekindergarten schools and refuges for the children of women in war industries. The general interest shown prompted Mrs. Eulette to promise that she would arrange for an assembly of the group in the near future at the Chicago Woman's club in order that all might hear Mrs. Fishbein on the subject.

Mrs. William H. Sahud, newly elected president of the Chicago section of the National Council of Jewish Women, described her group's service to the foreign born which prepared the way educationally for citizenship. Mrs. Richard U. Halstrom of the hostess club invited all groups to make use of the Woman's City club citizenship desk, which was set up originally to help the members procure birth certificates or establish proof of citizenship. The club has extended this service to workers, both men and women, in war industries.

Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, 2d vice president and program chairman of the hostess organization, originated the idea for the conference yesterday. Mrs. John Sharpless Fox, president of the Woman's City club, presided.

These dainty designs for modern china, coupled with gay cherries, grapes, peaches, and all the colorful and luscious fruits, are an ideal suggestion for use on glass towels. Rayon Hosiery Is Tops, if You Treat It Right

BY REA SEEGER.

The best brains of the industry have been cudgeled and not in vain to perfect rayon hosiery. The new stockings are smoother than ever. The secret is the twist of the twist. In other words, the tighter the twist the better the hose, so far as wear and service is concerned. And they've sure twisted the threads of the new rayon.

New summer shades are offered. Suntan tones by the half dozens are ready for print dresses, dark sheers for party wear and all the smart street cottons or other wash materials.

The care of rayon hosiery is important, because it differs from the usual treatment. Don't forget that rayon stockings cannot be laundered like silk or Nylon. It takes a good 36 hours to really dry rayon. It's only shrewd buying to take a couple of matched shades or at least buy a couple of pairs at the same time and avoid the temptation to wear them before they are dry.

Be sure and give your correct size, if you want them to fit properly. In wrong sizes they'll sag and wrinkle much more quickly than silks or Nylons! Rinse them thoroly, put them down flat to dry and allow plenty of time. If you do all this, which after all isn't so complicated, your new summer rayon stockings will be a lasting joy and comfort.

Some of the rayons have reinforced Nylon toes, which provides additional service where it's most needed by those who wear open-toed footgear. Prices are easy on the budget. The sheerest, of course, are the most expensive. The textures are smooth, dull, and flattering to the ankle lines.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., June 8.—Again the rumor that Barbara Hutton and Cary Grant will wed, again I don't believe it. Barbara hasn't got her American citizenship papers back, and if she marries Grant, it would complicate things all over again, because then she'd have to go from Danish to English. The reason her papers have been held up so long is that a new law has to be passed before her particular case can be taken care of—it's that complicated. The laugh is that ex-husband Count Reventlow von Haugwitz is now an American citizen!

Barbara Hutton.

Off the Record.

Hollywood doesn't even know it, but Commander John Ford, whose picture, "How Green Was My Valley," got the academy award last year, brought back to Washington pictures of the bombing of Tokio. He stopped off in Hollywood for a two-day visit. His wife hadn't seen him since February. He's hard as nails, fit as a fiddle, and has taken off 20 years. She has no idea where he is today. . . . For months past, Bob Burns has been doing his own private war job. Every night he sits at his powerful short wave radio set and picks up messages that American prisoners are allowed to broadcast from Japan. Bob records each message and forwards it to the soldier's family, with a letter of explanation. It's a labor of love that nothing is allowed to interfere with, and if you could read some of the replies he's had from mothers and fathers of those boys, you'd know why!

Toot for Tat.

Paul Whiteman and Bing Crosby do a benefit for our symphony orchestra June 18, "because," says Paul, "if it hadn't been for classical music, swing would never have been born." . . . Did you ever hear the story of "Rhapsody in Blue"? Whiteman got a chance to give a concert in Carnegie Hall, and, cornered by the press boys as to what he would play, answered, "George Gershwin is writing a new symphony called 'Rhapsody in Blue' specially for me." You can imagine the nip-up George did next day when he read that. Called Whiteman, who said, "You're hooked, boy. We do it in three weeks!" And they did.

No Time for Comedy.

I wonder what Joel McCrea thinks he's proving by refusing to play opposite Roz Russell in "Stand By to Die"? He turned down "I Married a Witch" with Veronica Lake, too. Joel's plea is that to maintain his standing he can't take a secondary part. Now, I like Joel—he's a nice kid. But he's had more luck than many more capable actors, and his recent performance opposite Barbara Stanwyck in "The Great Man's Lady" was certainly nothing to crow about. It's all right to fight for your place in the sun, but if you just sit there and sulk, you're likely to get a bad burn. . . . Warners tried to get Olivia de Havilland or Margaret Sullavan for "Mark Twain." Now they're hot-footing it after Nancy Kelly.

Fifi Feels No Pain.

If Anne Shirley plays the part of Fifi in "China Girl," she'll be working at her ex-husband's studio, and there is still a possibility John Payne will play opposite her. It would be a funny experience, playing a love scene with a guy you don't even speak to, altho Marlene Dietrich and John Wayne did it in "The Spoilers." They were never married, however.

Don't Make 'Em That Strong.

June Havoc's in a tough spot. She's made quite a point of calling for all of her young men in her new motorcycle with side-car. But along comes 300-pound Laird Cregar and dates her up for dinner. Why don't you go all womanly, June—stay home and cook a side of beef for him? . . . Tommy Mitchell is selling his home here and moving his family up on the Oregon ranch, and for pictures Tommy will commute. . . . Twenty-two year old Nan Merriman, who sings in "The Constant Nymph," will sing in Cincinnati's opera this summer opposite Richard Crooks and John Charles Thomas. . . . Director Bill Wellman's seven year old daughter Pat arrived home the other afternoon and proudly presented her mother with a loaf of bread. When asked where it came from, Pat said the grocer gave her a blank to fill out with the signatures of three neighbors—the reward being a free loaf of bread. Upon investigation, the co-signers proved to be Gene Fowler, Nelson Eddy and Fred MacMurray!

Not So Dumb.

The Max Baers will be blessed-eventing again in August. This will be his second. And when I asked Max if his four year old would be an actor or a fighter, he said, "Neither. He'll be a manager, so he'll get 99 per cent of the profits." . . . Slapsie-Maxie is a triple threat man. He has his night club routine each evening, works daytimes in a dead end kid picture, and now he's rehearsing for a radio show. . . . Bob Taplinger, who never likes to miss anything, had a spinal anaesthetic and watched his own appendix being taken out. Now he's going to watch his step and take it easy. He said he'd rather be safe than sorry. . . . Joan Bennett's maid doesn't like the way Joan's acting these days. You see, Joan's acting a maid in "Girl Trouble" and brought her own along to get some helpful hints. In a scene where Joan has to grab Don Ameche and kiss him passionately, the maid shook her head and said, "Now, would I ever do that to your husband and my boss, Walter Wanger?"

Good Morning!

[Reading time, 3 minutes.]

Ellen Glasgow's depressing but diverting story of a family that's a complete mess receives graphic interpretation on the screen.

If the meek DO inherit the earth, this movie depicts exceptions that prove the rule. . . . For kindly, long-suffering Asa Timberlake, father; Roy Timberlake, unselfish, uncomplaining daughter, and Parry Clay, ambitious, God fearing Negro lad, certainly reap the wild wind as impersonated by Stanley Timberlake, the utterly selfish, callous, unprincipled daughter of the house . . . [Bette Davis and Olivia de Havilland as a sort of Jezebel-Melanie combination, you see].

Miss Davis' passion for portraying vicious personalities more than bordering on the psychopathic feeds avidly on her depiction of Stanley. And so good is she—BAD!—that you hate her from the start with a hearty, unfaltering hate and just barely restrain yourself from applause when retribution catches up with her. . . . [Suggestion for background music: "I'll be glad when you're dead, you rascal, you."]

What does Stanley do? Well, on the eve of her wedding to Craig Fleming, attorney, she runs away with her sister's surgeon husband, Peter Kingsmill. . . . Having made a wreck of Peter—whom she marries after her sister obtains a divorce—she hustles back home, where, after tiring of the rôle of penitent, she gets under way again. . . . NOW she plans to win back Craig, who, by this time, has found contentment with Roy, whom he plans to marry.

The latter two, crushed for a time, had clung together like hurt and frightened children in the dark. . . . Mutual understanding and pity had grown into something deeper. . . . And then—Stanley returns! Stanley, to whom nothing matters but Stanley's happiness. . . . ! And again the wild wind works devastation. But this time, eventually, it is Stanley herself whom Stanley destroys.

Strength, kindness, and fair play walk and talk thru the fine performance of Frank Craven as the philosophical father and Olivia de Havilland as Roy. . . . Billie Burke as the wilfully invalid mother is fuss and futility. Charles Coburn is greed, unscrupulousness, and sensuality as the uncle. . . . Patience and self-effacement are the characteristics of his wife, well played by Mary Servoss.

George Brent and Dennis Morgan are both weaklings of a sort—as Stanley's victims. The former, however, gets on top of his failings. . . . Both players get every ounce there was to be got from their rôles. . . . Magnificent bit work by Hattie McDaniel, Ernest Anderson, and Lee Patrick.

Yes, my loves, the bartender IS Walter Huston. Doing a daddy's bit for his boy who, you note, directed the picture. . . .

If you like gloom you'll find "In This Our Life" a clever assortment of same. But give me Disney.

Celia Weston Coit Is Betrothed to David Alexander Bridewell

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM their summer home, Lawn Beach, at Green Lake, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham Chandler of Winnetka are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Celia Weston Coit, to David Alexander Bridewell of Highland Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Carver Bridewell of Forrest City, Ark. No party is being given to announce the engagement, as Mrs. Chandler left Winnetka two weeks ago for Wisconsin. As soon as her duties with the Red Cross motor corps are over for the summer Miss Coit will join her parents at Green Lake, where the family has had a summer home for 50 or 60 years.

Miss Coit attended the University School for Girls and Vassar college and studied for several winters in Cannes, France, and Rome, Italy. She made her debut during the Christmas holidays of 1936 at a supper-dance at the Indian Hill club, preceded by a dinner at home. She is a sister of Mrs. Paul S. Hansen and Mrs. George Lill II., and a member of the Chicago Junior league.

Mr. Bridewell, a prominent young Chicago lawyer, attended the University of the South and holds a master's degree from Princeton, as well as an LL. B. degree from George Washington university. He lectures at the John Marshall Law school and is a member of a Chicago firm which bears his name. The wedding is planned for early September.

Peggy Hoyt's Marriage to Bill Bacon Revealed.

Winnetka was abuzz over the week-end with the news that Peggy Hoyt and young Bill Bacon had been married. The formal announcement that the bride's mother and father are making reads as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt Jr. of Winnetka announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Lillias, on April 18 to William Thompson Bacon Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bacon, also of Winnetka. The young couple will live in New Haven, Conn."

At present the young Bacons are visiting in Vermont, but by July 1 they will be in New Haven, where he will start his sophomore year at Yale university. His bride, who made her debut last September with her older sister, Blanche, has been attending Bradford Junior college. Blanche Hoyt is being graduated this month from Pine Manor Junior college. Her mother is in Wellesley, Mass., now to attend the commencement exercises.

Anne Northrop Will Be Married This Afternoon.

With her bridal ensemble today Miss Anne Northrop will wear a necklace of aquamarines, the gift of her bridegroom, Edward T. Martin. Their marriage will take place at 4:30 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard officiating. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Northrop, will give a small reception later in their Winnetka home for the bridal party and a few close friends.

Miss Nancy Northrop will be her sister's maid of honor, and serving as bridesmaids will be Miss Caroline Speer of Simsbury, Conn.; Miss Marilyn Martin, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Nancy McCloud, Miss Laura Winston, Miss Sue Sullivan, and Miss Betty Conway. Arthur M. Cox Jr. is to be best man for young Mr. Martin, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin of Winnetka. In the ushers' corps are the bride's brother, Edward; Herman Bartholomay Jr., Thomas Antrim, Edward Mancourt of Detroit, Mich., Edwin Estabrook of Philadelphia, Pa., and Hans Weichel of St. Louis, Mo. Among the guests from out of town are Mrs. Elliott Speer of Simsbury and Miss Mary Parke Edwards of Rye, N. Y.

Mr. Martin and his bride won't be taking a wedding trip, as he must report back to Seattle, Wash., immediately to his post as flight test engineer.

Donald A. Raymond Jr. to Wed Louisiana Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hughes North of Shreveport, La., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anne Ker North, to Lieut. Donald Augustus Raymond Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond of Evanston. The wedding will take place on June 17 in the home of the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sr. will go south for the ceremony.

Miss North, a member of the Shreveport Junior league, attended the University of Alabama and received her degree from Centenary college. Her fiancé attended the Phillips academy in Andover, Mass., and received his degree in engineering from Yale university. At present he is in the office of the chief of ordnance in the war department in Washington, D. C., where he and his bride will live following their wedding.

Strictly Personal.

Cyril Martinique, who has been home on leave after serving for many months on merchant ships in the submarine zone, is still in these parts, rectifying an incorrect birth certificate and helping the little woman with her spring gardening. He writes that he plans to return shortly to what he calls the comparative peace of the Atlantic, before small boys with their premature Fourth of July fireworks get on his nerves. He goes on to say that like a boxer in his corner, tensely listening for the starting bell, he can hardly wait to return to the sea, altho common sense whispers: "What's your hurry, boy? You'll never find a lovelier spring or summer climate than that of northern Illinois." Mr. Martinique's letter also states that he was pleased but embarrassed by the generous tribute paid him in this column recently by his old buddy, James Breen, and would like his address. Will you please oblige, Mr. Breen?

Tsk, Tsk.

Inner Man Note.

Bows to two downtown eateries which have introduced helpful innovations in the food line. One restaurant serves a pot luck dinner once a week, when you "pays your money" but don't take your choice—you get whatever the chef dishes up for you. For dessert, however, a waitress wheels up a huge tray of makings for sundaes, and you choose the mixture you like best. The other restaurant prepares a picnic lunch, called "chicken on the run," and with two hours' notice will pack a box of fried chicken, cole slaw, potato chips, a bun, and a choice of fresh fruit or a cup cake. M-m-m-m!

Timely Sign.

Alice More reports an unusual sign on the West Randolph street building occupied by the Oscar Iber company. The firm's trade-mark letters, O. I. C., painted in color, have been placed at the top of a large letter V, making "O, I see victory" easily read.

Huntress.

One of the leaders in the trips of the Hiking and Biking organization of the Chicago trails conference is Daphne Drinkwater, a quiet young English girl who's been living in Lake Forest for a couple of years. She startled the hikers one recent afternoon by stepping on a rattlesnake, which she promptly killed and salvaged the skin to have a purse made. Having often hunted big game in India, Daphne hasn't the usual aversion to snakes.

Fair Question.

In a movie being shown currently in a State street theater, the settings are ornately Victorian. In one scene the players seat themselves on a semicircular sofa. As the picture flashed across the screen the other day a child's voice piped up from a rear row: "Mummy, is they going to buy some shoes?"

Last of 499 WAAC Candidates to Be Interviewed Today

The last group of the 499 Women's Army Auxiliary corps candidates who successfully passed the preliminary mental alertness tests last week-end will be given personal interviews this morning at the recruiting station, 515 South Franklin avenue. Results of all interviews will be announced late tomorrow, according to Lieut. Col. Edward F. Shaifer, commander of the station.

Three boards, each consisting of one army officer and two volunteer women, have been interviewing applicants at the station since Sunday. Candidates who are approved by the boards will be notified to take physical examinations. Those who do not successfully fill all qualifications will be notified of their rejection.

WAAC candidates who have passed the physical examination, as well as the mental alertness test and the personal interview, will pass before a 6th corps area board. The applications of those candidates who have been approved by the area board will be referred to the war department in Washington, D. C. Approximately 40 women will be sent about July 15 from the sixth corps area to the officers' training camp in Fort Des Moines, Ia., for an eight week course in military procedure and leadership.

Free Concerts in Grant Park Begin July 1

BY EDWARD BARRY.

War or no war, Chicago is not going to lose its famous Grant park free concerts—not this summer, anyway. Beginning July 1, orchestras and bands of 74 pieces will play nightly at the band shell on the lake front opposite Eleventh street. Concerts will continue thru Labor day, Sept. 7, with Aug. 15 [date of THE TRIBUNE's Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field] the only open date.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Opera orchestra, and the Woman's Symphony orchestra will appear. Also there will be the orchestras of the big radio networks, greatly augmented for the occasion, and a variety of bands. Most of Chicago's best known conductors will take part in the series.

Nothing is known yet about the identity of the soloists, but if the custom of other years is followed there will be a great number of singers and instrumentalists of local and in some cases national reputation.

Garfield, Lincoln, and Jackson parks also will have series of free concerts. In Garfield park they will start on July 3 and run every Friday thru the season, with an extra concert on Labor day. Lincoln and Jackson parks will hear their concerts on Sundays, beginning July 5, with extra performances on Labor day. These outlying concerts will use 49 piece bands.

The Navy pier concerts have been discontinued because the pier is now used for training purposes, but the forest preserve concerts will be given as usual.

The park concerts are sponsored by the Chicago Federation of Musicians and the Chicago park district. This year, as last, the federation is to provide about $47,600 and the park district $32,400. From 1936 to 1940 the park district provided by far the larger part of the concerts' support, but last year its budget had to be greatly reduced. The federation, under President James C. Petrillo, stepped in to save the concerts. It was Petrillo who had initiated the Grant park series in 1935 and the federation which had paid its costs that first year.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Boss's Oddities.

One employer, after considerable difficulty in obtaining just the right person for a certain position, now sends prospective employés to be psycho-analyzed.

The Backward Glance.

The first known office appliance was the Chinese "suan-pan" invented about 2600 B. C. by a Chinese Cheu-ly. Later it was adopted by the Greeks and Romans and you'd know it if you saw it—it's a frame with sliding discs on cords or rods, and American children now use it to learn counting in kindergarten.

In 1847 an Alabama court decided "the husband is entitled to all sums of money which his wife earns by her skill and labor."

Many people contend the emancipation of women began with the typewriter. Sholes, one of the early inventors, said: "I feel that I have done something for the women, who have always had to work so hard. This will enable them more easily to earn a living."

Life's Exciting Moment.

She is retired now from business and lives in a house set back amidst the trees. Quietly she lives, and serenely. But not so long ago she was a private secretary and in her routine duties suddenly found herself violently projected into a first rate thriller.

Her employer was out of the city when she received a wire saying he had purchased some jewels for which he instructed her to pay cash to the two men who would arrange to deliver the stones. She was a pretty smart woman and she knew the character and conservatism of the man for whom she worked. It didn't add up just right. She investigated the wire and promptly notified police. Fine, said the police, but you must help us. You must agree to meet the men who are delivering the jewels and we will follow you. When she reached the lobby of the hotel and telephoned the room . . . inwardly quaking . . . she was told to go to another hotel.

"Oh, yes," she said, loudly enough for the detectives a few feet away to hear her, "you want me to go to the —— hotel."

She went. The crooks went. And, thank goodness, the plain clothes men went and interceded just as she was handing over the package containing the money. It was a harrowing moment. But now, as I said, she lives peacefully in a house deep in the trees—a neighbor of mine.

The Balance Wheel.

"Keep your sense of humor!

"If you don't need it, your coworkers do!

"Hold on to it! Prize it! Grapple it to your soul with 'hoops of steel.'

"There is not a day when you won't need it. Not an hour when it will not ease the strain and stress of these strenuous war times. For—it is the eternal sense of values, the balance wheel of a well-adjusted life which makes it possible to say, 'Man, ho! ho! is a droll creature . . . and woman is even more droll.'"

"The Girl Who Stood Alone"

By Roy Vickers

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.
CRUEL MAN.

The baroness gave the taxi man an address in the Edgware road.

"I want you to let me give you a little trinket, June dear," she said, as the taxi deposited them outside a watchmaker's. "This is a small place, but it has a good stock of nice things. Also" she added, "the proprietor is one of our helpers."

While June protested that there should be no formal presents, she looked up at the facia. "Garstein, Jeweler and Watchmaker." The man who made the clock-bombs!

Garstein was a stout little man with an apron, looking exactly as one would expect a working watchmaker to look.

"We want a bracelet for this lady," said the baroness. "Let us see the best you have, please. She is to be my daughter-in-law, soon."

There was nothing for June to do but show an interest and accept gracefully. They lingered over the task of selection, the baroness thoroly enjoying herself. She paid for the bracelet in notes and they left the shop.

As they stepped on to the pavement, the baroness clutched June's arm. Two large private cars had drawn up at the curb, and men were pouring out of them. June saw that one of the men was Detective Inspector Segrove.

"It's a raid," muttered the baroness, as she walked on 30 paces or so and stopped by a fancy leather shop. "Don't turn round. I can see in this mirror."

June said nothing. In a couple of minutes the baroness spoke again.

"They're taking Garstein away. Poor Garstein! He was a brave patriot. Let us walk on, it doesn't matter where."

June chose the direction of the garage where she had left the Morstyn.

"This will be a blow for Frank," said the baroness. "Garstein is an essential member of the organization. O. dear, I do wish we could keep the bad news from him.

"Can't we?" asked June, and as the other shook her head: "Were he and Frank personal friends?"

"O, no! They have been working together for two years but I don't think they'd ever met face to face. We had better go to the flat and wait for Frank."

Rawlings was expected about 3. By 3:30 June was convinced that he had crashed and been killed. The baroness showed no perturbation.

"Never speak or think of disaster until it comes," she repeated. "So often it does not. Altho I am really no thought reader, I feel quite sure that Frank is in good spirits at this moment and is on his way here."

Shortly before 4 he arrived, fulfilling his mother's phophecy.

"I've earned a stiff one, mother!" he said. "The stunt went off without a hitch."

The baroness sighed with relief. So did June. If this man had been killed she herself would be free. Yet she could not wish him death. She prepared the whisky and soda and mentioned the air raid warning and their fears.

"But I wasn't in the air!" he laughed. "You can fly out of this country but you can't fly into it without starting the fireworks. However, you can still go fishing in a motorboat and that's how we got ahead of the authorities and landed the explosives this time. It'll be the last time. tho."

Presently the baroness told him about Garstein. Rawlings made no comment. He went to his desk, busied himself with pencil and writing pad. June put the whisky by his side, but he ignored it. At length he spoke.

"I'm trying to figure out how the devil they got a line on Garstein," he explained. "He was in touch with nobody but me."

The baroness suggested a servant of Garstein's.

"Let's go over the facts again. You two go into the shop. Nothing in that. As you come out, the police walk in. Nothing in that, either. They probably saw there were customers in the shop and waited. About two minutes afterward you think, they brought him out. Did you notice whether he was handcuffed?"

"Yes, he was," she answered.

"That means they knew the stuff was there before they collared him. Otherwise they would have searched the house and got their evidence first. They must have got the tip that the stuff was there. Who gave them the tip?"

His mother's face hardened.

"One need not look very far to find who betrayed him," she said. "Matarasso may have known more about you than you thought. Did you not tell me that he spied upon June herself?"

Rawlings drank half the whisky at a gulp. Then he looked at June.

"Darling, it seems we're going to have a proper honeymoon, after all!" he jerked. To his mother: "The first thing to do is to stop the machinery. Wirtz will be taking the bag to Euston tomorrow if I don't tell him not to—that farmhouse is not on the telephone. I'm shy of sending a code telegram—things are getting a bit too hot. But I must get a message to him somehow."

It was an obvious call for a volunteer but June deemed it wise not to speak too quickly.

"Be careful!" warned his mother. "Wirtz is a mercenary." Always this difficulty. The patriot-spy will face torture rather than betray his organization. But the mercenary turns his coat at the moment of arrest. Does Wirtz know you?"

"No. I picked him up on Banstead Downs and dropped him off there at the end of the stunt. I kept my goggles on the whole time. No one can identify a man when he has only been seen in full flying kit."

"Unfortunately," said the baroness, "he and I met in Berlin last year. He will remember me."

"Why can't I take the message, Frank?" asked June.

"Why, darling, that's fine! You'll get me out of a bad hole."

"No," said the baroness. "June is not in the service. It is not right to allow her to take risks."

Rawlings turned sharply on his mother.

"Surely that is June's affair," he snapped. "There is great risk for you and me—no risk for her. If she is willing to make a troublesome little journey to help me, I accept her offer."

June crossed the room to the baroness.

"I'm very grateful for your kind thought," she said. "But if there is a risk I don't mind taking it."

Why should she—after the risks she'd already taken? Besides, the troublesome little journey would doubtless lead to disclosures vitally important to the British secret service.

"My dear, you are a very brave girl and you will make Frank a good wife, I know," said the baroness, but she spoke sadly.

Rawlings spread out an ordnance map with which he showed June how to reach the farm. Then he gave her the message for Wirtz.

"A quarter to 5," he said. "You can easily be back before blackout if you're nippy."

Seeing June off, he repeated the assurance. Then he returned to the baroness who faced him sternly and asked:

"What will happen to her if the police have found the farm?"

"They'll probably arrest her. But she will keep her mouth shut. She is madly in love with me."

"Madly in love with you! You've said that about dozens and dozens of women," his mother reminded him. "Because of your good looks and your charm."

"My looks and my charm have always been assets," answered Rawlings, who didn't need to be subtle with his mother. "And with June Clayton, especially, it has paid me to be irresistible to women."

"Just the same, it would be a severe blow to you if June went to prison on the eve of your wedding, wouldn't it?"

O, I should get over it," grinning. "She is fascinating," he said, "but I have found the appeal of girls only operates when they are present. Out of sight, out of mind—that's the idea."

His mother looked at him long and sighed. "Much as I love you as a son, Frank, I have not concealed from myself the fact that you are a cruel, cruel man."

Wedding

The marriage of Miss Frances Rosin, daughter of Joseph Rosin of New York City, to Louis Sachar of Chicago, formerly of New York, will take place on Sunday at the Savoy-Plaza hotel in New York. Mr. Sachar is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sachar of St. Louis, Mo., and the brother of Dr. Abram L. Sachar, University of Illinois historian and lecturer.

Thru the Looking Glass

At long last some one has been clever enough to line up body preparations—and lovely ones—with the diet and exercise information that will help a woman do the kind of body sculpturing that is far more important, actually, than superficial glorification.

Not that we would minimize the benefits of fine bath glorifiers. There aren't many things as important to the feminine sense of well being as exquisitely scented body lotions and bubble bath trimmings and feathery powder for the finishing touch.

But the pleasure of a lazy, fragrant bath is fleeting, while taking off inches and permanently acquiring a beautiful silhouette is enduring. That's why we're so enamored of these new body preparations and the sound idea of giving us, with them, a six day diet and a set of simple exercises that are guaranteed to work wonders.

The diet and the exercises are good. We know, because we know how expert is the specialist who created them. They're sound and safe and efficient and they work! The six minute exercise chart is to be hung in your bath or bedroom; the six day diet chart you can hang conveniently in your kitchen. After your exercise you have your superb bath.

First, there is a bubble powder for your six minute bath. And with this you get good advice about making that six minutes the most healthfully relaxing period you ever dreamed it could be! Then there is a bracing body lotion, fragrant and freshing, that peps you up wonderfully. And, as a final touch of fluff, there is airy-fairy powder.

A recent piece of research involved cooking quick frozen vegetables in different types of cooking utensils to determine the loss of vitamin C. No significant differences in loss were reported, so the housewife may cook in aluminum, enamel, pyrex, or stainless steel without worrying for fear one utensil will cause greater vitamin loss than another.

This work, as well as many others, indicates that it is best for the vitamins if you cook the vegetable [fresh or frozen] in as little water as can be used without danger of scorching, for as short a time as possible. It also verifies the new theory that it is better to cook in a covered pan except when preparing a strong flavored vegetable, such as cabbage, onions, Brussels sprouts, or cauliflower. An uncovered utensil facilitates the escape of undesirable volatile acids in these vegetables, and seems to conserve vitamin C better than does a covered pan.

Ever cooked parsley root? It's carrotlike, being closely related to the carrot, but white. Carrots and parsley root are good cooked together and served with butter, salt, and pepper. Or cream the parsley root and serve it sprinkled liberally with some of its own freshly minced tops.

Check your menus to see that they fulfill these requirements, and you'll be off to a fine start in your personal, family nutritional campaign.

A GOOD SET OF MENUS FULFILLS THESE REQUIREMENTS:

1. It incorporates the essentials of an adequate diet: A quart of milk a day for each child, a pint for each adult, a serving of meat, poultry, or fish a day, two vegetables in addition to potatoes, one of them a leafy green one or a yellow vegetable, orange or tomato juice or some other equally potent source of vitamin C every day, at least one other fruit, whole grain cereal or enriched or whole wheat bread every day, four or five eggs per person every week.

2. It maintains a balance in colors: For example, broiled fish fillets with mashed potatoes and buttered turnips are unappealing because of the lack of color, while broiled fish, parsley potatoes, and buttered carrots fairly make your mouth water because of the attractive color contrasts.

3. It maintains a balance in textures: There should be chewy, soft, and crisp foods in every day's meal plan, and not too many of the same texture in one meal.

4. It balances flavor: Two sharp, sour, or spicy foods do not belong in one meal. Neither do several very bland ones. It provides variety in fresh fruits and vegetables and includes frequent mixed green salads, which should be served fresh, crisp, cold, and newly tossed with dressing.

One of the cleverest ice tongs we've seen is a metal and plastic affair, quite small and easy to handle, and it never drops the ice cube until ready. You operate it by pushing down a little ball in the top of the handle. This makes the tongs adjust to fit the ice neatly and once they have seized it they don't let go until released. So unusual and practical is this little gadget that it never fails to arouse interest each time it is brought forth. It's intended of course, for summer beverages.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

The long anticipated music appreciation room at the Chicago Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street, will be dedicated formally at 8:30 o'clock tonight with Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., president of the Chicago Junior league; Miss Lois Barnes, president of the Chicago Fashion group, and Miss Alice Beyer, coördinator of the center's women's committee, officiating at the brief ceremonies.

Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Junior league has decorated the room and the Fashion group has furnished the combination radio and record player on which 30 minute programs will be played daily from 3:30 to 6:30 o'clock, and from 7 to 10. Mrs. Daniel Leonard, Mrs. Francis Stanton, Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., and Mrs. Lee Fetcher were in charge of the decorations, which include yellow and white murals depicting various musical instruments in a delicate, abstract manner that definitely will not make the murals, rather than the music, the center of attention in the room.

None of these young women is able to be present tonight, so they will be represented by board members Mrs. Robert A. Carr, Mrs. Frank E. Pierce Jr., and Mrs. Richard Lamport, and Mrs. Benjamin Crawford, who is in charge of the center's guide service for the public. The center is open for inspection from 10 in the morning until 10 at night, every day.

Five hundred twenty-one nurses' aides of the Red Cross will be certificated tonight at exercises to be held at 8:15 o'clock in the Boulevard room of the Stevens hotel. Speakers will be James B. Forgan, president of the Chicago Red Cross chapter; Mrs. James A. Cathcart, chairman of the volunteer services; Mrs. Arthur Spiegel, chairman of the nurses' aides; Miss Nellie Hawkinson, dean of the nursing school, University of Chicago; Dr. Horace Bridges, and the Rev. Dudley Stark.

Letters and telephone calls to this department indicate that many more than the 1,000 women who attended the job clinic at the Merchants and Manufacturers club last Thursday night are interested in openings for women in the medical field. The clinic, which was the culmination of the sixth survey of a particular field, was sponsored by the women's executive committee.

Probably the first message of importance was that all hospital jobs, except those requiring heavy manual labor, are now open to women. Right now nearly 2,000 women are hospital superintendents in the United States. That position represents one of the best in the field, of course. It is a goal rather than an immediate opening.

In general, girls and women interested in hospital work were advised to apply at their local hospitals. High school girls can be used as tray girls and as aids in diet kitchens for the summer. Women with no particular educational training may find work as food service assistants. This classification covers such jobs as waitresses, counter girls, salad maids, pantry girls, food checkers, cashiers, menu clerks, and dishwashers.

Women also may be storeroom clerks. This post requires a high school education, and the age range is 18 to 45. A position as secretary requires a high school education and ability to take dictation and to type 60 words a minute accurately. The age range is 18 to 35.

All of these jobs have been termed the "unglamorous" places in the field. The pantry girl doesn't have a leading rôle in the "Women in White" type of drama. But she is highly necessary to good hospital operation.

Some of the questions and answers might be helpful to the woman interested in making the medical field her kind of war work.

Q.—What can the over age [past 45] physio-therapist do to get into the army? A.—It would be difficult to try to change army rules to admit women physiatherapists past 45 What such women can do is take the places of younger women at home, thus releasing recruits in the army field.

Q.—What type of summer work is available to teachers who would like to help in relieving the shortage of medical field workers? A.—Teachers should inquire of their local placement bureaus and hospitals. There is no special teaching work available in Chicago hospitals. The Chicago board of education takes care of that.

Other answers, which carry the burden of the question, included such information that, even tho we are at war, nurses' training cannot be completed in less than three years in Illinois. There is no placement agency for pantry girls, etc. Applications must be made to the hospitals.

Women with two years of college training or a degree which has included science courses will find many openings. The medical social worker needs a bachelor's degree plus a master's from a school of social work. A medical records librarian must be sure she attends an approved school of instruction. There are 10 in the country. There are nine accredited occupational therapy schools directed by the American Medical association.

The general conclusion of the clinic was that there are openings for all well trained women. Advice to students was to be sure their schools are accredited.

Miss Helen Bull of Oak Park, vice president of the YWCA of Chicago, has been chosen to head the new and expanded hospitality committee for service men, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Howard Goodman, chairman of the Y's war service coördinating committee. One of the chief parts of the program is full participation in the new USO lounge at 131 South Wabash avenue. Dance hostesses, canteen workers, and official hostesses all are supplied to the lounge by the YWCA.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Soldier and Girl Differ on Betrothal

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Many of our problems these days, naturally enough, are involved with war engagements and marriages. Today we have a young woman pleading for us to urge young men to let the girls have, at least, the security of an engagement ring before they, the young men, set off to serve our country.

In the case in point the young man and woman are college graduates and in the midtwenties. The young man is due to leave for the army any day now.

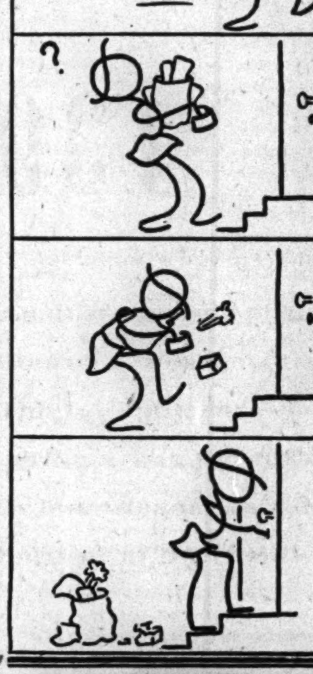
"We have not been formally engaged," the girl explains. "By that I mean I have not received an engagement ring, but the young man says that if it weren't for this army business we would have been planning for a home and probably be in it some time this summer.

"I have been trying to make my fiancé understand that we should be engaged, since we are really and truly in love, but he says that since our engagement would have an indefinite clause in it, it would be better to forego it entirely. However, he does say that he will listen to your decision, Miss Blake.

"I think it would be proper to mention a few of the reasons I think girls like myself should be engaged. First, it would be a sort of security and we can go ahead and plan for when the man returns from the army. I think it would help him, too, to have something pleasant to look forward to on his return."

Yes, correspondent, we think you are entitled to a definite marriage understanding if you can convert the chap to becoming a willing party. Your arguments are sound as to why you think you should be engaged. In fact, we see no reason why you two, in the midtwenties, don't get yourselves married and gamble on your future, for yours is no hasty union following a brief acquaintance.

Dear Diary By BECKY



Babies Show a Canniness Beyond Years

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It is breathtaking how canny they become, so early! Babies in their [so-called] cradles can put it over on dad and mother with the greatest of ease. The thought brings to mind an episode that took place in the family of one of our friends.

There was a new baby, and she certainly was upsetting. She was cunning, with thick, rather curly hair, perhaps a shade too chubby, very bright eyes, good ears, and well setup chest. She was winning, every one admitted. The visitors cooed and gurgled over her and she was quite unimpressed, altho at 4 months one would expect it to be that way.

The first child, who had an established position in the house, was receiving little attention as a consequence, altho she had sleek, reddish yellow hair and exquisite manners.

The new baby, yes, that's it, a terrier puppy, had lived, up to the week before, all her short life in a kennel with other pups and no people. So she was almost paralyzed at the strangeness of her new home, and became immediately a little eating problem!

Too disturbed by the strangeness to eat, she had to be fed piece by piece.

Her yellow friend, the cat, looked on with her inscrutable eyes, watching the puppy being fed by hand, and her own beloved kind of food, too, watching the admiring group around her, watching all this personal service that a refusal to eat obtained!

Chubby, the cat, that evening sniffed her food, gave a "dirty look" at the puppy, and walked away.

The puppy's owner took notice. Pussy not eating? Pussy who loved her little stomach and ate enormously? Pussy was coaxed and petted over to her dish, but refused to eat. At last, when offered her food piece by piece from the grimy hands of her little master, she consented to nibble daintily.

The standees yelled with laughter, and said to me: "Well, there's a fine set of ideas for articles. The coming of the second baby and the effect on the older child; easy to spoil children; contagiousness of bad behavior; easy to get them pampered; jealousy; conditioning and behaviorism. Why, there's enough child human nature there to give you ideas for a week!"

Well, at least there was for a day! I won't use those ideas for a week, but they may serve, just this one day, to open your eyes a bit if you have a little eating problem.

How can the teacher help the self-effacing child? What can be done for the left-handed boy or girl? According to Culbertson

Whenever a player has a choice of two finesses, he must carefully consider what will happen if one or the other fails. In countless hands what might appear at first glance to be a "toss up" is, on second glance, anything but that. Note today's deal.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opens his fourth highest heart, the three spot. East plays the jack and declarer wins. What is declarer's first duty? To count his sure tricks and to look around for the best and safest method of increasing these to the required nine tricks. He counts three spade tricks, one heart, one top diamond, and one top club. The three tricks needed can be won, he sees, by establishing either clubs or diamonds. He is missing the kings of both suits, and there is just as much chance, of course, for the club finesse to succeed as for the diamond finesse. Yet if declarer, acting on this theory, attempts the club finesse, he merely proves that he has only the foggiest notion of play.

The club finesse, if unsuccessful, will lose to East who then will return a heart thru declarer's Q-9. This is almost certain to be fatal. West will top whatever card declarer plays and rattle off heart tricks. If declarer crosses to dummy, however, by means of the spade queen, and takes the diamond finesse, whether it loses or not, he still will have control of all suits. West is the nondangerous hand and, if he holds the diamond king, cannot attack declarer's vulnerable heart position. If he returns a heart, declarer is certain to make another heart trick and will not even be forced to try the club finesse, because he will have nine tricks without it.

If West has the diamond king and, after winning with it, returns any suit but hearts, declarer, it is true, will have to attempt the club finesse for his ninth trick. But surely this is better than having tried it before the diamond situation is investigated. As the cards actually lie, the proper play, namely the diamond finesse, succeeds and there is no need to fall back on the club finesse for the ninth trick.

Green, Hutchins Are Speakers at Graduations

Crawfordsville, Ind., June 8 [Special].—Wabash college graduated a class of 63 seniors in its 104th annual commencement today and conferred honorary degrees on Elmer Davis, radio news commentator; Herman B. Wells, president of Indiana university, and Dean George V. Kendall of the college, now serving with the United States army in Australia.

Davis, an alumnus of Franklin college, was given the degree of doctor of humane letters, as was Dean Kendall, who became the first person in the institution's history to receive an honorary degree in absentia. Dr. Wells received the degree of doctor of laws.

Degrees in absentia were conferred on seven seniors who are already serving in the armed forces.

Bloomington, Ill., June 8 [Special].—There is a great need for college graduates to help in making a successful peace after the war, Gov. Dwight H. Green told the graduating classes at Illinois Wesleyan and Illinois State Normal universities today. He delivered commencement addresses at Wesleyan this morning and at Normal this afternoon. The degree of doctor of civil law was conferred on him at Wesleyan.

"We had the opportunity in 1918 to attain our goals of order, decency, and freedom for the world, but missed it," he said. "When we win the present war we shall have our second and probably last chance to obtain an enduring peace. Aiding us will be the majority of mankind which has realized at last the compelling value of liberty.

"The present conflict is not only a war, but a crusade to preserve our rights of liberty and equality and to liberate other freedom loving peoples from tyranny.

"You are leaving your classrooms at one of the most critical hours in the history of the world and you will be called upon make sacrifices far greater than any group of youth who have ever stepped forth into adult life.

"Never again must it be said we poured our blood into a war to crush a tyrannical system, only to lose the peace which followed."

Annapolis, Md., June 8 (AP).—Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, told 17 St. John's college seniors today that he considers himself to be "on the educational level of a St. John's sophomore."

Speaking at class day exercises, Dr. Hutchins said he had "closed my educational career a wholly uneducated man."

Dr. Hutchins, a member of the St. John's board of visitors and governors, said that the "elective system" of education which he pursued enabled him to do what he liked rather than "what he should have done" in the educational field.

St. John's students, pursuing a course of compulsory subjects, have one "great advantage over me," he declared.

"You have had, relatively speaking, an education," Dr. Hutchins said. "You have followed an intelligible and coherent course of study under the guidance of teachers competent to direct you.

"The question is not what you are today and I am now, but rather what you will be when you are 43 and I am 64.

"I have one great advantage over you. . . . I know that I am uneducated. But I am determined to get an education and I hope that if I keep on working I may at 64 reach the point attained by a St. John's senior on graduation day.

"The peculiar thing about education is that if a man does not keep on educating himself he loses even the education that he has. If you stop now, you will find, when you are 43, that you have slipped far below the level that I have reached today. . . ."

ELECTION TO FILL SPEAKMAN SEAT BELIEVED LIKELY

Drowning of Senator Cuts GOP Majority.

Springfield, Ill., June 8 [Special].—Indications at the state capitol today were that Gov. Dwight Green will call a special election to fill the vacancy in the state senate created by the drowning Saturday of Sen. John Speakman, Republican of Danville.

Under regular procedure no election would be held in the district, the 22d, until 1944, but with the Republican majority in the senate of the 62d general assembly down to a questionable one or two, it is believed that an effort will be made to elect another Republican from the 22d for the next regular session.

Vote Strongly Republican.

The district in the primary election in April showed 23,372 Republican votes against 6,252 cast in the Democratic party. In the 1940 general election the two counties of the district, Vermilion and Edgar, gave Sen. Speakman 29,605 votes to 27,791 for Ralph M. Jenkins, Democratic candidate.

Such an election would probably be held with the regular election in November, and would call for a special primary election, probably late in August.

Republican Majority Cut.

In January 1941 the Republicans held a 28 to 23 edge in the senate. Since that time two senators, A. Otis Arnold of Quincy and Sen. Speakman, have died. The vacancy from Arnold's district will be filled at this fall's election. Two Republicans have been elected to judges benches — Sen. Charles Thompson of Harrisburg to the supreme court, and Sen. George C. Dixon of Dixon to the Circuit bench. Both are from districts that elect regularly this fall. In addition Sen. Elmer H. Droste, Republican of Mount Olive, has been called to regular army service, and may not be able to attend the next session. He has not resigned and his district does not have an election this fall.

Pinches Hitter

MRS. MARION F. PALMER.

Samuel J. Palmer, 29 years old, a roofer, is a mighty good softball player ordinarily, but Thursday night in a game on the northwest side, he was not up to par. He missed three easy fly balls and he didn't get a hit.

Yesterday, before Judge Thomas J. Lynch, Mrs. Marion F. Palmer, 28, of 2110 North Leamington avenue, explained why. She is suing for separate maintenance and hadn't seen Palmer in two years. Until March 17, however, he had been voluntarily sending small sums to her for support of their child, Marilyn, 2.

So Mrs. Palmer went searching for him. Thursday night she and Deputy Sheriff John G. Anderson, who was armed with a body attachment obtained by her lawyer, Harry X. Cole, found Palmer playing ball. That was at the start of the game. They served the warrant on him, but let him finish the game. He didn't do so well after that, said Mrs. Palmer. Nor did he do so well in the court hearing. Judge Lynch ordered him to pay $17.50 a week temporary support.

TRIAL TO START TODAY OF BOY, 12, FOR KILLING PAIR

Mount Carroll, Ill., June 8 [Special].—William Geiseman, 12 years old, will go on trial in the Carroll county Circuit court tomorrow on a charge of murdering the childless couple who befriended him, Charles Krugjohann, 45, and Ada Krugjohann, 43. Geiseman had confessed that he shot and killed the Krugjohanns April 8 on their farm near Shannon, northeast of here.

The defense will seek to show that the boy was mentally unbalanced. Judge George C. Dixon has asked a report from Paul L. Schroeder and George J. Mohr, Chicago mental experts, which is expected to be read to the jury.

John L. Bearton, states attorney, had not disclosed his plans for the prosecution. Sheriff Ray Westfall said that Geiseman seemed unconcerned as he waited in jail today for the trial.

HARRIDGE ACTS TODAY ON WHITE SOX PROTEST

LANE NINE FACES BOWEN, HARRISON MEETS CALUMET

BATTLE TODAY FOR PLACES IN LEAGUE FINALS

North Siders Bid for 13th Title.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Bowen High school baseball team, winner of the south section championship in the City High school league, will attempt to block the path of an undefeated Lane Tech nine this afternoon in a semi-final game. The other semi-final matches Harrison Tech, central section champion, against Calumet High, the second place team in the south section.

The Bowen-Lane game will be played on the University of Chicago diamond, 61st street and Greenwood avenue. It was changed from Sherman park yesterday because of the muddy condition of that field. Harrison and Calumet will play, as planned originally, in McKinley park, 39th street and Western avenue. Both games will start at 3 p. m.

May Postpone Final.

The league championship between today's winners is scheduled for Comiskey park Saturday afternoon, altho, if Lane and Harrison should be the victors, a postponement may be asked. Lane will dedicate its new stadium this week-end at the school, Addison and Western. If a south side high school reaches the finals there probably is no question but that the championship will be played on the south side, since the site alternates and this is a south side year.

Lane's half million dollar stadium, which is to be used for football and possibly soccer, and has a quarter mile track, is to be dedicated Friday. Athletes from north side schools that will use the plant next fall will participate.

Mass Drill to Be Feature.

The Lane band followed by the ROTC unit and athletes from Lane, Schurz, Senn, Amundsen, Foreman, Taft, Kelvyn Park, Lake View, Roosevelt, Von Steuben, Waller and Sullivan will march into the stadium and to the reviewing stand.

A feature of the program following this opening ceremony will be a physical fitness mass drill with 2,500 boys participating, under direction of Carl R. Barnickol, Lane athletic director.

Eight teams entered the quarter-finals as the current play-off system, adopted by August Pritzlaff, director of athletics for the city schools, and the baseball coaches, makes the first and second team in each of the four sections eligible. In this round of the tournament the north section met the central and the west section met the south, with a section champion playing a second place team in each instance.

Harrison Tech, 10; Schurz, 1.
Lane Tech, 4; Farragut, 0.
Bowen, 7; Kelvyn Park, 0.
Calumet, 9; Crane Tech, 5.

Seeks 13th Title.

Lane won 16 games to top the north section teams. Coach Percy Moore and his boys are seeking the school's 13th city championship in 22 years. Moore said yesterday he expected to start his big right hander, George Kwasniewski, altho Ed Skepnek, a left hander, will be ready. These pitchers have alternated in the regular season games and are counted on to bring Lane a city title.

Capt. Roy Boyd, Lane's catcher who bats in the number 3 position, is the team's leading hitter with a mark of .592. In 54 times at bat he has made 32 hits including 11 two base blows and four home runs. Shortstop Sturm, batting .553, has made 31 hits. Lane's team average is .420, and the regulars have made 181 hits including 14 home runs.

In the regular season Kwasniewski won five games, yielded 25 hits and gave 11 walks. Skepnek won seven

The four top teams of Chicago's City league play their semi-final games today, Lane Tech meeting Bowen and Harrison Tech facing Calumet. Pitching is expected to be an important factor, as it has been in moving the four nines toward the finals. Left is Pitcher Ray Rapacki, Bowen star, who has won seven league games, lost two, and batted .457. On the right is Bob Owles, Calumet mound ace, who has come along well in the last few weeks to finish with a record of six games won and two lost. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

KIBITZING IS NOT HELPING LOUIS' BID FOR TAX BOUT

BY EDWARD BURNS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—Considerable pressure is being brought here and elsewhere thruout the east to argue the army out of its apparent decision not to allow Joe Louis to defend his title that he may get the dough with which to pay $117,000 income taxes, soon due.

Joe has been given a month's extension from the due date, June 15, by the treasury department, and that will keep the issue hot right up into July. But in the last analysis, the treasury department probably has little interest in whether Joe Louis fights or does not fight. That department quite properly and definitely is interested in getting in the moola and the extension was merely a courtesy to a good customer, not a plug for a fight. The treasury will get the 117 grand, even if Mike Jacobs' portable prize ring stays folded up in the warehouse.

Kibitzing Not Helping Cause.

It is said right here in Washington that many in high places believe Louis, on his record as a fine patriotic citizen, is entitled to a profitable shot, especially in view of his two fights for the benefit of army and navy charity funds, title risks from which he took nothing. But the current kibitzing of those who have the say in the matter, is doing Joe's project no good, it is reported in the capital.

Running out of exhibits in the fight business, some of those who would bulldoze the army in the Louis matter have dipped into other sports. For instance, there have been some snippy cracks about the nature of Ted Williams' navy enlistment.

Sports Behind Eight Ball.

Such agitation as is now going on, to our way of thinking, will wind up with a lot of sports folks behind the eight ball. As one who especially has observed the attitude of professional baseball toward the war cause, it seems especially unfortunate that baseball should be dragged into the question of whether the army should permit Corp. Joe Louis to fight.

There still is not a record case of a young man being deferred because he was a ball player. There are only 400 major league playing jobs in existence after May 15 each season. For an industry of 400 jobs, major league baseball perhaps has a higher enlistment percentage than hundreds of other trades.

Leaving out all references about morale building and all that sort of thing, some of the recent baseball attendance figures should have some significance, unless it has become completely unpatriotic for wartime workers to enjoy themselves when they have some leisure.

White Sox, A's to Open Cellar Series Tonight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 8.—Mr. Al Schacht, baseball's masseur of the funny bone, will exhibit his specialty act at Shibe park tomorrow night when the White Sox and Athletics exchange pleasantries and unpleasantries, but a wag has propounded the $64 question, "Why Al Schacht?"

Those who have watched the A's and Sox at various moments this season wonder why it is necessary to bring in a clown when these teams are meeting.

In these trying times a laugh is worthwhile and if Clown Schacht doesn't supply 'em the A's or White Sox will as they open their all-important series to determine who shall occupy the American league cellar. The Athletics are in the basement now by one game.

Harris doesn't own a particularly brilliant record—one victory and six defeats—but compared with Edgar Smith's log, Harris is a second Christy Mathewson. Smith will be seeking his tenth straight defeat unless the Athletics are in a soft hearted mood and swing ludriciously at the night air.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 8.—The Cubs found healing salve for their Dodger wounds tonight by exhibiting themselves under Charley Grimm's electric light bulbs. The celebrated Mr. Grimm, now rated Milwaukee's unofficial mayor because of the didoes cut by his Brewers in the American Association race, had figured the electric treatment would dazzle his former charges but, instead, his own boys fell apart and thus made it simple for Jim Wilson's major leaguers to win, 6 to 1.

The Cubs had most of their fun in the second and third innings when the Brewers did an ungraceful job in behalf of Ray Campbell, a Cub alumnus. His helpers let the Cubs have four runs whereas there should have been only one. The Wilson gang also scored one in the seventh off George Blaeholder, an ancient Brown, and in the eighth none other than Lou Novikoff, who was a slugging hero here last season, treated the 5,622 spectators to a homer.

Pressnell Eludes Trouble.

Ed Hanyzewski, the South Bend pupil in Wilson's pitching school, did most of the mound work for the Cubs and there was nothing wrong with his performance. He kept the Brewers' cupboard bare of runs until the eighth when Ted Gullic, another Brownie of long ago, captured a homer for his third hit. Then Tot Pressnell was sent in for the ninth because he was more than a common hero here back in 1936 and, for a few minutes, he gave signs of still being a Brewer at heart. He filled the bases before retiring anybody but shut off the excitement in a hurry by personally starting a double play and fanning Heinz Becker for the final out.

Jim Foxx and Bill Nicholson fanned with two on in the first inning. However, the Cubs recovered quickly in the second. Russell led with a single to left, but overestimated his speed on a single by Novikoff and was nailed at third on Gullic's throw. Clyde McCullough plunked a two bagger into left to score Novikoff and, when Ed Stanky turned loose a badly aimed relay, McCullough also scored. Before the inning closed Stan Hack was hit in the short ribs by a pitched ball and was replaced by Bob Sturgeon, but Stan was not hurt seriously.

The Brewers' attack of jitters in the third enabled the major leaguers

JIMMY FOXX, the newest Cub, hit a home run in each of the two world series games played in Wrigley field in 1929. . . . In those two battles Jimmy, then with the Athletics, made five hits in nine times at bat for 12 total bases and drove in four runs. . . . Some things you might not have heard about the off-season avocations of the Phils: Bobby Bragan sells insurance in Birmingham; Sam Nahem practices law in Brooklyn; Danny Murtaugh is a storekeeper at the Sun shipyards in Chester, Pa.; Ron Northey works in a wire cable factory in Williamsport, Pa. . . . Ike Pearson is a salesman in a Cincinnati department store, southern drawl and all; Johnny Podgajny is a guard at a Chester oil refinery; Earl Naylor helps build planes for Uncle Sam in Kansas City; Ernie Koy looks after the cattle on his Texas ranch, and Tommy Hughes delivers mail in Ashley, Pa. . . . The Dodgers of 1942 already are making history. . . . They are the first Brooklyn club in 25 years to lead the National league on June 1, and the first National league club in three decades to have more than a five and one-half game grip on the top rung of the ladder on the same date. . . . Neighbors.

The fact that the fellow we're living beside
And I know we'll coax out his sunniest smile
If we'll stop with our neighbor and visit awhile.

We somehow forget as we saunter along,
Who is doing his bit with an uplifted chin.
He may dwell in a palace or live in a shack,
He may fail or succeed on the world's beaten track;
But isn't it splendid, inspiring, and fine,
And his load will grow lighter and I know the day
And I know we'll coax out his sunniest smile
If we'll stop with our neighbor and visit awhile.

HITS AT DYKES FOR STALLING IN BOSTON GAME

Awaits Report from Three Umpires.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Will Harridge, president of the American league, today will put on his judicial robes to make a decision out of the jumble of conflicting reports in the wake of Sunday's double header between the White Sox and Red Sox in Boston.

Jimmy Dykes.

He will consider the protest filed yesterday by telegram from Jimmy Dykes and also the written reports of three umpires, who doubtless will make a point of stalling tactics employed by the Chicago manager in an unsuccessful effort to stave off a defeat in the second game.

Two Points to Protest.

Dykes' protest is based on two counts. The first is that Umpire in Chief Ed Rommel waved in the wrong White Sox pitcher from the bull pen in the eighth inning of the second game. The second is that the Sunday law deadline of 6:30 p. m. had been passed when Lou Finney hit the ball which drove in the winning run for Boston.

Newspaper reports from Boston indicate that Dykes used almost every possible subterfuge to delay the game to prevent Boston from scoring the winning run.

"I talked with the umpires on the telephone today," said Mr. Harridge last night, "but I am awaiting their written reports." The umpires, in addition to Rommel, are Bill McGowan and Cal Hubbard.

A Verbal Slap at Dykes.

Harridge also said that Dykes is writing a detailed letter. The league president, and it may have been a hint of what is to come, gave Dykes an indirect verbal slap because of his delaying tactics.

"Some managers," said Harridge, "do not seem to grasp the importance of protecting Sunday baseball. We obtained Sunday baseball in Boston when we promised city officials we would stop at exactly 6:30 p. m. The managers should sense the importance of coöperating instead of risking the ill will of the city.

"I am especially interested in the report on Dykes' conduct," continued the league president.

Dykes a Problem Child.

Dykes has been something of a problem child with Harridge for many seasons. The Sox pilot drew a stern rebuke and a suspension from the league chief last July "for the use of obscene and abusive language" against Umpire Steve Basil in a game with the Indians in Comiskey park.

The last paragraph of President Harridge's statement on that occasion read:

"His tactics in delaying games, attempting to bulldoze and browbeat the umpires while filing protests which have no basis in fact or justification in the rules, have become very offensive not only to the spectators in other cities thruout the circuit but to our entire organization."

This Is What Happened.

This was the situation which led to the big argument in Boston:

The Red Sox came to bat in the eighth inning of the second game with the score tied, 2 to 2. The first two Boston players singled, putting runners on first and third. Joe Haynes was waved in to replace Buck Ross on the mound. Haynes intentionally walked Johnny Pesky, filling the bases.

By this time the crowd was in an uproar as the clock moved closer to 6:30. The umpires were arguing with Dykes and vice versa, while Haynes walked off the field and Southpaw Jake Wade came to the mound. It was here that Dykes told the umpires they had motioned in the wrong pitcher—that he had wanted Pete Appleton, a right hander. When Dykes indicated he would call in Appleton the umpires rushed toward the Sox manager, according to newspaper reports from Boston.

Then Wade started pitching to Finney, a left handed batter. He threw two wide ones and the clock in center field showed the time to be 6:31, a minute over the legal limit. On the next pitch Finney flied to Myril Hoag, the winning run scored, and the game was called.

Tommy Yarosz Beats Harris in Close Bout

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 8 (AP).—Tommy Yarosz, 160, younger brother of former middleweight champion Teddy Yarosz, tonight defeated Ossie Harris, 161, Pittsburgh Negro, in a close 10 round bout. Harris rallied in the closing rounds and staggered his opponent in the 10th with two hard punches.

GRILL RIDES BOTH HORSES IN CRETE $356.60 DOUBLE

Pilots Singing Satin and Starweista.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Jockey Frankie Grill brought in both of the horses which figured in a daily double worth $356.60 yesterday at Lincoln Fields. These were Singing Satin and Starweista. The first half of his job was an easy matter, but Grill was almost forced to get off and carry Starweista over the line.

After he had come coasting home aboard Singing Satin, six lengths in advance of the nearest pursuer, New Blend, Grill undertook the task of putting over Starweista by the same front running tactics.

This 3 year old son of Zacaweista opened up an advantage of four lengths by the time they reached the head of the stretch in this seven furlong dash—but the run from there to the wire was packed with agonizing suspense for those who held daily double tickets on Grill's mount.

A Thrilling Finish.

As they neared midstretch Swoosh moved up on the inside with a determined challenge and seemed on the verge of overtaking the pacemaker. Grill was forced to ease up on his hard driving to flick Starweista's shoulder with his whip to keep the horse from swerving out as he tired.

He nursed his mount thru a precarious hundred yards until Swoosh gave way—but then a new threat appeared. In the last few yards Invoice closed powerfully on the outside and was getting to the leader at every stride. Starweista lasted just long enough to win by a neck, Invoice beating Swoosh out of second place by a head.

Aside from the daily double payoff, both of Grill's winners returned substantial prices across the board. Singing Satin's backers collected $30.40, $13.80, and $8.40, and those who bet on Starweista received $28.20, $12, and $7.40.

He's a Long Shot Rider.

Grill, whose home is in Bedford, O., a suburb of Cleveland, got his start as a race rider at Dallas in 1934. In the course of his career he has brought in a number of long shots, including a $2,000 daily double among his recollections. He is married and has a 3 year old son.

Four of the minor eligibles for Saturday's $5,000 LaSalle handicap were out for a tuneup in the Elwood purse at a mile, but the winner turned out to be the only one in the field of five who is not nominated for the stake. This was Take Wing, the even money favorite.

Jockey Billy Pearson brought Take Wing up on the inside in the stretch after Omelet and Kantar Run had gone wide on the stretch turn as they were fighting for the lead. Take Wing came on to win by three and a half lengths over Omelet, Step By being third.

Tomochichi Triumphs.

Tomochichi, who is among the nominees for Saturday's stake, sharpened up for his engagement by winning the Lake Shore Drive purse, a six furlong allowance event. After disposing of the early pace setter, Just Beans, on the turn, he shook off Epola at the head of the stretch and then withstood Sis Baker's challenge at the eighth pole. Under Ovie Scurlock's capable handling he rallied and finished strong to beat Sis Baker by three lengths. Miss Militant was third. Tomochichi, the only one in the seven horse field which is eligible for Saturday's handicap, paid $7.40, $3.80, and $2.80 across the board.

Racing Secretary William H. Shelley yesterday released the weights for the La Salle, which is a race of 1 3-16 miles. Equifox drew top burden of 118 pounds. Heartman will carry 112 and Inscolassie 110. There are 20 on the eligible list.

PHILS THREATEN 19 GAME STREAK OF GREAT LAKES

The Great Lakes Naval Training station baseball team will put its 19 game winning streak on the line against the Philadelphia Phillies today with the moral support of a home crowd of 10,000 navy recruits. The game will start at 3 p. m.

Since their first brush with National league competition more than a month ago, the hard hitting Bluejackets haven't lost a game. On May 4, the Chicago Cubs scored a 6 to 3 victory at Great Lakes.

Navy Has the Punch.

The Phillies, who open a series against the Chicago Cubs tomorrow, are the first of three major league clubs scheduled to meet the Bluejackets at home this month. On June 20 the Boston Red Sox play at Great Lakes, and the Chicago White Sox follow June 22.

Altho the Navy's main strength lies in a batting order bulwarked by five former major league stars who have produced an average of 9.6 runs per game since the season opened, Lieut. Gordon S. [Mickey] Cochrane may have a few pitching surprises for the Phillies.

Grace Has .400 Average.

Don Godfredsen, undefeated in three appearances, probably will be the starting pitcher. He stopped Camp Grant on two hits in his last job on the Army-Navy relief fund doubleheader at Wrigley field May 27.

Bluejacket Joe Grace, who hit .310 for the St. Louis Browns last season, boosted his average to an even .400 at Camp Grant Sunday, holding his batting lead. Benny McCoy, former Philadelphia Athletics second baseman, climbed to .395.

Probable batting order for Great Lakes:

Prep Nines to Clash Today in Semi-Finals

Bowen Wins 12 of 14.

Bowen is coached by Joe McGinnis. The South Chicago team won 12 games and lost 2 while winning the south side championship. Both defeats were by Calumet but Calumet finished second in the section with 11 victories and 3 defeats.

Pitcher Ray Rapacki will start against Lane Tech according to Coach McGinnis. Rapacki is a right hander and has won seven games and lost two.

Harrison Tech, Calumet's opponent this afternoon, has lost only one league game this season. The Hornets were beaten by Farragut, 7 to 4, on May 6, but finished as champions of the Central section with 13 victories against that one loss.

Harrison Is Favorite.

There is every reason to believe that Coach Jim Smilgoff's team will get by Calumet this afternoon. Principle reason, of course, is excellent pitching by Stan Ryczek. He is credited with seven victories this season and has not been defeated.

Bob Owles, who pitched for Calumet when Crane was beaten in the quarter-finals, will get the assignment against Harrison according to Coach Johnny Ivers.

NINA VAN CAMP.

Chicagoans Maintain Pace in WIBC Event

Milwaukee, Wis., June 8 [Special].—The triumph of the Logan Square Buicks in the team event and of Nina Van Camp in the all-events of the Women's International Bowling congress tournament, which closed here today, was hardly more than is normally expected of Chicago's representatives. Chicagoans have captured a major share of the trophies during the 25 years the tournament has run, including seven of 12 awards for which the women have competed in the last three years.

The Logan Squares' 2,815 was the second high team total in the history of the WIBC competition, as was Miss Van Camp's 1,888 in the all-events. Chicagoans hold the records in both divisions, the Alberti Jewelers having shot 2,867 in 1933 for all-time high. The late Marie Warmbier of Chicago set the all-events record in 1935 with the huge total of 1,911.

Chicago teams have won the championship 14 times in 25 years, including the last three. The Logan Squares won it two years ago at Syracuse and the Rovick Shoes took it last year at Los Angeles. Chicago's best record, however, has been made in the doubles, where its representatives have captured 15 titles, winning 12 times in the first 13 years.

Sally Twyford, registered out of Aurora but bowling in Chicago leagues, helped give Chicago six singles titles, winning the event in 1933 and 1940. She also contributed generously in the all-events division, winning that crown three times among the ten credited to Chicago bowlers. Her last title was scored in the all-events in 1941. Mrs. Twyford is now representing Indianapolis.

WARMERDAM TO FACE CONQUEROR IN CHICAGO MEET

Schaeffer Beat Him Last Year on Coast.

When Cornelius Warmerdam, the world's greatest pole vaulter, appears in a special record attempt at the Big Ten-Pacific Coast conference duel track meet in Evanston next Tuesday he will be confronted by a rare specimen, a college vaulter who has bested him in previous competition.

The rare specimen will be Bill Schaeffer of Southern California, who last year in a triangular meet involving Southern California, UCLA, and the San Francisco Olympic club, beat Warmerdam at a height of 14 feet 6 inches.

An Old, Old Feud.

The coast delegation meeting the Big Ten's ace vautlers, Jack De Field of Minnesota and Bill Williams of Wisconsin, will be hard pressed to maintain their dominance maintained since the inception of the interconference engagement in 1937.

Saturday at the Central Collegiates in Milwaukee the Big Ten pair tied for the seventh time at a height officially measuring 13 feet 9¾ inches. In an attempt at 14 feet 2 inches De Field, who has been vaulting over 14 feet in practice after recovering from a mid-season injury, cleared by a half foot but dragged the bar off with an arm.

High Hopes in High Jump.

The Big Ten also hopes to break coast dominance in the pole vault. Altho Gil Greene of Southern California, who as Gil La Cava held the national interscholastic high jump record at 6 feet 7⅛ inches, has jumped 6 feet 8 inches in practice, he was held to a tie at 6 feet 3 inches in the Coast conference meet.

Bob Hodgell of Wisconsin won the Big Ten meet at a height of 6 feet 4 inches and George Hoeflinger of Ohio State, who tied for second in that meet, has exceeded that height in competition this year.

GIANTS, BARONS PLAY TWO.

The American Giants and Birmingham Black Barons will meet in a double header in Comiskey park Sunday. The Black Barons are leading the first half race and the Giants have been going strong.

YACHTSMEN TO OPEN NAVIGATION SCHOOL TONIGHT

Defense Angle Will Be Predominant.

Ninety-one yachtsmen, students, and navy and coast guard men will meet tonight in the Field building, 135 South La Salle street, for the opening session of the Great Lakes Cruising club's third navigation school. The group will meet every Tuesday until Sept. 8. Classroom instruction will be given in piloting and navigation.

The club's first navigation school was started here last autumn as a peacetime program, to increase yachtsmen's skill in navigating. Seventy attended that school.

Already in Service.

Averill Tilden, new director of the school, said yesterday that the third group is learning to navigate to help defend America. Of the 91 men in the new class, 16 are already in uniform and the remainder are either awaiting commissions or planning to enlist. Tilden, who was appointed by Commodore Harold Wood, owns the 27 foot auxiliary sloop Escape in Chicago harbor.

Yachtsmen members of the cruising club volunteer their time as instructors at the school, under Gordon Brummel, owner of the Tumlaren class racing sloop Hexa. F. Coulton Chunn, Commodore Thomas Richards, L. E. Walker, Herbert G. Hanan, and Frank Combiths are among the instructors. L. A. Wheeler, owner of the racing sloop Colleen, who with Brummel and Lloyd Miller was one of the three first class instructors last year, is now a lieutenant in the navy.

Another Class in Fall.

W. P. Phillips, secretary of the school, said yesterday that a new class will be formed next autumn for those who could not get in the one starting tonight. Phillips is one of the crew of George Cook's Burnham Park harbor sailer Gingeo.

Hanyzewski, Cubs Defeat Brewers, 6-1 to score twice on one hit. Len Merullo survived on Becker's juggle of a throw from Stanky and, after Charley Gilbert had been retired, Foxx hoisted a fly over short right on which Johnny Hudson committed a two base error. Nicholson walked to load the bags. Russell then singled thru short, sending in Merullo and Foxx. Novikoff entertained his 1941 admirers with a pop foul and McCullough walked, reloading the corners, but Hanyzewski merely tapped to Stan Rogers.

The fourth and fifth were somewhat tough for the Cubs. Campbell let only one of them reach base and that was on a pass to Harold [Peanuts] Lowrey who appeared in the outfield as a sort of preview. He was released tonight to the Brewers on a 24 hour recall arrangement.

Blaeholder also served a hitless affair to the Chicagoans in the sixth, but his luck changed in the seventh after he had fanned Merullo. Gilbert singled to center and Foxx singled to left. Lowrey's tap forced Foxx after which Blaeholder let loose a wild pitch, Gilbert scoring. Then in the eighth Novikoff used the short left field fence for production of the Cubs' sixth run.

GOLF LEAGUE TO PLAY TOMORROW AT RIDGEMOOR

Tomorrow's second series of 1942 matches in the North Shore Golf league will be held at Ridgemoor instead of Skokie, as originally scheduled. The change, announced by Ray H. Matson of Westmoreland, the league president, was made at the suggestion of Ridgemoor, which will be the scene of the Hale America National Open tournament on June 18, 19, 20, and 21. League players who expect to act as gallery marshals during the big war relief event will thus be able to familiarize themselves with the course.

Because of the switch in dates, the next series, on July 8, will be played at Skokie instead of Park Ridge, which yielded its place.

Sunset Ridge took the lead in the standings by scoring 22½ points in the first matches, held on May 20 at Evanston. Other point standings follow: Edgewater, 18½; North Shore, 16; Westmoreland, 15; Evanston, 14½; Park Ridge, 9; Ridgemoor, 7½; Skokie, 5.

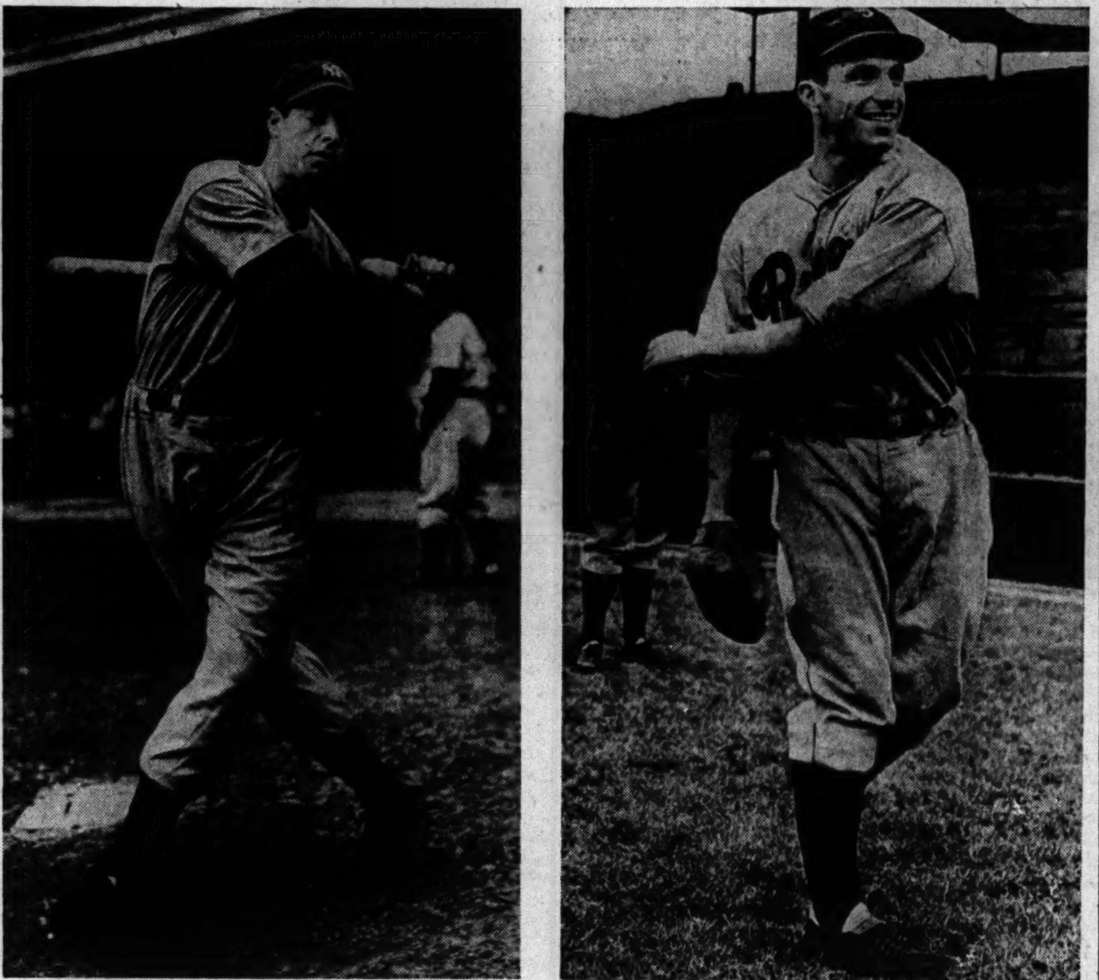
They're Just Two Hard Working Ball Players



Joe DiMaggio (left) and Dolph Camilli, who a year ago were causing opposing pitchers to lose sleep as they pondered ways of getting them out, are just a couple of ordinary players today. Chosen as the most valuable players in the American and National leagues respectively last year, Joe and Dolph are now considerably below the .300 mark in batting and are even the targets for criticism by the fans, who pay to see them hit and feel slighted when they fly out instead.

JOYCE, BOLDEN WIN FIGHTS IN MARIGOLD RING

Bolden scored a seventh round knockout over Gib Jones, newcomer from Cincinnati, while Joyce registered a decision in eight rounds over Matt Daugherty, rugged fighter from Milwaukee. Daugherty was down for a seven count in the first round.

Gene Luker, 163 pound stable mate of Jones, stole the show by the manner in which he beat Jimmy Pierce of West Allis, Wis., in an eight round opener. Pierce was down four times, once each in the second, fourth, sixth, and seventh. In this fight Frank Gilmer, member of the Central A. A. U. boxing committee, made his debut as an Illinois Athletic commission referee.

Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, sent Vince Calzaretto, Palos Park light heavyweight, spinning to the canvas for the count in the second round. Calzaretto was outweighed 28 pounds.

Altus Allen engaged in a three round workout with Hubert Hood in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday for a 10 round bout with Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., southpaw fighter, in Chicago Stadium Friday night.

ROCKOLA STREAK SNAPPED AT 10 BY MATCH GIRLS

Miss Startz yielded only two hits, struck out 13, and hit a home run with two on in the seventh inning. In another major league game Garden City defeated Parichy, 4 to 3, in 10 innings.

Tonight's schedule:

In the WAKE of the NEWS

In God We Trust.

There are times we feel discouraged
When sad news is coming in,
But we know God marches with us,
Truth and righteousness will win.
We may yet lose many a battle,
But have faith and hope, my friend,
Those who trust in God Almighty
Will be victors in the end.

Tho Malay and Indo-China,
Hongkong, Burma, Singapore,
Java, Borneo, and New Guinea,
Bataan and Corregidor
Have been snatched from our possession,
Yet, in principle, to date,
We are victors and are winning
More than lost in real estate.

A nation's soul is far more precious
Than the acreage of its soil.
Principles demand our utmost
To preserve, in sweat and toil.
Justice, liberty, and freedom
Are not measured by the rod,
But by pure love for country
And unswerving faith in God.

Camilli, Joe DiMaggio Pay for '41 Fame

New York, June 8 [Wide World].—The toast of the town one day may be just crumbs the next, so Joe DiMaggio and Dolph Camilli probably aren't too much surprised that nobody is looking at them with awe these days. Not even the pitchers.

The most valuable players in their respective leagues last year have been around long enough to know that the difference between a hero and a bum can be 50 points or so in the batting average.

At a recent check Camilli was hitting a robust .243 and there was talk that he might be given a seat on the bench on the theory that if he's going to pop out he might as well do it from there. DiMaggio was hitting .267, which isn't a hanging offense.

Some Fans Boo Joe.

Fortunately, Joe and Dolph are getting paid this year for what they did last year, for if they were walking up to the cashier's cage every Saturday night to collect for their week's work they might have a little difficulty convincing the paymaster they had punched the clock every day.

DiMaggio has been the recipient of a few Bronx cheers of late, as there are always some baseball fans who think that if they pay their money they are entitled to a batch of hitting from the man whom, in many cases, they are paying to see.

The Price of Fame.

Anyway, DiMaggio and Camilli are experiencing the backwash of fame. Had neither been even close to winning a most valuable player award last year, their present hit droughts would pass as the failure of guys who didn't have what it takes and should be driving trucks. They have educated the fans into expecting more, and are paying the penalty for being unable to deliver.

Which isn't such a severe penalty at that, everything considered. Most citizens would be willing to let the fans stand outside their windows and boo all night if they were getting the $40,000 or so a year DiMaggio is supposed to be getting.

BRAVES HITLESS 8 INNINGS; REDS TRIUMPH, 3 TO 1

Cincinnati, O., June 8 (AP).—Big Paul Derringer almost got a no-hitter today as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Boston Braves, 3 to 1, and swept their six game series. For eight innings the only Brave to get on base was Eddie Miller, whose easy grounder bounced out of Bert Haas' hands in the first inning.

From then until the ninth, when Lew Gremp broke the spell with a single, followed by two more singles, the big Kentuckian was everything and everybody

Then the stand groaned as Gremp's drive sailed into the outfield and landed safely, to spoil a target that Paul has aimed at for years—something he came close to twice last year, in one hit games on the road against St. Louis and Chicago.

The Reds chased Tom Earley, the Boston starter, in the first with a pair of runs on an error and singles by Lonnie Frey, Frank McCormick, and Gee Walker.

YANKS OUTLAST INDIANS AND WIN, 11 TO 10, IN 11TH

Joe DiMaggio Scores on Wild Throw.

New York, June 8 (AP).—The New York Yankees spotted the Cleveland Indians four runs in the first inning today and then battled their way to an 11 to 10 victory in the 11th inning when an error let across the deciding tally.

It was the only game of the day in the American league, and the two rivals went after each other with hammers. The result was 31 hits, including two homers by Jeff Heath and five safeties by Ken Keltner.

In the 11th Joe DiMaggio led off with a single and Charley Keller beat out a bunt. Then Joe Gordon, who already had extended his hitting streak to 25 games, bunted, and Relief Pitcher Tom Ferrick threw wild past third to let DiMaggio race home with the deciding run.

Buddy Hassett made two singles to extend his hitting streak to 20 games. Score:

A crowd of 10,000 is expected for the Wings of Norway benefit fund soccer game between the Norwegian royal air force team and a picked squad of Chicago's Scandinavian players in Winnemac park stadium, Foster avenue and Leavitt street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Men of ACTION..

Relax with ROBT. BURNS

TENSE DAYS are these—calling for every ounce of effort a man can give. But after the effort comes a grand feeling of relaxation in that satisfying richness of a Robt. Burns Corona. It's taste that tells the quality story of this unusual cigar. The mellow richness men associate with imported cigars. All that makes fine cigars combine to spell "luxury"—All-Havana filler, shade grown wrapper, and classic Corona shape. But luxury without a price premium.

Robt. BURNS Corona 10¢

Other modern Robt. Burns shapes—100% All-Havana filler always—are the graceful PANATELA DE LUXE 10¢, the generous PERFECTO GRANDE 10¢, and QUEENS 2 for 25¢, a superb cigar

RYE, SOY BEANS FALL 3 CENTS TO SEASONAL LOWS

Other Grains Are Lower After Early Rise.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Grains climbed about a cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday and then fell back heavily with rye and soy beans slipping more than 3 cents from the top to new seasonal lows for most deliveries. Only the corn futures displayed underlying strength, losing all of the early bulge but closing only ⅛ to ¼ cent below Saturday's close.

Wheat was off ¾ to 1 cent a bushel with July closing at $1.16⅝. Reports that Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] had introduced a bill providing mandatory crop loans at full parity prices on wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, and rice, sent markets climbing.

But after large scale buying on the run-up, selling started and no support appeared for wheat until it had dropped around two cents. Prospects for further debate on the bill to permit sale of government owned wheat stocks for feed purposes at less than parity prices accounted for some bearish sentiment.

Oats Prices Decline.

Oats slipped ⅜ to ⅝ cent a bushel; rye, 1¾ to 2⅛ cents; and soy beans 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents from the preceding close.

Part of the strength in corn futures was attributed by dealers to the recent liberal movement of grain east. Sales to eastern shippers yesterday neared 100,000 bushels. Two boatloads of corn with a total cargo of almost 225,000 bushels sailed from Chicago to eastern lake ports on the week-end.

Another bullish factor was the annual report of the Distiller Spirits industry for 1941. It said that the industry is now producing industrial alcohol for the production of smokeless powder at a rate of 70 million gallons annually and only about half its capacity has been converted.

Big Increase in Demand.

The report said that when conversion is completed about 80 million bushels of corn a year will be used, compared with normal requirements of around 30 million bushels. In addition, the report said considerable wheat also would be used in wartime alcohol production.

Meanwhile, a report to the department of agriculture disclosed that in Argentina government efforts to support grain prices on a plan similar to that employed in the United States are rapidly breaking down. The Argentine government informed producers that it "found it difficult to continue the purchase of a crop for which there is no export market."

DECLARE DAILY NEWS PREFERRED DIVIDEND OF $1.25

Directors of the Chicago Daily News, Inc., yesterday voted to pay the quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the preferred stock but reported no dividend action on the common stock. Dividends of $1 a share were paid on the common in each of the last two years.

The preferred dividend will be paid July 1 to stockholders of record June 20. The preferred, which was quoted at 46 early in the day, recovered to 50 bid, 52 asked, after the meeting. The common was quoted nominally at 4 bid, 5 asked.

Grone Company Ordered to Pay $3,517 Back Wages

The Grone Metal Spinning Manufacturing company, 1649 North Winchester avenue, yesterday was ordered by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe to pay $3,517 to 64 employés for back wages and overtime. The government said the company violated the fair labor standards act by not paying a 30 cent minimum hourly wage, time and a half for overtime work and not keeping records. Metal products made in violation of the act were barred from interstate shipment.

PREDICTS LESS CIVILIAN FOOD PER CAPITA IN NEXT TWO YEARS

OPA Official Urges Grocers to Adopt Price Ceilings.

The supply of food available for distribution among the nation's domestic civilian population during 1942 and 1943 is likely to be "slightly less" per capita than in 1941, H. R. Tolley, assistant administrator of the Office of Price Administration, told wholesale and retail grocers in the Blackstone hotel yesterday. He said food production increases and probable declines in normal exports will be more than offset by larger lend-lease shipments this year and next which are expected to consume 10 to 15 per cent of the total output, increased requirements for American armed forces, and probable declines in food imports.

H. R. Tolley.

Tolley spoke at a joint meeting of the National Association of Retail Grocers and the National-American Wholesale Grocers association. The retail organization's 45th annual convention is being held in the Palmer House.

Urges Voluntary Ceilings.

Tolley urged the grocers to adopt voluntary price ceilings on items not affected by OPA regulations as a means of helping the battle against inflation. He told them to forget about "profits as usual" for the war's duration.

"There's no reason why you who distribute the nation's food can't in a number of items at least roll back prices on your own," Tolley declared.

The general aims and policies of farm production begun this year will be continued in 1943, Tolley said. He warned, however, that in the face of the need for all possible production, increases in output "will be harder to get, and we can't expect more than a 4 or 5 per cent increase over this year."

Must Yield to War.

"The factors limiting production will be serious," Tolley declared. "The labor, materials, and transportation needed for total farm production will in many cases have to yield priority to the labor, materials, and transportation needed more directly for carrying on a total war. The emphasis will be on a continuation of the shifts in production begun on such a huge scale this year—more pork, eggs, milk, and milk products."

Tolley said the history of the last year in agriculture "might well be called "the end of piece meal adjustment." The entry of the United States into the war has not changed the goal of agriculture, but has forced the nation to accomplish rapidly what had been planned for gradual accomplishment—regardless of the effect in terms of disruptions and dislocations, he asserted. The food production objectives set by the department of agriculture for 1942 "in general will be met" on the basis of available information, the price official said.

Must Educate Public.

At an earlier convention session of the national retail grocers in the Palmer House, Dr. M. L. Wilson, assistant director in charge of nutrition for the Office of Defense Health and Welfare Services, described the government' nutrition program as a "key sector" in the war effort. He asserted that altho a food shortage disaster is not likely to occur here and altho the United States has the world's richest food resources, the country is not without "the insidious starvation of malnutrition."

Dr. Wilson said that to combat malnutrition it is necessary to conduct a national educational campaign and to make the proper goods available to those who need them. It is necessary to meet the food requirements of the armed forces and the allied nations and to provide for the millions of workers in war industries, he declared.

A. C. Nielsen of Chicago, president of a marketing research firm, told the retailers their primary problem is that of operating under price ceilings without losing money, and their secondary problem is obtaining available business despite merchandise, personnel, and transport shortages.

Sugar Stocks Below Normal.

In a talk before the wholesale grocers following the joint meeting, Harold B. Rowe, director of OPA's food rationing division, said that on the basis of available figures the nation's sugar stocks are several million bags below normal for this time of the year. He branded as false rumors that there is sufficient sugar for normal consumption and that the rationing program is merely to accumulate a stockpile.

Rowe said whether present allowances can be increased depends upon the "development of the war," adding that the amount of sugar on hand and the amount likely to be received during the year probably will be "just about enough" to supply present rationing needs.

RETAIL GROCERS ARGUE TODAY ON SALES TAX ISSUE

Members of the National Association of Retail Grocers voted yesterday to table for further discussion today a resolution urging adoption of a national retail sales tax. The resolution is a reversal of the stand against a national sales tax the association has held for several years.

After the resolution was read by the committee chairman and its passage recommended by the association's president, H. H. Sack of Oakland, Cal., a member opposed it on the grounds the association should not "encourage any tax on anybody or anything."

Sack replied that, as stated in the resolution, the conditions upon which the association based its former policy have disappeared with the war. Other members requested that the resolution be deferred for further discussion and the motion was passed.

Opposed as Unsound.

The resolution said that the retail grocers' group has opposed retail sales taxes "as unsound and undesirable methods of raising revenue," but that the "very minimum" cost of the war will be so great that it raises the question "as to whether our economy can support this burden without collapsing." If a complete victory is to be achieved, the resolution continued, corporation and individual income taxes and other levies must not be imposed to the extent that initiative and the flow of capital into private enterprise will be paralyzed when the war is over.

The resolution asked that the sales tax law contain a "pass on" provision" and that the merchant be repaid at least part of the cost of collecting the tax.

Other Resolutions Passed.

Two other resolutions were passed without opposition. One asked deferment of nation-wide gasoline rationing pending an investigation of the rubber and gasoline situations. The investigation was asked, they said, because "utmost confusion now exists" relative to rubber and gasoline.

The other measure asked a mandatory national price policy under which retail price ceilings shall be accompanied by "effective" controls over all major items of cost, including wages and farm commodities. The resolution said farm commodities and labor represent about 85 per cent of consumer food costs and are subject to no effective control, but actually are advancing. Such an "economic squeeze" is reducing the already small operating margin of the retailer, the resolution asserted, and thousands face bankruptcy within six months unless relief is given immediately.

Several other resolutions are scheduled for presentation today and at the closing session of the four day convention tomorrow.

MORE EFFICIENCY IN EQUIPMENT BUYING FORECAST

Special staffs being set up in 14 cities will enable government agencies to do a more efficient job of buying secondhand construction equipment for use in the war effort, Hamilton O. Penn, chief of the WPB's used construction machinery section, said yesterday.

He told the Associated Equipment Distributors at its convention in the Edgewater Beach hotel that these staffs, which will include representatives of the government agencies concerned, will acquire the equipment from federal agencies not engaged in the war effort, from municipalities, and individual contractors. He said the government seeks to acquire this machinery thru volunteering, rather than requisition.

The convention, which will continue thru tomorrow attracted 600 leaders in the construction machinery field.

Midland Claim Settlement Is a Step Nearer

The extended controversy over claims and counterclaims of the Midland United and Midland Utilities companies moved closer to a final decision yesterday. On its outcome rests the value of securities held by thousands of Chicagoans in these links of the utility system built up by the late Samuel Insull.

Attorneys representing various groups of litigants filed their recommendations on what the final disposition of the claims should be, on the last day permitted for such action by Special Master Daniel O. Hastings at Wilmington, Del.

Next Step Awaited.

The next step in the proceedings, which began in 1939 after collapse of the Insull empire five years earlier, is expected to be a final recommendation by Hastings, or further action by the Securities and Exchange commission.

Benjamin F. Goldstein and George I. Haight, representing the Midland Utilities trustee—J. Samuel Hartt—filed a 174 page report with Hastings urging settlement of the claims in favor of Utilities and in this had the support of an earlier recommendation of SEC.

Others File Statements.

Other attorneys sought settlement in favor of their clients, including United, the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Commonwealth [Edison] Subsidiary corporation, and the Middle West corporation.

Settlement of the intercompany claims must be arranged before the Midland companies can be reorganized under the bankruptcy laws. Utilities had claimed about 73 million dollars from United, based on charges of mismanagement during the Insull régime, and United had countered with claims of 25 million dollars.

FEEDER CATTLE PRICES RISE TO ALL-TIME PEAKS

Prices of stocker and feeder cattle soared to the highest level in the market history at the Chicago stock yards yesterday, despite new declines in farm returns from the sale of fat stock. Farmers paid up to $16.25 a hundred pounds for best light feeder calves, 25 cents above the record high. Yesterday's top for fat steers was $15.50, or 75 cents under the cost of best feeder calves. Most steers and yearlings sold from $12.50 to $14.

Cattle men dumped 20,000 head on the Chicago market, the biggest total since January and the largest June supply since 1934 when the drouth sent huge supplies to market earlier than usual. Butchering of cattle over the entire country has set a new record for early June.

Prices fell 25 to 40 cents more under supply pressure. Veteran members of the trade said they could not recall a time when June buyers of replacement cattle paid more for feeders than packers paid for best steers.

STATE HOLDS 'L' LINE VALUE HAS SHRUNK TO 18 MILLON DOLLARS

William R. Morgan, an assistant to Attorney General George F. Barrett, placed the valuation of the elevated lines at 18 million dollars in arguments yesterday before the Illinois Commerce commission in opposition to the company's petition for a fare increase.

The Chicago Rapid Transit company is seeking a boost to 12 cents per ride and to 13 cents when street car transfers are involved. The present fare is 10 cents. In justification the company declares it originally invested more than 71 million dollars and is entitled to a return on its investment.

Morgan declared that this investment has shrunk 21 million dollars thru depreciation and 32 million dollars more thru non-use of certain properties, such as land. His 18 million dollar current appraisal, he said, would be further reduced if 1,000 wooden cars, once ordered replaced, were to be excluded from the company's valuation. The commission must give its decision on the fare boost plea by June 15.

Indicts Firm on Trade Data Sales Charge

Boston, Mass., June 8 (AP).—A federal grand jury indicted the Procter & Gamble company, two affiliated concerns and three employés of the companies today, charging use of the mails to defraud in a scheme of industrial espionage.

In a 52 page report ending a six month investigation, the jury charged that the defendants engaged between February, 1937, and last January in a scheme to obtain information, sample soap products, production figures, and confidential data from the files of a competitor, the Lever Brothers company, in Cambridge, and that articles and data thus obtained were sent by mail to the Procter & Gamble offices in Cincinnati.

Charge $2,700 Was Paid.

The indictment charges that Frank J. Elms of Boston, a former Lever Brothers employé who was one of those indicted, had received $2,700 from a Procter & Gamble concern and that some of this money was parceled out among other former Lever employés.

Four of the defendants were charged in a previous indictment with using the mails illegally.

Officials Deny Charges.

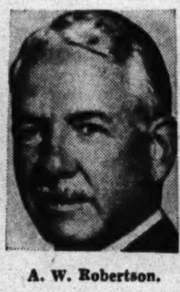
Cincinnati, O., June 8 (AP).—Officials of the Procter & Gamble company said tonight that "neither the company nor any of its subsidiaries ever engaged in any of the practices alleged against them" in indictments returned today by a federal grand jury in Boston. A civil suit by Procter & Gamble against Lever Brothers charging unfair competition in connection with production and sale of a floating soap has been pending in federal court here since April 3, 1941.

WESTINGHOUSE HEAD WARNS OF 'CRIPPLING' TAX

Fears for Future of Nation's Business.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

In seeking to recapture "excess war profits," the framers of the new federal tax program may seriously cripple corporate enterprise, in the opinion of A. W. Robertson, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.



A. W. Robertson.

The company, one of the country's strategic manufacturing enterprises, is gravely alarmed by corporation taxes recommended by the house ways and means committee, Robertson said in a letter sent to every member of congress. He illustrated the dangers of the tax program by citing the experience of the Westinghouse company.

"The Westinghouse company is not easily disturbed," Robertson said. "It has survived wars, panics and booms for more than half a century. It is still making both ends meet, but now most of the money earned will be paid out in taxes, and relatively little will be left for either dividends or necessary amounts that must be retained in the business."

Urges Sound Formula.

Making clear that he is sympathetic to heavy taxation of war profits, Robertson said that it is equally important a sound formula for determining excess war profits shall be established.

Results of first quarter operations of Westinghouse, Robertson said, emphasize the serious effect the proposed new tax program may have. The company accrued its taxes for the three months ended March 31, 1942, at a rate less than the 40 per cent combined normal and surtax rates proposed by the committee. Despite this, Robertson said, provision for federal taxes more than doubled compared with a year earlier and income after taxes dropped about 36 per cent.

A comparison of results for the first quarters of the last two years follows [000 omitted]:

1942	$112,159	$22,930	$18,805	$4,124
1941	81,141	13,866	8,239	5,627
Increase	$31,017	$ 9,063	$10,566	*$1,502

*Decrease.

"The significance of the figures," Robertson said, "lies in the fact that notwithstanding the great increase in output which should and did increase operating profit and gross income, the final result was a substantial reduction in net income."

Return Cut to 2 Per Cent.

"A preliminary examination of our results for April, 1942, discloses net income of less than a million dollars after provision for taxes," Robertson added. "This represents a return of slightly over 2 per cent on April business and less than 50 per cent of the income of April, 1941."

The present earnings, Robertson said, far from being excessive, are not sufficient to pay even a modest dividend to stockholders, let alone provide any reserve against the day of postwar adjustments.

"We are alarmed over the situation," he declared. "We are frankly wondering what is to become of the company.

"The country at large and all its citizens will suffer if a company like Westinghouse fails thru lack of funds to meet emergencies, and if it fails others will fail for the same reason."

Court Rules Out Minimum Pay as Basis for Overtime Wages

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—The Supreme court ruled today that the wage-hour law requirement of time and a half pay for overtime beyond 40 hours a week meant 150 per cent of an employé's regular pay rate, not 150 per cent of the act's minimum pay provisions. Thus, no matter how much a worker's regular pay exceeded the minimum, he still would be entitled to time and a half pay for overtime.

At the same time, however, the court upheld a system by which an employer contracted to pay his employés a fixed sum each week, the amount being designed to cover overtime at the statutory time and a half rate but the fixed sum to be paid for either a regular or an overtime week. It said there was no hard and fast rule for determining "regular" pay.

The court found that congress intended the wage-hour act to penalize employers working their men more than 40 hours a week.

Part of Original Plan.

"Reduction of hours was a part of the plan from the beginning," the court observed. This purpose had been denounced by a litigant as "square in the face of the needs of national defense."

The decisions, interpreting the law's overtime provisions for the first time, were made in two cases which may be summarized as follows:

1. The Overnight Motor Transportation company of Baltimore employed William H. Missel at $27.50 a week. His hours were variable but he averaged 65 a week and sometimes worked 80. The law then fixed 25 cents an hour as the minimum wage and Missel got nothing extra for overtime because the company contended it already was paying him more than required, figuring 40 hours at 25 cents, or $10, plus 40 more at 37½ cents, or $15.

Under the court's ruling, however, Missel's regular pay was $27.50 for 40 hours. Since this came to about 68 cents an hour, he would be entitled to pay at the rate of $1.02 an hour for hours beyond 40. The court upheld Missel's right to claim damages equal to the overtime pay even tho the employer acted in good faith.

Paper's Plan Upheld.

2. The A. H. Belo corporation, publisher of the Dallas [Tex.] Morning News and owner of radio station WFAA, contracted with its employés when the wage-hour law took effect to continue paying them their existing salaries for their existing hours. The contracts stipulated an hourly rate, obtained in most cases by dividing the guaranteed weekly salary by 60.

Thus if a man's salary was $60 a week, his regular hourly rate would be $1 and his overtime rate $1.50. If he worked 40 hours, he would get the full $60 but he might be required to work up to 53 hours for the same pay, since 40 hours at $1 and 13 at $1.50 would come to only $59.50. But if he worked 54 hours or more he would get more than $60.

The court, in a 5 to 4 decision, found that this complied with the law.

Court Agrees to Milwaukee Road Review

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—The Supreme court agreed today to review a decision delaying final approval of a reorganization plan of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company. A group of institutional investors, including 12 life insurance companies and 150 savings banks owning securities of the carrier valued at 89 million dollars, appealed a decision of the Federal Circuit court in Chicago.

The railroad petitioned for reorganization in 1935. The Interstate Commerce commission approved a plan which in turn was approved by the District court in Chicago. The Circuit court, however, remanded the case to the commission, saying that altho there was evidence to support the plan it could not be finally approved unless the commission made certain findings.

RFC Also Asks Review.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation, which holds secured promissory notes of the carrier totaling $10,780,762, also asked for a review, contending the lower court decision, insofar as it held the commission's findings inadequate, "presents a question of large public importance" which should be reviewed.

In another action, the Supreme court refused to review a labor board order directing Alladin Industries, Inc., of Alexandria, Ind., to reinstate 10 employés who had joined others in a "sit down strike" on March 2, 1937. Appealing from a Chicago Federal Circuit court decision upholding this part of the order, the company contended the board's action was not supported by a "scintilla" of evidence and should be set aside.

Refuses Labor Review.

The high court refused to reconsider its May 11 decision upholding the justice department's anti-trust suit against 10 manufacturers or distributors of hardboard. Reconsideration was sought by the Armstrong Cork company of Lancaster, Pa.

Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., failed to obtain a high court review of its contention that a circus is not "like" a theater or opera and hence should not be required to pay $18,911 as admission taxes to Texas for 1940.

PEACE STOCKS HIGHER ON PACIFIC WAR NEWS; EASTMAN GAINS $7.75

New York, June 8 (AP).—So-called peace stocks put on a belated rally in today's market, apparently responding to the mid-Pacific victory over the Japanese fleet. Eastman Kodak was the first to advance and with jumps of 1 to 2 points it eventually was up 7¾ points, closing with this gain. In most of the broad advances, however, turnover was restricted.

Gains of 1 to 4¾ points were made by Coca-Cola, Texas company, Philip Morris, American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Union Pacific, American Telephone, and International Harvester. J. I. Case was up 2¼ at a new year's high and General Motors and Pepsi-Cola made new 1942 peaks.

Prices of bonds about unchanged on average. Otis Steel A 4½s of '62 became the quiet session's most active issue with a net gain of 2½ points at 98¾ on a turnover of $324,000, face value.

CHICAGO STOCKS RISE.

First Jury Setback to Thurman Arnold.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 8 [Special].—A verdict of not guilty was brought in by a federal District court jury here tonight in a case involving charges of conspiracy to fix hog prices in violation of anti-trust laws against Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and other defendants.

The jury deliberated five hours to reach its verdict. The acquittal is said to be the first by any federal court jury in an anti-trust case since Thurman Arnold assumed charge of the anti-trust division of the United States attorney general's office.

The not guilty verdict applied to all defendants in the case. Others were George Damsel, manager of the Armour & Co. St. Joseph plant, and Charles Lechler, chief hog buyer for the plant; Walter Parker and Carl Meyer, manager and hog buyer, respectively, for the Swift & Co. St. Joseph plant; the St. Joseph Live Stock exchange, and the St. Joseph Stockyards company.

Charges of Government.

The government charged that the defendants had an agreement whereby the two packing firms would "divide the buy" on the hog market, and also charged the existence of an agreement to pay Friday prices for hogs bought on Saturdays.

The case is the first to be tried in a number of anti-trust suits pending against the two companies and other packers. The trial opened June 1 before United States District Judge Merrill Otis of the 8th Missouri district.

Daniel E. Britt, special assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust prosecutions in the Chicago area, represented the government during the trial and was aided by four assistant prosecutors.

Armour & Co. was represented by Attorney Weymouth Kirkland of Chicago and Swift & Co. by Attorney James Nugent of Chicago. Templeton Brown of St. Joseph represented the local defendants.

Statement by Eastwood.

In a statement issued after the jury returned its verdict, George A. Eastwood, president of Armour & Co., said:

"The verdict rendered tonight acquitted Armour & Co. of the charge that it and Swift & Co., both operating large scale packing plants at St. Joseph, had conspired together and with others to fix prices of hogs on the St. Joseph market.

"The evidence showed that on the contrary there was and is the keenest kind of competition among buyers of hogs on the St. Joseph market and that the prices paid for hogs in that market compare favorably with prices paid at numerous competing live stock markets. Naturally we are gratified at the jury's verdict of not guilty, which completely exonerated Armour & Co., its St. Joseph manager and its head hog buyer."

Local Union Seeks to Cut Ties with Parent UMWA

Cecil Martin, president of the Gas, Coke, and Chemical Workers' union, local 12119, of the United Mine Workers of America, district council 50, CIO, announced yesterday that 200 members of the local had voted to withdraw from the John L. Lewis dominated UMWA and join the new National Council of Gas, Coke, and Chemical Workers, which seeks an international charter as a separate CIO union.

ANYBODY HERE SEEN KELLY?

His wife just phoned . . . said they have a lawsuit on their hands. The grocery boy tripped on their back steps last week and broke his arm, and now a lawyer's going to take 'em to court for $2500 damages because there was a loose board.

I. B. A. REDUCES ITS OPERATING COSTS UNDER WAR CURB

Costs of operating the Investment Bankers' Association of America have been reduced and other changes have been made or proposed by the governors because of difficulties of the securities industry under a war economy, John S. Fleek, president, has informed members by letters.

Fleek said that altho his salary as chairman of the public information committee has been discontinued, he will devote as much time to the association as his work requires. He and other staff members have taken pay reductions of 20 to 30 per cent.

The board has propsed a $25 reduction in annual dues of members, elimination of the $25,000 minimum capital requirement of applicants, establishment of a new inactive membership for those temporarily out of business because of the war, and creation of an executive committee to handle business between regular board meetings.

"TAP" ISSUE.

What is meant by "tap" government issues and where did the term originate? Please give an example.—J. F. B.

Answer: A "tap" government issue is one that is continually available for new purchases. War savings bonds are an example, since they can be bought at any time. In contrast, "tap" issues are those such as the 2 per cent bonds of 1949-'51 which were on sale to new subscribers for one day only. A modified "tap" issue is one which is placed on sale for a specified period. The term was said to have originated in England about two years ago, and only recently has it been used generally in this country.

UNION PACIFIC.

What did the Union Pacific road earn per common share in the first four months?—D. S.

Answer: The Union Pacific railroad earned $2.66 per share of common stock in the four months ended April 30.

TIME CHARTERING.

How will time chartering of ships by the government affect 1942 earnings of American Export Lines, Inc.?—G. K.

Answer: At the company's annual meeting, J. E. Slater, vice president, said earnings would be reduced 50 to 75 per cent from the 1941 level under the system of time chartering of its ships by the War Shipping administration. He said the reduction would not take place in the first half of the year, and that earnings should be satisfactory to June 30.

RECORD YEAR.

What is the annual high mark for the number of dividend paying common stocks on the New York Stock exchange?—F. W.

Answer: Dividend paying common stocks on the New York Stock exchange reached an all time peak in 1941 at 627 issues, or 75 per cent of the entire common stock list.

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT.

ASK MANDATORY FARM LOANS AT TOP PARITY RATE

Washington, D. C., June 8 [Special].—Legislation calling for mandatory government loans at full parity levels on this year's crops of the basic agricultural commodities was introduced in the senate today by Senators John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] and Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.] "In view of the low and constantly declining prices of the grains and of cotton," Bankhead said, "it is evident that without a parity price floor it will be impossible for basic crop producers to receive parity in the markets for their year's work."

WALKOUT CLOSES GLASS FACTORY, HALTS WAR WORK

Charleston, W. Va., June 8 (AP).—A walkout of 1,400 men at the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company in Kanawha City caused a total work stoppage at the plant today.

The company attributed the stoppage to a "jurisdictional dispute" between CIO and AFL unions. State Labor Commissioner Charles J. F. Sattler announced the company had accepted an offer of his services as conciliator.

The company said it was engaged almost wholly in war production.

Effective Order Lowering Illiopolis Rates Extended

The Illinois Commerce commission has extended the effective date of an order lowering the freight rates on sand, gravel, and crushed stone shipped to Illiopolis, it was announced yesterday. Hearing of a suit in the Cricuit court at Springfield brought by 12 railroads to enjoin the commission from enforcing the order was continued last week with the court suggesting the railroads seek relief from the commission. John D. Biggs, commission chairman, said that a hearing on the order will be held.

'Trust' Trial of Electric Bulb Firms Begins June 22

Trenton, N. J., June 8 (AP).—Federal Judge Phillip Forman today set June 22 for trial of the government's suit against the General Electric company and 11 other companies accused of exercising monopolistic control over the electric light bulb industry thru patent licensing agreements and other methods. The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company has already accepted wide restraints imposed under a federal consent decree.
